GOAL SET BY RADICALS

Four Million is Vote Aim

Real Purpose is to Reveal Power of Party, Not to Elect La Follette

Union Chiefs, Though Not for Senator, Use Him to Push Their Game

BY LOUIS SEIBOLD
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DETROIT, Oct. 16.—By some mathetmatical process satisfactory to themselves the leaders of the radical third party movement throughout the country have adopted the slogan: "Four million votes for La Follette and Wheeler."

This is the figure which an inquiring reporter hears most frequently when talking with the local supporters of La Follette in the Atlantic seaboard States. He hears it in Maine where the political tides rise and fall as ordered by the ancient regular formulas, according to the hard-boiled professionals of the two older parties.

It is the figure which most of the radical leaders verbally use up here in Michigan where "the lunatic fringe" begins, according to the same regulars. As a selling point for the radical wares offered by La Follette and his associates in the newest political venture, the mathematical bait possesses potentialities both ways.

WOULD NOT ELECT

"Four million votes for La Follette and Wheeler" will not be enough to elect them or from present indications prevent President Coolidge and Gen. Dawes from winning a majority in the electoral college. In round numbers the national experts of all parties figure that more than 30,000,000 votes will be cast for the three groups of Presidential electors on November 4.

Four years ago the total was 26,484,583. The increase is expected to result from the combined efforts of all partisan groups to arouse citizens eligible to vote to a sense of their responsibilities. A total of 30,000,0000 votes next month will approximate about 70 per cent of the whole number of eligibles. If the La Follette electors get 4,000,000 votes, as the leaders of that movement predict, their candidates will run third in the national contest, even if they shove Davis into last place in several States. But if the La Follette electors do poll 4,000,000 they will nevertheless set up a new mark in Presidential contests and build a foundation for a new and permanent political party, which seems to be the chief am-

RECLAMATION IS MADE AN ISSUE

Statement on Policies by Both Major Parties

Democrat Hits Coolidge's "Silence" Approval

Secretary Work Defends Development Plans

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—The administration's reclamation policies, involving recent changes in personnel and the long-fought Colorado River development proposals, were made the subject tonight of statements from Democratic and Republican national headquarters.

Representative Oldfield of Arkansas, acting chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee, assailed the program of Secretary Work and the latter defended his administration.

The charge was made by Mr. Oldfield that President Coolidge and Secretary Hoover had approved "by silence" what he alleged was the policy of Secretary Work to "wreck the Reclamation Service and prevent government development of hydro-electric power in the interest of private interests."

MR. WORK REPLIES

Mr. Work replied that more had been done in the last year to perpetuate reclamation than in any five-year period in the department's history.

Criticising the administration for "dismissing" A. P. Davis, chief of the Reclamation Service, a year ago, Mr. Oldfield asserted that both the President and Mr. Hoover had recently delivered speeches on electric-power development, "which could not have been more clearly in line with the policy of the private power interests had those interests themselves penned the words."

"It may be therefore supposed," he said, "that Mr. Coolidge approves the latest scandal in the Reclamation Service—the resignation of F. E. Weymouth, chief engineer, who finally quit to save his self-respect, was not 'fired' as Mr. Davis was, because that performance raised such a protest that it was evidently considered unsafe to repeat the offense."

CALLED PHIPPS MAN

Secretary Work, Mr. Oldfield charged, was put at the head of the Interior Department through the influence of Senator Phipps, Republican, Colorado. The latter, he then asserted, appearing against the Swing-Johnson Colorado River development bill had declared he was interested in one of the "smaller companies out there" and did not want to see Los Angeles going into the hydro-electric power business in competition with the public utility companies."

Later, he said, Senator Phipps was forced to admit that he and "Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, had cut off the reclamation appropriation an item of $250,00 to build a hydroelectric plant at Yuma," and that he was a stockholder in the Sierras Power Company.

"Engineer Weymouth, who has just resigned under nagging," Oldfield continued, "was quoted at that time as authority for the statement that the government plant would save the farmers of that section $50,000 a year."

Mr. Oldfield added that Lawrence C. Phipps, Jr., had declared at hearings on the bill that he was treasurer of the Nevada-California Electric Corporation, a holding company controlling nine operating companies of the West.

REPUBLICAN STAND

Secretary Work in his reply said:

"In adopting and broadcasting the statements of Congressman Oldfield, the Democratic National Committee now embraces in its category of proposals the government ownership and operation of power throughout the United States. In any event it can be stated emphatically that it is not the policy of the Republican party to enter into any program of Socialism."

The Secretary then quoted a letter written by President Coolidge to C. C. Teague of California, who asked for his view on the Colorado River development, as reaffirming the administration's attitudes:

"I had the pleasure to state a year ago," the President was quoted as saying, "that the time had come for the Federal government to undertake the construction of the great works upon the Colorado and I recommended the matter to Congress in my message.

"The administration has, through the Secretary of Commerce, been unceasing in its endeavor to settle the legal conflicts which have hitherto barred its consummation by opposition in Congress.

TWO MAJOR PURPOSES

"The major purposes of the works to be constructed there involve two of the fundamental questions which must always remain in public control—that is, flood control and the provision of immense water storage necessary to hold the seasonal and annual flow so as to provide for the large reclamation possibilities in both California and Arizona.

"These considerations seem to me to dominate all others and to point logically to the Federal government as the agency to undertake the construction of a great dam at Boulder Canyon or some suitable locality obviously to be determined by the best engineering talent that can be secured in the nation. I should indeed look with great pride on the consummation of this, one of our greatest national improvements, within my administration."

Mr. Work declared the reclamation service has been thoroughly reorganized by the administration upon lines laid down by an independent commission, after close study of Federal reclamatian covering a period of six months.

CITES HOOVER STAND

"Secretary Hoover," he said, "has been outspoken in favor of government development of the Colorado River. Also, the attitude of the Department of the Interior on the Colorado River development was stated to Congress in March of this year by the Secretary of the Interior that:

"The Colorado River is now a local menace. It may be converted into a public utility of first importance, particularly to Southwestern United States. Its possibilities rank with those of the Panama Canal, the St. Lawrence waterways or to the Territory of Alaska.

"I would recommend that the Congress promptly initiate such commensurate measures as it may determine the government's financial status will warrant, and probable commercial return justify from a point of view fifty or 100 years hence rather than now. The whole subject is of national moment, should be surveyed in a broad way, and is well worthy of the serious consideration and action of Congress."

SOUTHWEST IS DECLARED REPUBLICAN

Arizona and New Mexico Safe in Coolidge Column, President is Told

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Border States of the Southwest are safe for the Republicans, according to assurances given to President Coolidge by Senator Cameron of Arizona today.

The Intermountain States similarly are in good shape, according to Senator Gooding of Idaho. Former Gov. George Curry of New Mexico gave assurance to the President that he will carry that State.

"Out in Arizona where sentiment has crystallized, we feel not only that Coolidge will be elected by a safe majority, but we confidently expect him to carry the country by almost as great a majority as President Harding received in the landslide of 1920," said Senator Cameron.

"All the West will be for Coolidge. Personally, I am willing to predict that he will have the entire country outside of the solid South and perhaps one or two States like Wisconsin."

Senator Gooding said that Idaho will give President Coolidge a very large plurality.

"President Coolidge has shown insight into the farmers' troubles and his determination to present something like a scientific program instead of a hodge-podge of sundry remedies, has greatly helped him," Senator Gooding said.

LA FOLLETTE TRAINS GUN ON COOLIDGE

Devotes Minnesota Speech to Attack on President and Policies

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 16.—Senator Robert M. La Follette devoted himself in an address here tonight largely to an attack on President Coolidge.

Referring to the President as an "obstructor of important legislation," the independent candidate challenged "the spokesman for Mr. Coolidge to show one single constructive law proposed by him and passed by his influence during the fifteen months he has occupied the White House."

"President Coolidge," Mr. La Follette continued, "demands that there shall be no change in the Esch-Cummins railroad law. I stand for its repeal and for the immediate reduction of freight rates to substantially prewar levels on agricultural products.

"President Coolidge stands for another agricultural investigation commission, and is opposed to any direct governmental relief for agriculture. I denounce further investigation as a fraud and a sham. I demand immediate action.

"President Coolidge is opposed to adjusted compensation for World War veterans. I stand for genuine adjusted compensation paid in cash as a substitute for the 'tombstone bonus' bill enacted by the last Congress.

"President Coolidge is opposed to increasing the salaries of postal employees to meet the increased cost of living. I stand for doing justice to the faithful employees of the Federal government.

"President Coolidge stands for the maintenance of government by the private monopoly system. I stand for the fundamental American principles of representative government and demand a return of the government to control by the American people."

Man With Heart Exposed in Bull's Attack May Live

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS (Ill.) Oct. 16.—Medical men from all parts of the country have been flocking to the Paris Hospital to investigate the remarkable case of Rebsell Collier, gored by a bull three weeks ago.

Almost all the ribs on his left side were broken. The flesh was torn open, the left lung pierced, and the heart exposed.

When the patient was received the surgeons only attempted to check the flow of blood and ease his suffering. Death was expected in the course of an hour. Now the wounds are healing and his recovery is expected.

COOLIDGE KEEPS MARGIN IN POLL

Literary Digest Straw Vote Gives Him 36 States

Fifty-six Per Cent Favor Republican Ticket

Davis Still Third, But Goes Up as South Reports

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—John W. Davis has increased his percentage of the popular and Electoral College vote in this week's returns of the Literary Digest's big Presidential poll as ballots from all of the forty-eight States have been received which, the Digest proclaims, "may, for the first time be considered fairly representative of the nation as a whole."

Of the total of nearly 2,000,000 votes, Coolidge has 1,066,214; Davis, 384,205; La Follette, 432,-660, which expressed in percentage show 56 per cent Republican, 20 per cent Democratic and almost 23 per cent Progressive.

La Follette is still holding Wisconsin, while Davis has increased his leadership to eleven States and President Coolidge is ahead in the other thirty-six States. La Follette is second choice in twenty-eight States, with Davis second in thirteen. In Kentucky and Oklahoma the Democratic is crowding the Republican standard bearer closely and La Follette has gained slightly on the President in California in the week's tabulation.

"The Democratic percentage may be expected to rise still further with succeeding returns," the Digest predicts, "since the States in which Democratic strength is confessedly strongest are among the last ones to report.

COULD DROP 10 PER CENT

"Both Democratic and Progressive publicists have argued that the Digest's polls tend to favor Republican candidates by approximately 10 per cent and several editors produce figures from previous polls to back up their arguments. This alleged percentage of error, of course, may or may not exist, but it is noteworthy that, even granting its existence, it would make a change in the political complexion of only three States.

"California would be transferred from the Coolidge to the La Follette column, Kentucky and Oklahoma would go to the Democrats and West Virginia. Mr. Davis's home State, would show practically a tie vote between Coolidge and Davis.

"A feature of the voting in California is that since the tabulation published a week ago Coolidge has received 5149 to La Follette's 4651, a proportion which seems to indicate a slight rise, for the week at least, in the California popularity of the Progressive candidate.

TOTALS BY STATES

WHEELER CONTINUES ATTACKS IN EL PASO

LA FOLLETTE RUNNING-MATE "EXPLAINS" WHY HE QUIT THE OLD PARTY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL PASO (Tex.) Oct. 16.—Before a large but unresponsive audience Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, La Follette-Socialist party candidate for Vice-President, tonight renewed his categorical denunciation of the Republican administration.

The candidate prefaced his attack by explaining his motives for desertion from the Democratic standard. He said that when the Democratic convention met at New York, he had hoped that it would nominate a man and adopt a platform with which the party might honestly oppose the Republican party, which he asserted was controlled by the "predatory interests."

Mr. Wheeler centered his attack for the most part against President Coolidge, the man who he asserted maintained consistent silence "in the face of the greatest political corruption in history."

"Between reactionary Republicans and reactionary Democrats there is now nothing to choose," he said. "The Republicans on one hand are the recognized tool of the predatory interests and the Democrats on the other have as their nominee the representative of the house of Morgan."

DEL MONTE IS PICKED FOR BANKERS MEETING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DEL MONTE, Oct. 16.—Del Monte is going to be the meeting place of group three of the California Bankers' Association on the 25th inst. It is expected that close to 200 members will attend. The purchasing and stores section of the Pacific Coast Electrical Association will hold its convention here November 20 and 21. Work of constructing a temporary dining-room, palm grill and lobby at the Hotel Del Monte will be completed November 15.

EXPENDITURES TOLD BY G.O.P.

Republican Treasurer Gives Details of Finances

Shows $1,714,317 Collected for Campaign to Date

La Follette Chief Dodges on Outlays Through Unions

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The Republican national campaign organization had collected and expended $1,714,317 up to the 10th inst., and the La Follette independent organization had collected $190,535 and disbursed $155,062, according to testimony given today at the opening sessions of the special campaign fund investigating committee of the United States Senate.

Complete figures as to operations of the Democratic national organization were not obtained, but Lincoln Dixon, manager of the western headquarters, testified that his organization has spent $32,500 up to the 10th inst., of which sum all except $5000 had been furnished by the national committee.

The other $5000 was a personal contribution from George B. Brennan, Democratic national committeeman from Illinois, he said. Chairman Borah stated that he would call finance officers of the Democratic National Committee later.

W. V. Hodges, treasurer of the Republican National Committee, told the Senate investigators that the gross total contributed to the Republican campaign had come from 16,902 individuals and organizations, including twelve contributions ranging from $10,000 to a maximum of $25,000. John M. Nelson, national director of the La Follette campaign, testified that the total of $190,535 received by his organization had come from approximately 72,000 contributors in sums ranging from $1 upward, with one contribution of $23,000, another of $5000 and three of $1000 each.

WRIGLEY GIVES $25,000

William Wrigley, Jr., of Chicago, was listed as the only person contributing as much as $25,000 to the Republican fund. James A. Patten of Evanston, Ill., a grain dealer, gave $20,000. Fifteen thousand dollar contributions came from Payne Whitney of Manhasset, N. Y.; Aldrich A. Johnson of Camden, N. J., and Arthur Curtis James of New York City, Hodges testified.

"Have you received any contribution from J. P. Morgan & Co. or any members of that firm?" asked Senator Borah, after Mr. Hodges had finished with the lists.

"Yes," was the answer. "I don't know the names of all of the members of the firm, but I do know that we have had contributions from Dwight Morrow and Thomas Cochran, each giving $5000.

The witness volunteered that there appeared on his books a sum of $75,000 sent in by Joseph R. Grundy of Bristol, Pa., and representing collections made by him.

The national treasurer agreed to furnish the list of contributors when it came in. Grundy previously had advanced $50,000 to the national committee, Hodges said, but that sum had been repaid to him.

QUOTAS FIXED

Questioning by members of the committee developed that Grundy was to have raised $300,000 in Pennsylvania, and that under the original budget of the national committee, a total of $600,000 was to be sought in that State and $400,000 in Illinois. Chairman Borah indicated that Grundy would be called for examination at a later date, probably in Washington to which place the investigation is likely to be transferred within a few days.

Hodges explained to the committee that the net expenditures by the Republican national organization in the Presidential campaign has aggregated $1,342,959, the other $371,358 having been collected for the Congressional, Senatorial and State campaigns and expended for those purposes through the regular committees.

The national organization started out on an estimated budget need of $3,000,000 for the campaign, Mr. Hodges said. He added that collections up to the 10th inst. had run about $600,000 short of those of the 1920 campaign.

Congressman Nelson in his statement to the committee said the La Follette-Wheeler organization had made a budget estimate ranging from $500,000 to $1,500,000, but that this had been disregarded. He thought the campaign could be wound up with an additional expenditure of $50,000, making the total approximately $250,000, including sums received through the Conference for Progressive Political Action.

UNION FUNDS SEPARATE

Mr. Nelson said he had no knowledge as to what sums were being spent by labor organizations on behalf of the La Follette-Wheeler campaign, but he did know that the American Federation of Labor was conducting an independent campaign, collecting and expending its own funds. He disclaimed knowledge of either the source or the amount.

Both Mr. Hodges and Congressman Nelson submitted detailed statements of expenditures.

William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican National Committee, will be a witness tomorrow.

Both Mr. Hodges and Mr. Nelson were questioned at some length. Senator Caraway asked Mr. Nelson if he thought a national campaign could be conducted for less than $500,000, and the La Follette manager replied that his organization was doing it. He added that there was a very large amount of volunteer work.

The La Follette spokesman presented to the committee a bulky statement containing the names of each contributor. The committee instructed him to reduce it to the names of contributors of $100 or more. Meantime the identity of the doners of the $5000 and the three $1000 contributions was not disclosed. The $25,000 contribution was from W. T. Rawleigh, the national treasurer, who had agreed to obligate himself up to $40,000 if that should be necessary. Mr. Rawleigh is a Freeport (Ill.) manufacturer.

ROBBED AND BEATEN

A trio of negroes forced their way into W. H. Murdock's room at 511 Ceres avenue early yesterday morning, stripped him of his clothing, after beating him, and robbed him of $100 which he had hidden in a sock.

NEW ENTRY FOR HOUSE IN ARIZONA

W. J. Galbraith Named by Republicans to Run for Congress Seat

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Oct. 16.—W. J. Galbraith, former Attorney-General of Arizona, now a practicing attorney in Phoenix, was nominated today as the Republican candidate for Congress to oppose Carl Hayden, Democrat, while A. H. McClure of Yuma was nominated for Secretary of State. The elections were made by the executive committee of the State Republican Committee to fill vacancies caused by resignations of Judge Albert H. Sames of Douglas as nominee for Congress and of G. V. Hays of Safford, who had been named for Secretary of State.

Under the State law, no limit is put on the date on which party organizations may fill vacancies, though printing of ballots is understood to have been started already. Under certification of Chairman H. S. Corbett, the names were accepted by Secretary of State J. H. Kerby.

Only one place remains vacant on the State Republican ticket, no nomination for Auditor having been made at the primary election.

PERRY THOMAS IS FATHER

Deputy City Attorney W. Perry Thomas yesterday received congratulations on becoming the father of a daughter, born yesterday morning at the Good Samaritan Hospital. The baby weighed six pounds eight ounces, and both mother and child are doing nicely, Mr. Thomas said as he passed around the cigars. The Thomases live at 524 North Alexandria avenue.

VOTERS TOLD OF DEADLOCK PLOT

Rowell Declares Radicals Do Not Hope to Win

Sees Loss to State Should Their Scheme Succeed

President Remarkable Man, ex-Publisher Says

Chester Rowell, well-known writer and formerly a newspaper publisher in California, declared last night at an enthusiastic Republican rally in the John Muir High School that La Follette does not expect to be elected President, that he has had no such expectations at any time, but that he is the author of a conspiracy which, if successful, would throw the Presidential election into the Senate and would place the selection of a new Chief Executive in his hands.

If the La Follette plan is successful, Mr. Rowell pointed out, four months of confusion will follow the November election, in which business would practically cease. This will occur during the four months when California is shipping her products East, products for the most part which people do not buy in hard times, with a resultant heavy loss to California shippers and farmers.

The danger of allowing the election to go into Congress was explained by Mr. Rowell, who said that Gov. Bryan of Nebraska, whom he termed a political cipher, would in all probability be the choice. The vote of California may determine whether it shall be Coolidge or Bryan, he said.

CALLED REMARKABLE

"President Coolidge is a Yankee," said Mr. Rowell, "as Yank as Uncle Sam, but have no illusions that he is a small man accidentally in a great place. On the contrary he impresses all who know him and have seen him in action as a very remarkable man—remarkable in broad knowledge and sound judgment of men and affairs, and of fine ability in grasping and solving problems, and remarkable in even higher degree in that rock-fast soundness of judgment and character which makes common sense uncommon, and common honesty inspiring. He is a man that you can tie to, exactly 100 per cent.

"In Charles G. Dawes we have a candidate equally remarkable.

"The world, in the past seven years, has had just three supreme jobs of public business, and Charles G. Dawes has done all three of them.

WHAT HE DID

First he co-ordinated the purchases and supplies not only of the American Army, but of the whole Allied armies during the deciding months of the war. Then, as budget director, he put the biggest business in the world, the business of the United States government, for the first time on a business basis. And finally, after the politicians of Europe for six years had produced nothing but chaos, and finally had come to a realization that only sound business could straighten out Europe, they turned that job over to Charles G. Dawes and he did it.

Charges that he had opposed the building of the Boulder Canyon Dam and the All-American Canal were answered by Congressman John D. Fredericks, who also spoke. The canal, he said, can be successfully built after the dam has been approved since the site for the canal is 200 miles from that of the dam. DAWES PREPARES FOR SWING THROUGH [illegible]

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—[illegible] his eastern speaking tour has been arranged, Charles G. Dawes, Republican candidate for Vice-President, devoted his time to accumulated correspondence, business affairs and in preparation for the final two weeks of the campaign. Leaving here next Thursday for the East, Mr. Dawes will speak almost daily until the following Saturday before election day. On his return on the 28th he will make his eastern tour he probably will go to St. Louis.

			DOUBLE-FACED Number	Price
Berceuse (Lullaby) (Jarnefelt) Violin Solo / Berceuse (Lullaby) (Cui) Violin Solo		Cecilia Hansen / Cecilia Hansen	1035	$1.50
La Chasse (The Hunt) (Soudant) / Bourrée d'Auvergne (Country Dance) (Lemaire)	Harpsichord Solo / Harpsichord Solo	Wanda Landowska / Wanda Landowska	1038	1.50
Gioconda—Voce di donna (Angelic Voice) (Ponchielli) In Italian / Huguenots—Nobil signori, salute! (Noble Sirs, I Salute You!) (Meyerbeer) In Italian		Margarete Matzenauer / Margarete Matzenauer	6471	2.00

The first number, the tender thanks of the blind woman rescued from the charges of witchcraft, is a beautiful example of legato singing; the second, the florid contralto song of the worldly page-boy.

Melodious Instrumental

A Suite of Serenades—Part 1 / A Suite of Serenades—Part 2		Paul Whiteman and His Concert Orchestra	55226	1.50

Four serenades by the late Victor Herbert, especially composed for this enlarged organization, in Spanish, Chinese, Cuban and Oriental styles.

Light Vocal Selections

Oft in the Stilly Night (Moore) Male Quartet / All Through the Night (Welsh) Male Quartet		Shannon Quartet / Shannon Quartet	19413	.75

Beautiful old favorites—one of Moore's loveliest lyrics, and a lovely old Welsh song. The solo parts are accompanied by orchestra, with interludes of uncommon beauty.

Go 'long, Mule / Way Out West in Kansas		Vernon Dalhart / Billy Murray–Ed Smalle	19442	.75

Two comedy songs that come up to the name; even the instruments of the orchestra laugh and chuckle. Incidentally, these are two very snappy dance tunes.

When I Was the Dandy and You Were the Belle / Put Away a Little Ray of Golden Sunshine for a Rainy Day		Aileen Stanley–Billy Murray / Aileen Stanley	19443	.75

These distinguished comedy singers have two fine sentimental numbers, the first introducing some old-time tunes.

A Voice With a Smile / Smile Again, Kathleen Mavourneen		Henry Burr / Sterling Trio	19444	.75

Emotional numbers in the popular manner. The first number is simple and obvious in melodic style; the other waltz-like in structure, introducing the harmony of men's voices.

Dance Records

Hard Hearted Hannah—Fox Trot / Bagdad—Fox Trot		Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra	19447	.75

The Savannah lady of the adamantine heart now appears on a fox-trot record, paired with an "Oriental" companion. Good records for the Collegiate, and also for the standard or two-step fox-trot.

That's Georgia—Fox Trot / Morning—Fox Trot		The Benson Orchestra of Chicago	19448	.75

Fox trots of the melodious kind. "Georgia" has an odd beginning, smoothly launched without obvious rhythm. "Morning" has short phrases and a strong rhythm.

MANY DEAD IN CANTON BATTLE

Flames and Bullets Take Toll of 1000 Lives

Foreign Residences Reported Looted by Soldiers

TROOPS MASSED

Soldiers of the former Chekiang province army, loosely banded and numbering about 15,000 are concentrated for the most part north and northwest of the settlements while their recent opponents have established themselves to the southward, adjacent to Lungwha (4.3 miles from Shanghai station,) which was headquarters of Lu Tung-Hsiang, Chekiang commander, before he surrendered the city and fled to Japan.

The Chekiang concentration camp is 'immediately west of the settlement boundaries, on the Shanghai-Nanking railway. The defeated soldiers have mounted artillery pieces, field guns they brought back with them on their retreat from the fighting front, on either side of the railway, about three miles from the latest lines of the Kiangsu troops approaching the city.

If a clash occurs, it will be in that section, just west of the suburb of Jessfield, it is believed.

HOMES LOOTED

The advancing Kiangsu Province soldiers, who fought six weeks to capture Shanghai, were seen this afternoon looting deserted Chinese homes and shops as they came. There was no firing, however.

Sun Ch'uan-Fang, military governor of Fukien Province, arrived at Lungwha this afternoon bringing with him 3000 of his men, Lei Pao-San, Kiangsu general, who directed the Tai Lake campaign, is expected tomorrow with Chi Shieh-Yuan, Tuchun of Kiangsu Provinces. What action these leaders will take in government of the city and removal of the menace of unfriendly armed troops is not known.

Chang Jun-Ming, the Hupeh commander, at present in authority at Lungwha, intimated today that it was the intention of the leaders to make a demand on the foreign consular body of Shanghai for expulsion from the foreign settlements of Hsu Shu-Tseng, "Little Hsu," Chekiang general alleged to have attempted organization of a Cabinet to reorganize the Chekiang troops and continue the warfare with the central government forces.

Gen. Hsu has taken refuge in the foreign settlements, where he is free from possible arrest by his enemies. The settlement authorities are keeping him under surveillance to make sure that he causes no trouble in districts adjoining the settlements.

BAN LANDING

Chang Jun-Ming asserted today that he was refraining from any efforts to disarm the Chekiang men because such a course might precipitate renewal of the recent strife, endangering the city of Shanghai. He added that he expects ultimately to recruit the major portion of the Chekiang forces for the national army.

Landing of 7000 central Chinese government troops at Chinwangtao was prevented today by orders of the commander of the British garrison there, according to a dispatch to a Japanese News Agency here.

The dispatch said the commander declared such a landing would be incompatible with the protocol of 1901.

The final protocol made between China and eleven powers in 1901, closing the situation brought about by the Boxer rebellion, provided in part for the occupation of Chinwangtao and other points "for the maintenance of open communication between the capital (Peking) and the sea."

MILITARY TRAIN REACHES SHANHAIKWAN

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

TIEN-TSIN, Oct. 16. — The international military train which left for Shanhaikwan Tuesday noon in an effort to reopen the railway line between here and the Manchurian border, reached its objective and is on its way back, it was learned here today.

The international train mentioned above was under the command of Capt. Paul Steele of the United States Army, and carried supplies and reinforcements for Japanese military posts at Lwanchow, Changli and Shanhaikwan.

Regular railway traffic had been suspended due to use of the trains for military movements and the international train was the result.

AMERICAN BOATS ORDERED TO CANTON

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

REDS REPORTED VICTORS OVER MERCHANTS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

HONGKONG, Oct. 16.—The Merchant Volunteer Corps of Canton, known as the Chinese Fascisti, has been defeated by the army forces of the Red army composed of Chinese laborers, after warfare in the streets of Canton lasting two days, according to a wireless message picked up here today from Canton by naval authorities.

A conflagration which resulted from the hostilities burned in Canton all day Wednesday, but was brought under control after damage totaling an estimated loss of $7,000,000 had been done and a large number of persons were killed or burned to death.

RAID FAN-TAN GAME

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 16.—A police raiding party last night interrupted an asserted fan-tan game in old Chinatown and arrested fourteen Chinese on charges ranging from gambling to operating a gambling game. All of the supposed gamblers, operators and the lookouts in the place were arrested and held in jail by the officers.

GOAL IS SET BY RADICAL PARTY

bition of most La Follette promoters.

Roosevelt was the only candidate for the Presidency to poll 4,000,000 popular votes and set a new record for independent achievements in the matter of electoral votes.

Even the most ardent La Follette admirers do not seriously contend that he will win more electoral votes than did Roosevelt. Incidentally, the son of the aggressive progressive leader who stood his old party on its head twelve years ago has many well-wishers among the La Follette adherents here in Michigan. They hope he will follow in his father's footsteps to Albany. The latter carried Michigan twelve years ago and added its fifteen electoral votes to his string. La Follette stands very little chance of duplicating the Roosevelt achievement here. The leaders of the two regular parties concede him somewhere around 250,000 votes in a total of 1,000,000.

He may and probably will win pluralities in from three to seven States. He may get enough electoral votes to throw the decision into the House of Representatives, though there is less likelihood of this now than there was a month ago, according to the leaders of the other two parties.

Here in Michigan, La Follette a month ago seemed in a fair way of getting more votes than Davis. The Republican leaders asserted he would and the Democratic managers were apprehensive of it. Neither holds such an opinion now. In other words the regulars are "coming back home," according to the latest professional survey of both the regular parties.

The one dominant idea that appears to be in the back of the heads of most La Follette leaders in the East and this far west is to build local organizations on permanent foundations. Most of the spokesmen for organized labor units with whom I have talked in all the new foreign-language States, New York, New Jersey and Michigan, appear to be much more interested in this phase of the La Follette movement than in the personal fate of the self-appointed leader of the present movement.

"We will come out of this fight a new party," declared Mr. Brock, the La Follette manager in Detroit, in a conversation with the writer. The same prediction was made by labor leaders identified with the La Follette movement in the Eastern States visited.

To these men the Wisconsin radical is merely a symbol.

A great many important men identified with the trades unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor privately find fault with some of La Follette's doctrines. They do not subscribe to his attacks on the courts or his criticism of the Republican tariff policy, which they regard as a benefit instead of an economic detriment.

One of the most important reasons for the indorsement of La Follette by the Gompers trades-union organization was the belief that it and not La Follette would eventually emerge the principal benefactor.

This thought has been kept in the background up to date, but it is there, nevertheless. A big vote for the La Follette-Wheeler ticket next month would encourage the advocates of a straight-goods labor ticket to bring it into existence at the national election of the American Federation of Labor in El Paso in November.

RAINSTORM IN NORTH IS OVER

for more than forty-eight hours had raged over the northern part of the State came as far south as Orange county yesterday, where a trace of rain was registered in Santa Ana and surrounding cities. No rain was reported from Riverside or San Bernardino counties except in the highest altitudes, where a mist changed into snow on the highest peaks.

A slight rain was general over Tulare county with .15 of an inch reported at Porterville, bringing the season's total to .35 of an inch. At this time last year the fall was .08 of an inch. Four inches of snow was reported at Huntington Lake, where it was still snowing hard last night. Exeter received the heaviest precipitation, .65 of an inch being reported.

Kings county experienced its third small rain for the season and reported .17 of an inch at Hanford, making a total of .49 of an inch for the season. Up to the first of November last year .45 of an inch of rain had been recorded.

The storm extended into Kern country and register .06 of an inch on the gauge at Bakersfield. This makes the season's total .30 of an inch as compared to .52 of an inch at the same time last year.

Changing from rain to wind, a gale swept the entire Imperial Valley. The sand was forced through the air with such velocity as to cause the postponement of several meetings which had been scheduled, and to make travel on the highways difficult.

spected by the board of inspection and survey of the Navy Department. Rear-Admiral Guy H. Barrage, chairman, with members of the board, is expected from Washington soon, to begin a minute examination of the ship. The board's inspection will be to ascertain whether the aircraft shall be officially taken over by the United States as part of Germany's indemnity to this country, under the terms of the Versailles Treaty.

Under the circumstances, the ZR-3 which completed its record-making flight from Friedrichshafen in eight-one hours and seventeen minutes under the command of Dr. Hugo Eckener, when it arrived here yesterday morning, will probably not make another flight, for at least a month. The great ship partly dismantled, rested in its hangar today like a tired bird, although Lieutenant-Commander Maurice R. Pearce, acting commander of the post, said it was "as fit as when it started from Germany."

Only the minor members of the German crew were left aboard the ship in the absence of Dr. Eckener and other officers who went to Washington. A wooden frame work was being built beneath the big gas bag. The process of placing the vessel on skids is preparatory to deflating it.

When the gas is allowed to escape the ship, relieved of its buoyancy, will rest on the skid. Work of letting out the hydrogen gas will be begun in a few days. The gas cost about $3 for each 1000 cubic feet. The cost of the 2,400,000 cubic feet was, therefore, about $7200. No effort will be made to utilize this gas because it is considered dangerously inflammable and has deteriorated.

The gas to be used in the future will be helium, which costs about $60 for 1000 cubic feet. Helium, also used in the Shenandoah has less lifting power, but is non-inflammable and may be purified, after use and used again. Officials at the Lakehurst station were unable to compute the cost of bringing the ZR-3 across the Atlantic.

HOPE FOR MAN HIT BY ELECTRIC CAR SLIGHT

Little hope is entertained for the recovery of Dr. Burt O. Mr. Kinney suffered a basal skull fracture and other injuries. He lives at 2018 Hillcrest Road.

Vulcan Smoothtop Gas Ranges

"For Smoother Cooking"

Cooking on the top of a gas range that is too high or too low puts a heavy load on nerves and muscles. Correct height ranges save a vast amount of tiredness.

The Comfort Height is 38 Inches

—so say domestic science experts. This is the height of the Smoothtop—another advantage. On a Smoothtop you can shuffle the pots about as you will without lifting. Start them over the burners lit—push them back—they will keep warm. No tipping—perfectly easy to clean—the Smoothtop, a marvel of perfection.

Smoothtop Cooking Points

1. One burner heats several vessels, keeps a whole dinner hot.
2. Unbroken top prevents tipping and spilling. Pots slide; less lifting and carrying.
3. Top is 38 inches high for your comfort's sake.
4. As easy to clean as enamel table top.

Before you buy a gas stove call at our store and see the full display of Vulcan Smoothtops with a stove in operation.

These ranges may be had with "Wilcolator" oven heat control.

New Postal Telegraph Line across the Continent—

Postal Telegraph Bldg., 253 Broadway, N. Y.

A NEW POSTAL TELEGRAPH-CABLE COMPANY line across the continent has been completed and placed in service. It is the third main trunk line to be established by POSTAL TELEGRAPH. Traversing the Southern portion of the country throughout a very considerable part of its length, it will be free from storms and other climatic disturbances, thereby assuring uninterrupted communication between the Pacific Coast and the Atlantic Seaboard.

Earth boring machine at work. Using 3 machines of this type a record of 61 miles of pole line construction was made in one week. It was often necessary to drill holes in solid rock.

Stringing wire at a sharp turn in the right-of-way. Week's record: 114 miles of wire. In some cases spans of 1800 feet were used to avoid cable work. Approximately 20 new Postal Offices established along the new trunk line.

Completed In Less Than A Year

By completing this line in less than a year the POSTAL TELEGRAPH-COMMERCIAL-CABLE COMPANY established a new record for major telegraph line construction. It was necessary as part of the job to lay a 1500 mile pole line across the deserts and arid plains of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico. In this, 60,000 poles and more than 2,000,000 pounds of copper wire were used.

World-Wide Communications

The three great trans-continental lines of the Postal not only insure the prompt transmission of a vast amount of trans-continental messages, but they link the great undersea cable systems of the Commercial Cable Company in the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. This world-wide communication service is available at every POSTAL TELEGRAPH office.

ESPEE MERGER BY MONTH'S END

System Will Receive 1500 Added Mileage

Major Portion to Come from Southwestern Lines

El Paso and Tucson Expected to Keep Offices

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Oct. 16.—Nearly 1500 miles are to be added to the trackage of the Southern Pacific Company November 1 on consummation of the merger of that corporation with the El Paso and Southwestern Railway system and absorption by the Southern Pacific of its subsidiary, the Arizona Eastern Railroad Company of Arizona.

Theoretically, still more mileage comes with incidental absorption of the Phoenix and Eastern Railroad Company, which has a right of way through Tempe to Mesa, about fourteen miles. Possibly not included in the merger, though its stock is owned by the Southwestern, is the seventy-five mile broad-gauge of the Nacozari Railroad Company, a Mexican corporation operating south of Douglas, mainly for the needs of Phelps-Dodge mines and work at Pilares and Nacozari.

LINE SUBDIVISIONS

The El Paso and Southwestern has a gross mileage of about 1127. The main line has two divisions, from Tucumcari, N. M., to El Paso, 331 miles, and thence to Tucson, 340 miles. The included branches are: Tucumcari-Dawson, 123 miles; Carrizozo-Capitan, 31; Alamagordo-Cloudcroft, 31; Hermanas-Deming-Tyrona, 73; Hachita-Lordsburg-Clifton, 109; Douglas-Courtland, 36; Bisbee branches, 7; Lewis Springs-Fort Huachuca, 13; Fairbank-Tombstone, 9; Fairbank-Benson, 20. There is probability of elimination of the Hermanas-Deming and Hachita-Lordsburg sections, as unnecessary under consolidation conditions.

The 365 miles of Arizona trackage are subdivided as follows: Maricopa-Tempe-Phoenix, 35 miles; Tempe-Christmas, 95; Phoenix-Hassayampa, 39; Avondale-Litchfield, 5; Cochise-Gleeson, 35; Chandler Junction-Chandler-Casaba, 12; Bowie-Globe, 124; Globe-Miami, 10.

OFFICES TO CLOSE

Of the Arizona Eastern accession, twenty-three miles between Chandler and Phoenix and thirty-nine miles from Phoenix, via Buckeye, to Hassayampa, will be included in the new main-line construction that has been attached to the merger and that is to be complete within two years. A new seven-mile branch will be built along the north bank of the Gila, from the end of the Gila River bridge to a connection with the Arizona Eastern a few miles west of Florence station, this to give more direct access to the Ray, Hayden and Superior mines and reduction works.

Railroad men expect El Paso and Tucson will continue to be the main office and division points, with even added importance to their railroad shops. Notice has been given of abolition of the operating department of the Arizona Eastern, which has centered in Phoenix, General Manager C. M. Scott being shifted to San Francisco, to the position of assistant treasurer of the Southern Pacific Company. Traffic agencies of the Southwestern at Phoenix and other western and Pacific Coast points are expected to close at the end of the current month.

Crazed Farmer Kills Woman in Referee Court

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BUFFALO (N. Y.) Oct. 16.—Obsessed with the idea that his estate was being dissipated by court costs, Martin L. Warren, a retired farmer, today opened fire with two revolvers at a referee's hearing, killing Mrs. Anna Pilski, his mother-in-law, and her daughter Sophie, and wounding Irving Templeton, a lawyer. Four other prominent lawyers, a girl stenographer, and Stephen Warren, the slayer's brother, escaped the bullets, at least ten of which were fired.

Warren made no attempt to escape, surrendering without a struggle when two policemen rushed in with drawn revolvers.

QUICKER SERVICE PROMISED HOUSTON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HOUSTON (Tex.) Oct. 16.—It is reported here that when the work of relaying the track of the Houston, East and West Texas Railroad with 90-pound steel rails between Houston and Shreveport, La., is finished, a new through passenger service between this city and St. Louis will be established by the Southern Pacific. Its Houston, East and West Texas line will be used between Houston and Shreveport and the track of the St. Louis Southwestern between Shreveport and St. Louis, it is stated.

The proposed new route is forty miles shorter than the present service over the International-Great Northern, Texas and Pacific and the Iron Mountain between Houston and St. Louis. The St. Louis Southwestern between Shreveport and St. Louis is said to be in good condition and capable of sustaining a fast train service.

COURT IN GERMANY FAVORS RADIO FAN

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BERLIN, Oct. 16.—German jurisprudence is evidently favorably disposed toward the radio fan.

A seeker after long-distance reception recently stretched a wire from the roof of his house to the top of a near-by chimney, trespassing on the air space above another neighbor's property, and the latter promptly sued.

In deciding the case, the judge acknowledged the legal right of the plaintiff to the air space above his property, but decreed that no infringement resulted from stretching a single wire across it at such a distance from the ground.

DAVIS SAYS DEMOCRATS ARE UNITED

Asserts Party Never Had More Solidarity Than in Present Campaign

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—John W. Davis opened a two-day stay in Chicago, with an address tonight at the Auditorium Theater, where he laid renewed stress upon what he characterized as the "necessity for good government from the ground up."

Continuing his assault on the Republican administration, he arrived late this afternoon from two days' campaigning down-State. He said he was prepared to reply to Secretary Hughes's statement in New York that the Democratic party could not cope with the present political situation.

"If Mr. Hughes had traveled through the country," Mr. Davis said, "and had the opportunity to observe political conditions as I have had, he would know, as I do, that the Democratic party never was in a condition of greater solidarity and strength than it is today."

Asserting there is dissension in the Republican ranks and referring specifically to the bolt of Senator Brookhart in Iowa, Mr. Davis said that if anybody was going to be cut to pieces in the West it does not look to me that it will be the Democratic party."

French Confer With Morgan on Loan Here

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, Oct. 16.—A conference will be held on Saturday between J. P. Morgan, head of the American banking firm of that name, Premier Herriot and French Finance Minister Clementel in connection with the raising of a French loan in the United States.

The loan is intended, M. Clementel explained, to improve the French currency, but it will be concluded by the government only if the conferences show that the terms of such a loan would be favorable to France.

FORTUNATE ESCAPE

Wedding Guests Uninjured When Car Turns Turtle

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, Oct. 16.—Mrs. W. E. Condon, sister of Bud Houser, Olympic Games champion, had a narrow escape from death at an early hour this morning when returning to this city after attending the wedding of her brother in Los Angeles last night. She was driving her touring car at a fair rate of speed along the State highway near Santa Susana when the machine skidded on a wet stretch of pavement. The occupants were thrown out, but fortunately were not injured. With Mrs. Condon were Elizabeth Russell, Jackie King and Marthina Brouse. The party succeeded in arousing a garage employee at Santa Paula and were brought to Oxnard in another machine, arriving here at 5 o'clock this morning.

RAIDERS MOP UP LIQUOR SHIPMENT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HARLAN (Ky.) Oct. 16.—One hundred and fifty-seven quarts of Scotch whisky, varying in brand, snug in straw containers and packed in boxes marked "floor mops," which had ridden the high seas, successfully run the whisky blockade at New York, been conveyed to Newark, N. J., and transhipped by the "Champion Mop Company," to Harlan, were seized by a raiding party after they had located a secret subcellar, entered through a trap-door concealed by a large rug at the home of Joe Hampton.

Officers assert that Hampton's shipping name was John Swain, and that for more than six months he had been distributing agent for whisky jobbers, with a long list of prominent citizens as clients. He was held to the Federal Court.

CHARGE AUTOISTS WITH MANSLAUGHTER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 16.—Three automobile drivers, charged with negligence in causing the deaths of three persons, will be tried on manslaughter complaints in Superior Court here.

Fred A. Turk, Los Angeles man held responsible for the death of his young nephew in an auto crash Sunday; Mrs. Helen Daly, whose machine yesterday ran down and killed an elderly man on Park Boulevard, and Charles Hall, driver of a car in which Roy Hill, a friend, met death when the machine overturned, are the three awaiting trial. In two recent cases involving drivers of "death cars," the principals were found not guilty of manslaughter.

BREAD COST REAL PROBLEM IN PARIS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Oct. 16.—The price of bread has fluctuated in Paris almost as rapidly as the franc. Immediately after the close of the war popular clamor reduced the price, and also put more wheat into the bread.

With the plunge of the franc six months or so ago living costs mounted and the price of bread began to soar again. Then the order came out to cut down the amount of wheat used by bakers. The people have begun a protest and committees are trying to pacify the public, the bakers and the various ministries.

COUNTERFEIT FOUND

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TORREON (Mex.) Oct. 16.—The public is again being warned against a recent issue and circulation of counterfeit American one hundred dollar bills. These notes are against the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, dated 1914. They have the general appearance of being genuine.

Beals Becker Stars With Bat as Seattle Wins by 8-to-4 Count

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 16.—A home run with two on in the first inning by Beals Becker, Seattle outfielder, gave the Suds a runaway lead over Portland which they never relinquished today and Seattle made it three straight and maintained its two-game lead in the pennant race. The score was 8 to 4. Eckert was pounded for three runs in the first and third, but Keefe, who relieved him, held the Suds runless except for two scores in the seventh. Becker was the Seattle batting hero. Besides his homer, he made two other hits. Score:

THEY EXPECT TO BUST BRONCHOS TOMORROW AFTERNOON

SAINTS IN CITY FOR OXY CLASH

Santa Clara Eleven to Arrive Here This Morning for Game With Tigers

Santa Clara's football squad will arrive here at 7:45 this morning. They will practice in the Coliseum either at noon or early this afternoon in preparation for the game with Occidental College tomorrow afternoon.

Although Santa Clara is the favorite for the day they will not be able to use Chisholm, 190 pound half, as he is a freshman. Storm will also be out of the game owing to injuries. Storm plays end and his work will be missed. He was the man who scored against California.

Injuries will reduce the chances of the Occidental team. Creighton, center, is unable to play and it is not likely that either Davidson or Chandler, guards, will get into the game as they are also injured. Coach Nichols has Reniuns, who is a good center, to replace Creighton. He will probably use McDonald and McHann for the guard positions.

The game will not be a one-sided affair even if Santa Clara is favored to win. Occidental defeated Redlands last week by the lop-sided score of 27 to 0.

RICKARD WORKS ON FIRPO-FULTON TILT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Although watching the outcome of legal proceedings in which Luis Firpo is involved, Tex Rickard is going ahead with plans for a match at Madison Square Garden in November between Firpo and Fred Fulton, the Minnesota plasterer. The promoter is desirous of staging the contest on November 14 or 18.

Quintin Romero of Chile, probably will appear on the same card with Jim Maloney of Boston as an opponent in the semifinal match.

LINCOLN GRIDDERS WIN

Railsplitters Bowl Over Jefferson Eleven by a 14-to-6 Score at Coliseum

The 1924 prep football season opened at the Coliseum yesterday afternoon and practically everything went off as had been expected. Lincoln beat Jefferson, 14 to 6, several thousand rabid high-school kids as usual, making more noise than seven boiler factories, much to Official Announcer Charlie Keppen's annoyance, and the representatives of the press, as of yore, had to either fight their way into the huge bowl by sheer pugilistic ability or buy a ducat at the window.

Lincoln started off strong and scored in the first quarter. Straight line bucking, with Milt Nolan and Evo Pusich in the leading roles, brought the ball up the field, an occasional forward pass adding a bit of yardage here and there. With the leather on the seven-yard line Nolan went around right end for the opening touchdown. He kicked goal, making the score 7 to 0.

ANGERED 'EM

This angered the Democrats and after an exchange of punts the entire Jefferson line sifted through and blocked one of Nolan's kicks. Falk shoving his manly bosom against the ball and finally recovering it on the Lincoln 4-yard mark. On the first play Kerwin plunged over, but had the misfortune to miss the goal try and the count was 7 to 6.

Near the end of the quarter the Railsplitters worked the ball to the 21-yard line and in the second session Nolan again went over and kicked the goal for a 14-to-6 total.

There was lots of excitement in the second half but no scoring. Jefferson, aided by a brilliant 18-yard run on the part of Kerwin, once worked the ball to Lincoln's 23-yard line, but a bad pass from center lost a lot of yardage and Jackie Fields, the world's amateur featherweight boxing champion, won over Dan Woods in the main event at the L.A.A.C. semi-monthly bouts last night. Joe Salas, national amateur feather champion won by a technical knockout in the third round over Sailor Barrett. Salas was just too clever for his man.

Clayton Frye defeated Sailor Calhoun. The jackie turned out to be a tough customer but Frye solved his delivery and won by tattooing his body with rights and lefts. Al Leonard won over Clark Williams in a fine slugging mixup. Leonard's advantage at the end was but slight.

August Gotto defeated Mike Waters in a good fast bout which at times had the fans voicing their joy. Billy Zuckle won over Char-

SPEEDING CAR JUMPS RAILING

Famous Driver Loses Control of Racing Auto

Machine and Pilot Go Over Edge of Speedway

Practicing for Inaugural Event of Track

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHARLOTTE (N. C.) Oct. 16.—Ernie Ansterberg, world famous automobile racer was killed late today on the new Charlotte speedway when he lost control of his car while trying the new track, struck the upper rail and went over it. He died on the way to a hospital.

Ansterberg arrived here this week from Los Angeles with a number of other racers for the inaugural races at the speedway the 25th inst. He held the world's record for the fastest lap of a mile and a quarter board track, having made his record at Altoona last summer. Ansterberg was married and his wife is said to be in Los Angeles.

Ansterberg broke into the racing game as a mechanic with the late Eddie O'Donnell. Before winning the pilot's seat he rode with Ralph De Palma. His first race as a driver was at the old Beverly Hills track last February, when he drove a Duesenberg. Since then he has been driving with the Duesenberg team all over the country, and competed in the last Fresno race on the Coast. He was considered to be one of the coming young drivers.

HICKEY DECLINES TO CHANGE HIS PLANS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—President Thomas J. Hickey of the American Association declined today to agree to a suggestion from Seattle that the St. Paul American Association club go to Los Angeles to play the Seattle Coast League club in event that club wins the Pacific Coast League pennant.

Mr. Hickey said that the Seattle people informed him that the weather in late October at Seattle probably would not be as good as that in Los Angeles, but the American Association head said that he was willing to go ahead and take a chance on the Seattle weather in the event the Seattle club won the pennant. If Los Angeles or San Francisco should win the pennant, he said, the St. Paul club will meet either in its respective city.

Poly Faces Hollywood, Franklin Meets L.A. High in Today's Prep Games

FOOTHILLERS ARE FAVORED

Mechanics Doped to Get a Trimming Today

Coliseum is Scene of Prep Grid Feature

Romans May Get Surprised by Kiteflyers

Four more City League football elevens will make their official debut on the local gridirons today with Hollywood and Poly clashing at the Coliseum and Franklin and L. A. High tangling at Housh Field.

After today's games the local dopesters will have something definite to work with as all the squads except the Manual Arts Toilers will have exposed their power of lack of it in league games. Lincoln and Jefferson jumped the gun on the other prep elevens by staging their combat at the Coliseum yesterday, the Railsplitters emerging with a 14-to-6 victory.

Sid Foster's Manual crew plays the Occidental College frosh aggregation tomorrow at the Coliseum in a preliminary game to the Oxy-Santa Clara clash, so after this week the low-down will be out on all of the City League outfits.

POLY IN FEATURE

Because it is being played at the Coliseum the Poly-Hollywood tilt is being regarded as the main event of the afternoon, but the Pioneer-Kiteflyer battle should be more even than a lot of folks suspect. Coach Tennison's Blue and Buff charges have rolled up impressive scores in their practice games and might step out and bowl over the Romans as they did two years ago, when Franklin won the title.

Ira Schweizer and Berry the Kiteflyers have a couple of slippery backs apt to break loose and dash for a touchdown most anytime.

However, Coach Bruce Kirkpatrick generally has a strong squad out at the West Eleventh-street institution and this year's team should be no exception. The Pioneer offense is built up around Capt. Phil Kerr, Tommy Middleton, and Moses, the latter being an exceptionally good punter.

The Foothillers will blossom forth under the tutelage of "Indian Joe" Kelly as favorites over the Mechanics. The last time Poly and Hollywood met the Mechanics ran up a 32-to-7 score, and the red-clad athletes of the Movie City will be out to get revenge for that defeat inflicted two years ago.

SPEEDY OFFENSE

Kelly has built up a speedy offense, which has numerous forward passes scattered through it, and Hollywood fans be expecting to take the Mechanics to camp with much ease and gusto. In Adams and Moore the Red Shirts have a passing combination that promises to rival the Janecki-to-Pabst duo that forward-passed L. A. High into a tie for the championship last season. With Capt. Pallor also occasionally on the end of a pass and with a husky young gent named Guthrie ready to dash off for long gains through the line every once in a while, the Foothillers feel fairly certain of victory.

However, Coach Volle Brennen's Mechanics are far from out of the fight, even though they did lose enough good players to make up a team since this season started. The loss of Jack Murphy, around whom Brennen built up his offense, caused the Poly mentor to completely revise his plan of attack.

The Mechanics will be lighter this year than for some seasons back, but the team is speedier and speed helps quite a bit in prep football. Dilworth, Ford, Griffith and Lauterman will probably be the Poly backfield which Brennen will start.

Both games start at 2 o'clock.

ILLNI-MICHIGAN GAME TO BE GIVEN AT CLUB

A play-by-play account of the Illinois-Michigan football game, which is to be played tomorrow will be given alumni of the two schools at the City Club. The account will come from The Times, and will start at 12 o'clock. All alumni of either university are invited.

OBSERVATIONS

By INNOCENT BYSTANDER, BILL HENRY

Can it be possible that there is another such surprise party awaiting the Trojans at Portland as met them at Seattle last year about this time? It doesn't seem likely, but on the other hand there has been a most ominous silence from Corvallis. We know a few things about the Aggies. One of them is that they have a mess of material, all big, husky brothers who know more or less about the game. We also know that this man Schissler, who is coaching them, knows his stuff. It is public property that they've been on the job early and often in practice.

The Aggies will probably weigh every bit as much as U.S.C. and ought to be in top-notch condition. Nobody knows who will start the game against the Trojans for the reason that nobody but Schissler knows what his first team is. U.S.C. is in the same condition, but Schissler makes Henderson look like a bum when it comes to shooting in substitutes. He set a new world's record against Whitman when he made forty-nine substitutions by actual count.

Personally, we can't help feeling that Henderson, with his marvelous wealth of seasoned football material, ought to knock over the Aggies, regardless of what has been accomplished by the new coach. The Trojans are certainly logical favorites and all Southern California is hoping and figuring that Henderson's crowd will win a victory.

Stanford's game with Oregon ought not to be a whole lot of difficulty for Glenn Warner's big team, as Oregon has not shown any ability to get alarmed over this year.. It is quite true, however, that the Cards have yet to really find themselves. They haven't hit their stride at all and will have to get under way pretty soon if they are going to cut as much ice in Coast football as had been anticipated.

California's scramble with the Olympic Club will give something of a line on the respective merits of the Bears and Stanford. It will be very surprising if the Bears don't run up more points against the club athletes than the Cardinals did for Andy Smith seems to have his offense in better working order at this stage of the game than any of the other big coaches.

The Occidental-Santa Clara game, which is the big Southern California contest at the Coliseum this week, promises to furnish a very interesting line on the relative merits of the State's small colleges. Santa Clara is certainly representative of the strength of the small colleges in the northern end of the State, while Occidental seems to be pretty well in the same position down here. The game means a lot to both teams.

Pomona, with two great backfield stars out, in the persons of Borey Bell and Earl Merritt, will have rather tough picking against the rejuvenated Caltech eleven. Whittier expects to find the Grizzlies a sort of a push-over but might easily get fooled, as the Quakers did last week. The other southern games are of minor importance.

The bottom sort of fell out of the Coast League race when the Seattle Indians took that double-header from Portland on Wednesday while the Vernon Tigers were welcoming Marty Krug home by kicking his feet out from under him. There is still a fighting chance, but Seattle is as good as "in" which ought to be glad tidings for our old college chum Red Killefer. Red certainly has made good in a strange city whether he finishes first of third and those who pulled for him when he was with the Seraphs are tickled to death to see him do so well.

Louisville will probably be the scene of the annual indoor track and field championships of the A.A.U. This and other matters of interest will be acted upon by the delegates at the annual convention in Atlantic City.

BAY LEAGUERS CLASH

Game Between Inglewood and Venice is Feature of Second Round of Play in Beach Loop

Eliminations in the race for first prize in the Bay League varsity football scramble will take place on four fields of the circuit this afternoon, when the second round of play is run off.

What appears to be the feature fracas of the day is the mix-up between the Inglewood Sentinels and the Gonodolier heavyweight squad on the latter's grounds. The victory of the Inglewooders over Gardena by a decisive score, stamped the team as a contender of the first water.

While the Sentinals were trouncing the Gardenans, Venice fought out a scoreless tie with Compton. By comparative scores, Inglewood looms as a favorite. Bad weather conditions account largely for the heavy scoring in the Gardena skirmish, however, and Venice supporters are expecting to shove Inglewood from its high perch this Friday.

Santa Monica is host to Gardena. Coach Shutt's troupers should not have much to worry about in the impending tussle, though it was Gardena that wrested the Bay League football crown from the Bay District city in 1923.

Samohi has something to cackle over in the loss of two stellar players through ineligibility, Garfield Leon, linesman, and Peter Wraith, who was being groomed for backfield action, being included among the ineligibles.

The Redondo unlimited squad is slated to argue with the Los Angeles Harbor team in the harbor city. Los Angeles Harbor is favored to take this tilt without much effort, though Redondo put up a stubborn front in the Santa Monica melee.

Huntington Park and Compton meet in the only other gridiron affair. The contending teams have yet to chalk up percentage figures for themselves, so will be out for a hard-earned victory. Though Compton will have a slight edge by meeting the adversary at home, the selection of the strongest squad Gardena that wrested the Bay beforehand is a toss-up.

HUSKY STARS INJURED

Kuhn and Wilson Hurt in Scrimmage; Will Be Out for Several Weeks of Season

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SEATTLE, Oct. 16.—Two of the greatest football players in the country today, George Wilson, Washington's wonderful halfback, and Ed Kuhn, Washington's captain and star tackle, went to the sidelines last night within two minutes of one another, suffering from injuries that may keep them out of active play for at least two weeks.

Wilson was hurt at the completion of a dazzling run through the scrubs. He was able to walk from the field unassisted, but gloom immediately gripped the squad, for it seems impossible for him to be in the Montana game Saturday and decidedly improbable that he will be ready for the Oregon Aggie game a week hence.

Two minutes later Kuhn was sent from the field suffering from a broken nose. The big captain may be able to get into the Oregon Aggie game wearing a nose guard, but it is hardly likely that he will even start in the Montana game. These two injuries were the windup of one of the most disappointing workouts the varsity has had all year.

Coach Bagshaw became so incensed at the varsity's poor play that he sent the whole team to the sidelines, put in the second team and made the stars watch their less famous brothers run over and around the supervarsity for two touchdowns in ten minutes. After half an hour's reflection the first team was called back and apparently found itself; in fact, was going through the second team with regularity when first Wilson, then Kuhn, went out. The Huskies are fairly well supplied with reserve material in the line and can probably fill Kuhn's place to a certain degree, but filling Wilson's shoes is another matter again, and the attack is bound to suffer. Either Parmeter or Shidler is expected to be in at the vacant halfback berth Saturday against Montana.

OREGON STUDENTS GIVE ELEVEN BIG SEND-OFF

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

EUGENE (Or.) Oct. 16.—Cheered on their way by many hundred of students who accompanied them to the train, forming a serpentine four blocks long, two abreast, down the business section of Eugene, the twenty-two members of the University of Oregon football squad left here today for Palo Alto, Cal., where the Stanford University warriors will be met Saturday afternoon in the first Coast conference game of the year for Oregon. Ward Johnson, star halfback, did not accompany the team. He is suffering from a dislocated knee.

Rain Stops Sacramento Bee Contest

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 16.—The rain which prohibited the Oaks and Seals playing their contest Wednesday, moved up here today, forcing the Senators and Bees to postpone hostilities until tomorrow. They will probably play a doubleheader Saturday to make up for the contest.

Callahan Wins Over Ritchie at L.A. Harbor

Mushy Callahan, the Los Angeles newsboy, was the big thing at the C.P.O. boxing bouts at Los Angeles Harbor last night. Mushy took Sailor Ritchie King into camp in a slashing good go. He sent the sailor, who is the all-Navy feather champ, to the mat in the third round with a left to the jaw for the count. In the semi-wind-up Sailor Frits Hendricks got the decision in four rounds from Bobby Corbett.

In the special Sailor Near defeated Sailor Thode Near knocked Thode down for the count of five in the third round with a series of rights and lefts to the jaw. Sailor Ritchie won in four rounds from Young Berger. This was a slugging match throughout the four rounds, but a draw wouldn't have hurt any one. Benny Irwin knocked out Sailor Young Stribling in the second round with a left to the jaw.

Mickey White of San Francisco won in four rounds from Joe Mandot in a crashing good clash. Sailor Jubs got a technical knockout over Smiling Garcia in the second round. He spilled a number of Garcia's teeth by the impact of the blow. A capacity house enjoyed a good night's entertainment.

ORANGE GRID YEAR OPENS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ORANGE, Oct. 16.—The Orange League football season will open tomorrow afternoon (Friday) with Coach M. J. Berg's Orange preps meeting the Garden Grove High eleven on the home gridiron, Anaheim journeying to Huntington Beach and Tustin drawing a bye, owing to the fact that Capistrano, sixth member of the league, has entered no team in the circuit.

The Orangemen are expected to have an easy time with Garden Grove, that team being light, fast, but inexperienced. Berg, himself, will not be present to watch his cohorts work, leaving the squad in charge of Assistant Coach Joe Buckmaster.

Berg will start a light backfield with Lou Wulff and Bill Handy stationed at halves, Brubaker at full and Krueger at quarter. The line, with the exception of Townes's position, which will be held down by Sipherd, will remain intact. The kickoff is called for 3:30.

Perhaps the feature struggle of the league opening will take place at Huntington Beach, where the experienced Anaheim eleven hooks up with the oil city crew. Though Anaheim is favored to win, the beach contingent is expected to put up a stiff scrap.

WHIPPET RACES PLANNED

Midwick Country Club has formally adopted whippet racing as a major sport for the club and has laid out a whippet racing course of full 200 yards. The first race under Midwick Country Club auspices will be next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock on the new course and those in charge of the event state that while it is under club auspices, yet the race meet will be open to the general public just as previous races at Paddock Field, Tournament Park, Pasadena, have been.

There will be a full card for the Sunday afternoon races including the first of the Midwick purses, a race for puppies and a consolation race for the miniature grayhounds not placed in the semifinals of the big purse event.

Midwick purse, open to all dogs, regardless of past performances.

First heat—Arroyo Strathcona Girl, Stella Second. Arroyo Maybe and Lancashire Lad.

Second heat—Arroyo Harry, Arroyo Probably Not, Chriswerth Catch Me and F. H. Nonan She'll Do.

Third heat—Arroyo Blizzard, Crosty King, Fancy Silk and Savin Marcus.

Fourth heat—Millhill Tuck O'Drum, High Flier, Arroyo Soprano and Arroyo Strathcona Whisper.

Puppy race, a real tryout for new dogs not previously winners.

Second heat—Arroyo Breeze, Rosemarie Lightnin' and Foothill Issa.

FAMOUS DRIVER TO RACE

Ralph Ormsby, driver of the first "hopped-up" Ford to finish in a 500-mile Indianapolis Speedway international race, will be on the starting line when "Babe" Doyle sends the drivers away for the first race at Ascot on Sunday afternoon, the 26th inst.

Ormsby's entry was received by Ascot officials yesterday afternoon, together with the information that the noted Indianapolis driver will be here about the middle of the week.

The sheer audacity of a pilot entering a lowly Ford in so great a race as the Indianapolis classic caused the wiseacres of the racing fraternity to smile, but when the Ormsby car kept rambling right along while a lot of the eight-in-a-row boys were faltering by the wayside, the smiles came off. Ormsby's mount finished in the money and set a record for an average far beyond the expectations of the most loyal Ford enthusiasts.

The car which Ormsby will pilot at Ascot will be the personal entry of Arthur Chevrolet, who during the next few days will also nominate a car for him to drive in the $52,000 Thanksgiving Day Ascot road race.

GOLF GOSSIP

By CHARLES WEST

HOLLYWOOD

Southern California country clubs have received formal announcement of the Hollywood Country Club's annual invitation tournament, which will open a day earlier than the S.C.G.A.'s season program has it. Play will start November 4 with the first day of qualifying, with two rounds of match play arranged for November 7, which is the following Friday. Finals in all flights will be completed Saturday morning, November 8, in order that the golfers may not miss out on the Stanford-U.S.C. football game in the afternoon.

The tournament committee, headed by A. J. Getz, and including C. F. Kemp, R. C. Spencer and W. H. Richards, has adopted the same system for qualifying used by Wilshire last summer, while Brentwood has also accepted the scheme. It calls for qualifying in flights according to handicap. Players from scratch to 10 must make one of the first three flights, players from 11 to 14 the first six, while players of 15 handicap and over are eligible for any one of the eight flights. A consolation medal-play tournament for the nonqualifiers will be held Sunday, November 9.

BRENTWOOD

Frank Godchaux rules the favorite for the medal round of Brentwood's invitation tournament. Godchaux has been playing excellent golf of late, a recent 70 on the north course at the Los Angeles Country Club indicating the efficient manner in which he is nudging the ball. Always at his best in medal play, Godchaux may be counted on to finish right up near the top.

Jack Neville and Maj. Karnes are also in excellent form, while competition from Jack Tarrant, Norman Macbeth, E. S. Armstrong, Harry Borde, Pim Palmer and possibly George Von Elm and Willie Hunter will make the medal round exceptionally interesting.

LOS ANGELES

E. B. Tufts, the portly executive of the Southern California Golf Association, is missing his usual games at present, being in the East on business. He is expected back next week.

The annual fall handicap of the Los Angeles club opens this week-end with qualifying rounds over eighteen holes, 64 to qualify for match play. Sunday afternoon mixed foursomes will be held.

WILSHIRE

Miss Mary Browne is living up to the reputation she won in the national championships last summer. She recently scored a 77 at Midwick, and played Wilshire the other day in 85 in preparation for the annual invitation tournament, which opens November 3.

Charles Orr, president of the Wilshire Country Club, took the head green keeper, Bob Greenfield, up north last week to look over San Francisco courses, and compare methods of caring for the links. They will return within a few days.

SUNSET CANYON

Mrs. A. C. Lillie played splendid golf in winning the semimonthly sweepstakes at the Sunset Canyon Country Club yesterday, scoring nineteen points. She had a 72 for her round on the tricky course. Second place went to Mrs. P. S. Moon with 14, while Mrs. E. F. Stanton was third with 13, and Mrs. Ike Wentworth fourth with 12.

A change in the schedule has been made, calling for another tournament next Thursday. All women are invited to compete.

MIDWICK

Midwick members are competing in the final round of the annual President's Cup tournament. The trophies are donated by Edwin A. Meserve and S. W. Forsman, competition being divided into two groups, according to handicap. The tournament is novel in that the golfers were paired off without a qualifying round on the basis of their club handicaps, which are watched carefully at Midwick.

ALMONT

The professional baseball players' golf tournaments, to be held under the auspices of the Almont Country Club, will not be held until the 26th inst., according to an announcement made by Frank Dillon, chairman of the committee. This postponement was to permit Babe Ruth to compete. Play will be on the municipal links at Griffith Park.

ley Rutledge. Rutledge was hardly any match for Zukle and took a tough beating. Arthur Arsenault proved too good for Frank Fernandez in three rounds. This was a fair bout most of the way and pleasing to the fans. Frank Pizzitola got the verdict over Al Schlocker. Pizzitola proved to be a little too clever for his man. Arthur Mason defeated Morey Kozin in three rounds in a fair scrap.

WILLIE HOPPE WILL MEET JAKE SCHAEFER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Willie Hoppe, balk-line billiard champion of the world, has accepted the challenge of Jake Schaefer for a special 18.2 balk-line match. "Young Jake" once defeated the champion and for several months held the title. Hoppe wants to play a double match of 3200 points each, instead of the single match of 4000 points, proposed by Schaefer. They will probably play late next month.

EPINARD TO START IN STAKE

French Crack Racer Will Face Barrier Tomorrow in Laurel Classic

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LAUREL (Md.) Oct. 16. — Only some accident between now and post time will prevent Epinard, famous French thoroughbred, from starting in the $10,000 Laurel stakes Saturday. Eugene Leigh, trainer of the colt, said today. Word was received at the track that M. Wertheimer, who had intended sailing for France on Saturday, has canceled his passage and will see his horse run here.

Epinard was in splendid condition on his arrival, according to his trainer, and when taken out on the track for a ten-minute jog after the fifth race, was greeted by a burst of applause from the fans.

Contrary to some reports Epinard and Sarazen, his conqueror in the third international special, will not meet in the Laurel stake. The Vanderbilt gelding, not having been nominated for the race, is ineligible. Both Ladkin and Wise Counsellor, however, are considered almost certain starters. Of this trio Wise Counsellor will have top weight with 126 pounds. Ladkin has been assigned 118, while Epinard will carry only 116 pounds.

It was reported from New York that Clarence Kummer, one of America's best jockeys, will have the leg up on Epinard Saturday. The Laurel stake is a weight for age event over a mile.

Big Shipment Ponies Arrives at Tia Juana

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 16. — Declared by horsemen and officials of the Tia Juana Jockey Club as the most valuable shipment of thoroughbreds ever transported from one point in California to another, a lot of sixty-four thoroughbreds arrived here tonight in six express cars. They were shipped from the Napa stock farm, well known California breeding establishment founded by the late A. B. Spreckels of San Francisco. Horsemen say that the lot should be conservatively estimated at a value of $250,000.

Some of the horses in the shipment, including Runstar and sixteen other, will be taken to quarters at the Tia Juana race track tomorrow and begin their training for the winter season to be opened Thanksgiving Day.

DRAG LAKE OF CARP SO BASS CAN LIVE

SCANDAL CASE IS STILL OPEN

Landis in Receptive Mood in Baseball Snarl

Johnson May Have a Little to Say in Matter

Will Get Back to Chicago on Next Monday

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The O'Connell-Dolan baseball scandal case is not closed, according to Judge K. M. Landis, who arrived home today.

"I am in a receptive mood to hear anything further bearing on the matter," said the judge. "It would be absurd to say that any case was closed. I have nothing further to say, however, than has not already been printed. That is all I know on the subject."

President Ban Johnson of the American League will return to Chicago on Monday from Excelsior Springs, Mo., and, according to word from his office, he "may have something to say."

AGENTS WORK

It is understood that his agents have been working on baseball's newest scandal and the something he "may" say most certainly will have to do with the bribe case.

Slim as this piece of news is, it is something definite, and definite word from the various factions in the case has been sadly lacking for the last week.

HONOR BARNEY

Barney Dreyfus, in whose honor the citizens of Pittsburg will hold a testimonial dinner shortly because of his twenty-five years at the head of the Pirates, has also tossed his hat in the ring. Barney is far from satisfied with the way things stand, according to the rumors.

All of which make it look like a busy fall, and perhaps winter, in the scandal department. Ramifications as yet unmentioned may crop out, and no one can tell where it will end.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16. — "I have requested Emil Yde, the Pittsburg pitcher, to appear before me with any information he may have regarding the statement credited to him that Heinie Sand of the Phillies wasn't the only player approached during the recent season," said Landis in an interview here today.

MICKIE WALKER IN TRAINING FOR BOUT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Mickey Walker, world champion welterweight boxer, of Elizabeth, N. J., has begun training at his Rumson (N. J.) camp for the scheduled twelve-round fight at the Newark Armory with Jack Malone of St. Paul, on October 29, the National Sportsman Club announced today. Malone has also begun training, and will come here six days before the fight.

...ty of Action Expected When Classy Boxers Connect; White and Sullivan in Semiwind-up

When two forces come together there is a crash and usually a wreck. Then Tommy Carter and Frankie Farren clash at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium tonight one or the other is very apt to be wrecked at the end, or perhaps before the end of the bout.

The fans went for the stadium show that brings together fellows who haven't the greatest reputation in the lightweight division, but they have enough class to pull the boxing bugs on their feet and send them home limp and weak from excitement.

Farren with reputations have been at the Hollywood scrapfests at the Hollywood Stadium on many occasions. Some have flopped dismally, and some have been successful, but the general run of opinion is that Frankie has not much of a reputation as it does a lot of action before a noisy audience, and with that also in view Tom Kennedy arranged this week's card.

"Ruth Day" to Honor King of Swat Oct. 27

In announcement yesterday Mayor Cryer officially declared the 27th inst. "Babe Ruth Day" in Los Angeles to celebrate the visit on that date of the King of Swat when he arrives here to play a baseball game at Washington Park to raise a big charity fund under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus.

The program for the reception of Ruth was discussed yesterday afternoon by the Mayor in a conference of James P. Walsh, M. W. Purcell, D. Joseph Coyne, C. T. O'Reilly of the Knights of Columbus committee, and Jack Scanlon, publicity director of the Ruth game.

Harry A. Williams, president of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, is head of the Ruth reception committee, and Francis P. Shanley is arranging for the Biltmore luncheon which will be a public event.

Advance tickets for the game for reserved and box seats are being sold at B. H. Dyas Company, A. G. Spalding Brothers, the Los Angeles Athletic Club and the Continental Hotel. General admission tickets will not be sold until the day of the game at the baseball park.

SUBURBAN ELEVENS IN SCORELESS TIE

MONROVIA, Oct. 16.—Alhambra's lightweight pigskinners came over here today and held the local eleven to a 0-to-0 tie in a nip-and-tuck game of football. Both teams looked exceptionally strong on defense. While the boys from the mission town had slightly the best of the attack, they lacked the punch to score on the scrappy Monrovia machine, whose line became like concrete when the enemy was within scoring distance.

THRILLS ON POMONA TRACK

Huge Crowd Sees Trotting Races at County Fair; Fast Starters for Today's Program

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA, Oct. 16.—A record-breaking crowd which filled the grand stand and bleachers to overflowing and lined the rail for the entire distance around the track, was treated to a fast program of racing at the Los Angeles County Fair grounds this afternoon. Over 15,000 are estimated to have been in attendance.

The third race proved the feature of the afternoon card, it being necessary to run an extra heat to determine the winners. Every heat was a battle royal between Vevo Hal, Little Sunset, J. W. C., and Hal Marte. The finishes were exciting with these four horses bunched neck and neck at the wire.

With a field of fast starters in all the events tomorrow one of the best cards of the week is expected. Today's results:

ROMANS DOWN FRANKLIN

Franklin High's lightweights outplayed the Los Angeles babes through three quarters of the game at Franklin yesterday, but slowed up in the last period and the Romans copped a 3-to-0 victory. It was the opening game of the City League and both teams showed it plainly with fumbles a-plenty. Cohen, Moffatt, Alexander and Grossman starred in the Los Angeles backfield. Cant and Wilson were the shining lights for the Printers. Dyer, Stewart and Thomsen divided the laurels for the Pioneer line. Alexander and Westlake got their share of the spotlight for Franklin.

In the first half, Franklin outplayed the victors and held the ball in Blue and White territory most of the time. Only a marvelous defense saved two touchdowns from going over for the Kiteflyers. Three times the ball went to Los Angeles' 3-yard line, with four downs to go, but the Buff and Blue boys lacked the punch to put it over. In the last quarter, long passes, Moffatt to Stewart, put the ball on Franklin's 25-yard line and Alexander placekicked for the only score. Aided by Grossman's smashes over the tackles, the Roman babes almost scored again in the last few minutes of play. The score:

HOLLY AND POLY IN TIE

Although much heavier, the Hollywood lightweights were unable to cross the goal in a scoreless game against the Polytechnic lightweights yesterday at the Hollywood field. Neither team was able to make much yardage and the entire game was a sequence of punts.

In the first quarter Poly kicked off and after exchanging punts a few times Hollywood attempted a dropkick from Poly's 15-yard line, which was wide. In the last of the second quarter Hollywood's attempted pass was intercepted by Cook of Poly, who ran thirty-five yards to the Movie Boys' 20-yard line.

Many attempts at passing were made by both teams. Frischling of Poly intercepted a short pass, but on the return Poly's pass was also intercepted byq Colina of Hollywood.

In the last quarter Poly made their yards for four successive times by passing and end runs. They were stopped on Hollywood's 16-yard line by an intercepted pass.

Poly's yard gainers were Hough and Legasse, halfs, and Frischling, full. Cook, who came into the game late, was the Polyites' best player. Pease, Hollywood fullback, shined for the Movie Boys.

The line-ups follow:

Georgie Rivers, one of Southern California's most accomplished bantamweights, defeated Ray Schauer in the wind-up of the Pasadena Armory bouts last night, winning on points in a lively battle. In the semi-wind-up Young Lancho won from Phil Mata, while Eddie McBride and Young Davis fought to a draw in the special event. The house was packed.

SPEED TO GIVE U. S. C. VICTORY

If Field is Dry Trojans One Score Superior

Henderson Praying for Rain to Cease in North

Team Getting Needed Rest on Train Trip

BY ELMER C. HENDERSON, Coach U.S.C. Football Team

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ABOARD THE SHASTA LIMITED NEARING PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 16.—Give the University of Southern California football eleven a dry, fast field in which to sink its cleats and the Trojans will sweep through the Oregon Aggies to victory by at least 7 points. A wet field will mean the contest will be anybody's game.

That's the situation as I figure it from our opening game of the Pacific Coast Conference schedule with the Oregon Agricultural College. Although predictions of rain are forecast for tonight and tomorrow, there is a possibility that the weather will be clear by Saturday, and in that case we will have a little more than an even edge of beating the Aggies. We will be outweighed ten pounds to the man, but I think my team's superior speed and football experience would outweigh that advantage if it was given a chance to play on a fast field.

Whether we play on a wet field or a dry field, in a sawdust pit or on a cement floor, U.S.C. is going out there to win Saturday. I hope to send the team against the Aggies totally recovered from their stale condition. The team had all today to rest and I think that I will give them another day of respite by cancelling the workout we had planned for Multnomah Field tomorrow afternoon.

The extra day's rest that the team will get will do them more good than getting acquainted with the field, although playing on a new field without any previous practice will be a handicap, I will admit.

As it looks now, I will send my first string line-up against the Aggies from the start of the game.

That means that it is certain Holley Adams will start at center, Behrendt and Gorrell will be at the guards and Thomas and Anderson will hold down the tackles. The ends I use will depend on the personnel of the backfield. With Hawkins at quarterback, it seems almost certain that Johnny Riddle and "Chief" Newman will start at the halfback positions.

That leaves the fullback berth open to several different choices. If I decide to play a "kicking" game Saturday I will use either Otto Anderson, who is in shape for the first time this year, or Bob Lee at full. In that case, Adams and Stark would be at the wing positions. If I think that my lighter but faster ball carriers, Henry LeFebvre and Bill Cook, can work to advantage I will shoot either of the two in and put in Dorsey, with Phythian at his teammate, at an end to do the punting. That leaves Manuel Larenta to alternate with Riddle and "Honey" Earle to trade off with Newman.

Seals Perk Up and Actually Win a Contest

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—San Francisco's ball team, fighting in a last-minute rush to regain the leadership of the Pacific Coast League, won today's game from Oakland, 5 to 2, but failed to advance in the league standing as both Seattle and Los Angeles won their games today. The Seals remain in third place, two full games behind the leading Seattle team and less than one point in the percentage column behind Los Angeles.

With the bases full in the first inning the Seals got off to a two-run lead when Adams booted Kilduff's sharp grounder, two men scoring on the error. Crockett held the cross-bay team runless until the eighth inning when two hits, a base on balls, and Hutchinson's error scored the Oaks' only tallies. Crockett weakened in the ninth inning and was immediately supplanted by Mitchell.

San Francisco won in the ninth inning when with one out Ritchie walked, was sacrificed to second by Mitchell and Kelly was given an intentional pass so Mails could reach Mulligan. Mulligan upset the former Cleveland pitcher's dope, when he crashed a ball grooved in the slot into the left-field bleachers. Agnew was taken out of the game in the first inning when he split his finger on a foul tip from Brubaker's bat. Score:

ing Hood's throw to second by a whisker. Griffin, who fanned his first two times at bat, fouled to Spencer for the first out. Slade filed to Hood and Christian fanned so Chadbourne died on second.

The Angels got their first two men on base in the seventh, but couldn't supply the punch necessary to push over a run. McAuley opened with an infield hit and Root sacrificed. When Christian threw to second too late to get McAuley, both runners were safe. Whaley sacrificed and the stage was set for a run. Twombly, batting for Beck, hit a drive to right which Menosky grabbed off his shoetops and tossed the ball home so quickly that McAuley never had a chance to leave third.

AND THEY SCORE

Grimes opened the eighth by drawing a walk and went to third when Hood pasted the ball against the left-field fence for two bases. Man on second and third and none out, Spencer was thrown out at first by Slade, the runners holding their bases. Krug also hit to Slade, who threw to Hannah cutting off Grimes at the plate. That left it up to McAuley, who fouled off about six offerings and then singled to right to bring Hood home with the winning run.

Citrus Belt Gridders in Games Today

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, Oct. 16.—Redlands High School football team is to open the Citrus Belt League season here tomorrow afternoon, on the University of Redlands grounds, in a game with Chaffey High. Both Redlands and Chaffey are rather unknown quantities in the league this year, and are credited with being the weak teams of the league.

Redlands has but four of last year's men and the lightest team the school has ever put on the field. Chaffey has but one or two lettermen on the squad. Redlands has lost all the games played so far this season, but has made a better showing each game. The same can be said of Chaffey.

Riverside, San Bernardino, and Pomona will stage a pretty scrap for the league championship. Riverside has one of the heaviest teams in the league, San Bernardino a team of veterans, and Pomona a well balanced, fair weight team.

Charles P. Logg, captain of the University of Washington eight-oared crew three years ago, is assisting Duncan Spaeth with Princeton's oarsmen.

RAILSPLITTERS CAPTURE GAME

that's as far as the Democrats got. In the final quarter a bunch of forward passes, mainly via the Kerwin to Bucklin route, had the Lincoln supporters uneasy but Nolan intercepted one of these on the 25-yard line and the danger was over. Van Pelt's team had the ball on the Jefferson two-yard mark as the game ended.

NOLAN STARS

Nolan, Pusich and Lampe were the offensive stars for Lincoln, while Medanich and Dyer, no relative, did a lot of hard tackling. Kerwin was the best ground-gainer for the losers, while Rice worked tirelessly on both offense and defense. Lincoln made nine first downs to seven for Jefferson, most of the Democrats' coming via the aerial route.

All in all it was a good afternoon of football. Both teams have considerable distance to travel before they are polished grid machines, but on the other hand each eleven showed enough potential strength to be rated as possible championship contenders. There were few fumbles, lots of passes and some nice punting, not to mention the individual efforts of several real stars.

Lincoln won because the Railsplitter athletes played cleaner football, tackled harder and ran their plays more smoothly. Coached by Happy Van Pelt and Archie Nesbit, the Presidents showed a good offense and a stout defense. Nesbit's hand can be seen in the backfield attack, for the old California off-tackle buck and the usual sight of the fullback backing up on smashes into the line were common occurrences yesterday.

Jefferson, coached by Dave Fryer, formerly of Chicago, offered a puzzling shift formation that fooled the Lincoln lads at first. The tackles line up in back of the center with the halfbacks to the rear and the full and quarter in their usual places. All six men take three hops and on the third the tackles are in the line at the right. On the fourth jump they're off. But one "comeback" play in the first half explains why the Lincoln linemen were not greatly bothered by the formation.

EVENING PAPER FIELD DEFINED

Circulation Bureau Excludes Sabbath Date Lines

Forty Different Views Given by 158 Publishers

No Ban on Saturday Night Editions of Sundays

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The ques-tion of what constitutes a morn-ing newspaper and what an eve-ning newspaper brought forty dif-ferent descriptions when 158 pub-lishers tried to answer it, W. W. Long of the Chicago Daily News told the newspaper section of the annual convention of the Audit Bureau of Circulation here today.

An allied question was answered by the section when it voted that there was its opinion that circulation of editions of evening papers pub-lished Saturday under a Sunday title line should be classed as Sunday circulation and not added to the evening circulation. It was the sense of the meeting that an evening paper should not be per-mitted to use a Sunday date line if it is classed as a six-day paper. No objection was made to the tactics of the bureau of classing the circulation of Sunday editions of morning papers sold Saturday afternoon as Sunday circulation. One member said such editions were sometimes printed in part Friday afternoon.

Mr. Strong said 111 publishers of the bureau out of 167, in re-plying to the questionnaire, held

EVENING PAPER FIELD DEFINED

Forty Different Views Given by 158 Publishers

Ban on Saturday Night Editions of Sundays

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The question of what constitutes a morning newspaper and what an evening newspaper brought forty different descriptions when 158 publishers were told to answer it, W. W. Hoag of the Chicago Daily News chairman of the newspaper section of the American Bureau of the Audit Bureau of Circulations here today.

The allied question was answered in the section when it voted that in its opinion that circulation figures of evening papers published Saturday under a Sunday date line should be classed as Sunday circulation and not added to the evening circulation. It was the sense of the meeting that an evening paper should not be permitted to use a Sunday date line unless it is issued as a six-day paper.

No decision was made to the question of the bureau of classing the circulation of Sunday editions of evening papers sold Saturday afternoon as Sunday circulation. One publisher said such editions were always printed in part Friday afternoon.

Hoag said 111 publishers had returned out of 167, in response to the questionnaire, held that an edition published before Sunday morning but dated Sunday was not an evening paper.

Directors of the National Association of Agricultural Publishers, who are represented in the convention, elected four new directors as follows:

C. A. Taylor, Spencer, Ind.; F. J. Merriam, Atlanta, Ga.; C. E. Burns, Springfield, Mass., and S. R. McKelvie, Lincoln, Neb. No other officers were voted upon.

Dance Cheer Monarch to Show Resentment at Socialist Order

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 16. Elimination of the national anthem, which is customarily played whenever the King is present, was ordered by Mrs. Nina Bang, the Socialist woman Minister of Fine Arts, at a gala jubilee performance last evening in the Royal Theater.

Most of the Socialist ministers objected to their colleague's order and the public showed its resentment by rising and singing all the verses of the anthem, concluding with loud cheering for the King.

RATE CUT PLEA CONSIDERED

Roads Complete Arguments in Request for Reduction of Transcontinental Freight Charges

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today took under advisement the application of transcontinental railroads for authority to violate the long and short haul provisions of the Interstate Commerce Act with respect to rates from midwestern territory to Pacific Coast points.

Concluding arguments in the case were presented to the commission during the day by representatives of interests affected by the proposed trans-continental rate reductions. The commission's decision is the next step in the case.

PROVISIONS MET

Summarizing the arguments of the carriers W. B. Scandritt, representing the transcontinentals, told the commission that a refusal to grant the reductions would be a reversal of the commission's action in every case where such reductions have been granted, declaring that every provision of the law requisite to granting the reductions had been met in the present proposal.

Arguments were presented to the commission earlier in the day by representatives of western and intermediate points affected, the latter contending that the proposed rate reductions would cause undue discriminations against them. Representatives of western points, however, supporting the proposal, declared that the effect of the reduced transcontinental rates would be to create competition in the intermediate territory, which is in complete accord with the intent of the law.

BROAD ISSUE

The Interstate Commerce Commission, in the transcontinental-rate case is called upon to decide what is regarded as one of the broadest issues placed before it in a long period.

In its largest aspect the case involves the question whether the railroads shall be allowed to make rates which will barely meet the actual cost of transportation in order to compete with ocean-freight service from the Atlantic Coast to the Pacific by way of the Panama Canal. The railroads contend that with the proposed reduced rates they will gain sufficient traffic to earn a profit while those opposing the reductions contended that the service would be rendered by the railroads at actual cost or less, it not bearing its proportionate share of the general transportation burden.

Shipping interests throughout the hearings and arguments have contended that to grant railroads competitive rates would be to take away from such interests a natural advantage.

Elopement of Al Smith, Jr., is Discovered

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Gov. Smith lost his place on the front pages of New York newspapers today to his son, Alfred E. Smith, Jr. The Governor is only running for office. Al Smith, Jr., got married, and eloped to do it.

Following a civil wedding in the office of Deputy City Clerk McCabe in the Bronx Tuesday, Mr. Smith and his bride, who was Miss Bertha Gott, daughter of William Gott, a New York Central Railroad engineer of Syracuse, N. Y., went through the church ceremony today.

Rev. Father Francis P. Duffy, former chaplain of the "Fighting Sixty-ninth" officiated at the Church of the Holy Cross.

Neither Gov. Smith, campaigning in the western part of the State, nor Mrs. Smith at the Executive Mansion in Albany, had the slightest inkling that their son was planning matrimony.

Mrs. Smith was said to be deeply affected by her son's action. It was said that she was "prostrated" by the news. Gov. Smith quickly forgave his son and welcomed the couple to the mansion at Albany, where they arrived tonight.

The flyers are to stop at Portland and Eugene, Or., Sacramento, San Francisco and Los Angeles on their way south. At Portland they are to be the guests of the Chamber of Commerce at a reception and dinner tomorrow night.

DUTCH LAUNCH NEW RECLAMATION PROJECT

PLAN TO DRAIN HUGE AREA FLOODED BY TIDAL WAVE OF 1421

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

THE HAGUE, Oct. 16.—Besides draining the Zuyder-Zee, the Dutch are preparing to undertake another great land reclamation project—conversion of the Biesbosch district into arable land.

The Biesbosch (reed forest) has remained in a semiflooded condition since the great disaster of 1421, when a tidal wave swept over it. Thousands of people perished, seventy-two towns and villages were destroyed and the city of Dordrecht was torn from the mainland. The district now is a labyrinth of small water courses.

For the reclamation of the first section of 2500 acres, the government has promised a subsidy. The scheme is expected to help in relieving unemployment.

POLES OFF FOR BODY OF 'QUO VADIS' AUTHOR

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

WARSAW, Oct. 16.—A delegation left today for Vevey, Switzerland, to bring back the body of Henryk Sienkiewicz, Polish novelist, the author of "Quo Vadis," who died there in 1916. The delegation includes the novelist's only son Henry, and is headed by one of his closest friends, Stanislaw Lisicki. The body is to be reinterred here in a magnificent tomb.

ATTACK VICTIM STILL MISSING IN HAWAII

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

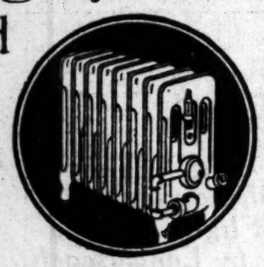
WAIMEA (Island of Kauai, T. H.) Oct. 16.—Hisako Miyashiro, 7-year-old Japanese girl, one of four children attacked by a Filipino laborer as they were returning home from school Tuesday, still was missing today, after the entire vicinity of Kekaha, where the attack occurred, had been searched two nights and a day.

BAGGED THE BATS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MALVERN (Ark.) Oct. 16.—The home of Malvern Sharris of this city was overrun with bats, so he wrote to the Federal Agricultural Department. He was told to tack sacks over the holes that the bats were accustomed to enter, and see what would happen. He did as directed and in the first few minutes after dark on the night that the experiment was tried fifty-two bats were captured.

A Steam Heating System easily installed in old or new buildings



Providing convenient, economical steam heat when and as wanted for warmth

No central plant.
No vent flues.
No steam piping.
Automatic regulation.
Low fuel cost.

Each radiator an independent steam heating plant

When gas piping is already provided in the building, the installation of Clow Gasteam is the simplest kind of gas fitting job.

No water pipe connections are made. The water is contained in a chamber of the radiator, which you refill every four or five weeks.

Venting is not necessary and no extra piping is required.

Automatic Regulation

Clow Gasteam Radiators are automatically regulated to maintain an unvarying steam pressure regardless of outside temperatures or gas pressure.

One hundred per cent of the fuel used is converted into usable heat. All you need is a gas connection.

Thousands of Users

Clow Gasteam Radiators are attractive in design, are carefully built and are carefully tested. They have twenty years' use back of them, and over forty years of Clow experience and reputation.

They are designed for the complete heating of old or new buildings, churches, theaters, schools, offices, stores, factories, public buildings, residences, and apartments.

Thousands of users in Southern California have discovered that this heating system gives them a quality of wholesome warmth never before experienced.

ARIZONANS TO WEAR BEARDS

Whisker Stage Reached for "49 Carnival"

New Slab Town to House Old Games of Chance

Globe's "Muleskinners" to Handle Parade

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GLOBE (Ariz.) Oct. 16. — The men of Globe and Miami now have an avocation in the growing of whiskers. At first the hirsuit revival was confined to members of the order of Elks, but latterly it has become a matter of civic pride, even among nonmembers, with keen competition over who shall sport the longest beard by the time of the Elks' "Forty-nine Carnival," which will absorb all local activities here next Tuesday to Saturday.

Men already are appearing in ancient coats, boots and shirts, found in old trunks, while their wives have been making replicas of the be-flounced attire that once was worn. While the name of the carnival harks back to the golden days of California, the festival essentially is intended to restore Arizona conditions as they were soon after the founding of Globe in the seventies and early eighties, with reproduction of the old gambling saloons and dance-halls and the rough sports that had attraction to the miners and cowboys.

There is to be erected a new town, built of pine slabs, to represent the log cabins of yore. Within are to be examples of every game of chance that ever was known in the Southwest, their operators men who still retain their skill in drawing cards from the faro box, in twirling the ball at roulette or in throwing the dice in craps or chusas.

Automobiles are to be barred from the parade as there has been notable success in the finding of ox teams and experienced bullwhackers, freight wagons to be drawn by mules and steered by "muleskinners," stage coaches to be driven by pioneer experts, and buckboards that will convey the women. But most of the paraders will be on horseback, in cowboy regalia. Hundreds of Indians will be here from the Apache Reservation to present tribal dances.

LONDON IS HEALTHY, AGE REPORT SHOWS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Oct. 16.—Londoners today are living twenty years longer than their grandparents. This fact was disclosed in the report of the health committee of the London County Council, which states that the average expectation of life of male Londoners is greater by 10.2 years than eighty years ago, and women by 20.8 years. The average male Londoner today lives to 53.8 years, and the average woman to 59.1.

The death rate in 1923 was 11.4 per 1000, the lowest on record, and infant mortality was 61 per 1000, also a record. The report holds that London is one of the most healthy cities of the world.

The Wrath to Come

By E. Phillips Oppenheim

"You're staying here, Grant?" Lord Yeovil inquired.

Grant shook his head.

"I will come and dine, if I may, sir," he replied. "I haven't got a scrap of writing now of any sort, but I'm a marked man. I'm best away from your hotel."

"How absurd!" Susan exclaimed. "Why, we're in this as much as you are. We brought the box away."

"To tell you the truth," Grant confided, "I think we are all quite safe for the moment. They must know that our object in going to Police Headquarters was to leave the documents there."

The car drew up at the hotel in Park avenue. Grant walked across the pavement first and back again.

"All clear," he announced. "No one's bothered even to follow us. Listen."

They stood at the entrance to the hotel listening. Away down toward the city they heard the sound of three or four dull explosions, following one another quickly.

"That is the end of the civil war," Grant said grimly. "Or the beginning of it."

CHAPTER XXIII

The opening session of the Limitation of Armaments Conference was held in an environment outwardly calm, but with mutterings of the storm very clearly audible to those who knew something of the real position. The actual surroundings all made for peace—a stately and dignified chamber, with carefully shaded windows, cool white walls and oaken furniture, massive, and beautiful with age. There were twenty-six representatives present and six secretaries at the side table, amongst whom Slattery, by special appointment, found a place. He was next to Itash, but the two men exchanged no greetings. At the appointed hour the President entered the room and spoke a few words of welcome. His allusions to the world's desire for peace seemed to contain, perhaps, a faint note of irony; otherwise there was nothing to indicate any foreknowledge of untoward events. After he had extended his usual formal invitation to luncheon he left the room, and his place was taken by the Secretary of State, who embarked at once upon the proceedings. He declared that on a matter of urgency he had given permission to the English representative, Lord Yeovil, to make a statement before the agenda was entered upon. There was a little movement, a rustling of papers, as Lord Yeovil, on the right-hand side of the Secretary of State, rose to his feet, a slim, dignified figure in the cool, soft light. He spoke slowly and very gravely, and his words seemed chosen to attain to the essence of brevity.

"Mr. Secretary and members of the Conference," he said, "as you know, certain of the powers have assumed year by year the duty of policing the waters and lands of the earth, in order to satisfy ourselves that the regulations imposed by you, gentlemen, are dutifully and honorably carried out. I have to present to you a report from the commander of the English flotilla in eastern waters to the effect that Japan, by a system of duplication, described in the papers which I have the honor to lay before you, has during this and the preceding year, exceeded her allowance of marine tonnage by 250,000 tons, and also that, in the harbor of a port on the Chinese coast, leased to her, or on an adjacent island, there have been constructed and are now ready for flying, a score of flying ships of a new type, obviously designed for offensive purposes. The papers containing particulars of this divergence from the principles and ordinances of the Conference, I had the honor to hand to Mr. Secretary of State last night, and a copy has, I believe, been prepared for the inspection of each of you."

There was a tense silence. One of the young men from the side table arose, with a little pile of papers in his hand, which he distributed around the table. The Secretary allowed a few minutes to elapse while every one studied the very simple document laid before him, translated in each case into the language of each separate representative. Then he rose to his feet.

"It is my duty," he said, "to call upon the representative of Japan, His Excellency Prince Yoshimo, to afford us an explanation and reply to this very serious charge."

Itash moved silently from his place and stepped behind the representative of his country, who was also Ambassador to the United States. Prince Yoshimo rose slowly to his feet. He seemed imperturbable and wholly unembarrassed.

"Mr. Secretary," he said, "and gentlemen, the charge of Lord Yeovil has come as a surprise. I can only say that, as has happened before, a little too much zealousness has been shown, a little too great—great—"

"Credulity," Itash whispered.

"—credulity displayed," the Ambassador went on. "The so-called duplicate ships are nothing but coal barges, and the flying boats are for commercial purposes. That is my reply."

Lord Yeovil rose once more to his feet.

"The statement of His Excellency Prince Yoshimo," he announced, "is in direct contradiction to my information."

Once more Prince Yoshimo rose, calm and soft-tongued.

"Mr. Secretary," he said, "I have afforded you the explanation you desired. Let others go and see. Our harbors, and the harbors of such part of the Chinese coast over which we have influence, are free to the vessels of any one of the powers here present."

The Secretary turned to Lord Yeovil, who rose once more to his feet.

"I desire, sir," the latter begged, "a postponement of any further discussion for two days."

The routine business of the Conference was continued, but it was very hard to secure the close attention of any of the members. The questions which they were called upon to decide seemed of infinitesimal importance compared to the magnitude of the issues which had already been raised. The morning session drifted away, however, and the afternoon session, without further incident. The proceedings terminated about 5 o'clock. Slattery, leaving the place alone, came face to face with Itash in one of the lobbies. No form of salutation passed between them, but Itash stopped and the beginnings of a smile curved his lips unpleasantly.

"Is this wonderful information," he asked, "part of the babble I am supposed to have talked in my sleep and Mademoiselle Cleo to have repeated?"

"And for repeating which she was murdered?" Grant added.

Itash was unmoved.

"I so seldom read the newspapers," he said, "I understood that she had committed suicide. That was quite reasonable. Why not? We each have the right. But you do not answer my question."

"Nor do I intend to," Grant replied. "But I will be very rash indeed and tell you this. It was Mademoiselle Cleo who conveyed to us your fear that Mr. Cornelius Blunn yielded too much to sentiment. The deepest vault in the Safe Deposit Company of the City should have held that little casket of gold."

Itash drew a queer little breath. It was as though he had been attacked suddenly by asthma. No thunderous exclamations or furious expletive could have contained half the feeling of his simple words, each one detached from the other, slow and pregnant of a certain agony.

"What—do—you—mean?"

"Ah!" Grant murmured. "Explanations are so tedious. I will leave you a little puzzle with which you may occupy the rest of the day. Prince Lutrecht is sharing your anxiety. So, I think, is Prince von Diss. Very soon you will know."

"The casket contained nothing but the letter of Cornelius Blunn, the elder, to his son. A personal letter of no importance."

Grant passed on with a little smile. Itash watched him down the long corridor, watched him disappear. Then he turned back and hurried to the room where Prince Lutrecht and Von Diss were still talking.

"Prince," he confided, drawing Lutrecht on one side, "I have just spoken with Slattery, the man who has been doing all this evil work for America. He either jibed at me or the books were in the casket."

Prince Lutrecht shrugged his shoulders. He was a philosopher and a man of great mind.

"My friend," he said, "everything that could be done to recover the casket was done. It escaped from our hands. We did our best. I refuse to believe that Cornelius would have trusted himself upon the ocean, carrying such a treasure, without a bodyguard. Besides, two or three days have passed, and nothing has happened. There would have been a thousand arrests and the papers would be seething with their discovery, had the books been there."

"But," Itash began—

Prince Lutrecht waved him away.

"I will not be worried with possibilities," he declared. "We have other matters to face."

Slattery spent a wonderful hour in a quiet room of an official building, talking through a private wire to Hodson in New York. Afterward he dined at the British Embassy, where all official entertainment had been postponed. He was able to sit alone with Susan on one of the broad piazzas afterward, watching the rising of the moon, and the fireflies in the meadow at the bottom of the garden.

"Your father was splendid," Grant told her. "He said just enough. The day after tomorrow will come the bombshell. Hodson has done splendidly too," he went on. "They have raided thirty or forty mansions in New York, St. Louis, and even Philadelphia, and discovered documents which afford them absolute proof. They are trying to keep the press muzzled until after tomorrow, but I'm afraid it will be difficult."

"It seems an amazing tangle," she murmured.

"We're making history at express speed," he replied. "I wonder whether we couldn't walk down and see if those really are fireflies."

She rose to her feet, took his arm, and they passed down the broad walk, through the ornamental gardens, to the little wood beyond. After which they talked no more of politics.

On the Wednesday morning, the day but one after the opening Conference, the members assembled at the same time and place, with one notable absentee. At the appointed hour for commencing the proceedings the Secretary of State made a momentous announcement.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I have to announced that Prince Yoshimo, the representative of Japan, has sent me formal notice of his government that he desires to withdraw from this conference."

There was a little murmur of excitement. Prince Lutrecht rose to his feet.

"Mr. Secretary and gentlemen," he began, "I am not in any way an apologist for the action taken by my distinguished confrere on the instigation of his government. On the other hand I must point out to you that the charges brought by Lord Yeovil against the honor of a great nation, publicly and before you all, were of a nature to provoke most intense and poignant reprisals. I regret very much that they were made. I foresee from the retirement of the representative of Japan from this conference—a retirement which I fear may be final—a serious blow to its utility. The item upon the agenda for discussion this morning deals, I see, with a supposed secret naval and military understanding between Russia and my country to the exclusion of other members of the Pact."

CHANCES TOO POOR

PITTSBURG (Pa.) Oct. 16.—After a careful study of weather conditions at New Haven, Ct., Dr. Heber D. Curtis, director of Allegheny observatory of the University of Pittsburg, has announced that plans to outfit a university expedition to observe the total eclipse of the sun there on January 24, 1925, had been abandoned. A study of weather reports over a period of years revealed the fact that 50 per cent of the days late in January in Southern Connecticut are cloudy.

KHJ RELAYS SHENANDOAH MESSAGES

Admiral Moffett Heard With Clarity by Radioland in Novel Demonstration

Rebroadcasting the spoken word from the Shenandoah was successfully demonstrated yesterday afternoon by KHJ, The Times station. Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, delivered a message to the people of the Southland, which was heard with that clarity of modulation had he been speaking from The Times studio. Admiral Moffett greeted Radioland, and said that the flight of the Shenandoah across the continent was undertaken by the Navy to demonstrate the new and rapid method of transportation; that this demonstration had proved eminently successful, and bespoke the feasibility of the transportation of mail and important merchandise from Europe to America, from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast, and on to the Hawaiian Islands, the Philippines, and even Australia.

Capt. Zachary Lansdowne, in command of the Shenandoah, and Lieut. C. D. Palmer, in charge of the radio equipment, extended heartfelt thanks to the people of San Diego, who co-operated in such a splendid way to make the stay of the Shenandoah at North Island a pleasure.

"We are glad of an opportunity to thank the naval station at North Island and its men, the members of the Chamber of Commerce of San Diego and all its officials," said the speaking voice from the Shenandoah just before signing off at 4:17 Eastern standard time, which was 1:17 Pacific standard time.

An added feature of the demonstration was that listeners-in were enabled to hear The Times siren, which blew intermittently, indicating the arrival and passing of the Shenandoah as it circled over Los Angeles—this siren being the signal to the populace to be on the lookout for the airship.

The liaison between the Shenandoah and KHJ was established through the courtesy of Lieut. B. H. Wyatt, U.S.N., of North Island, San Diego, who first conceived the idea of having KHJ broadcast commands to an airplane while in flight over North Island—an undertaking which was successfully carried out last Saturday upon the arrival there of the Shenandoah.

Shenandoah in Flight Greeted by Long Beach

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Oct. 16.—All Long Beach paused today from its work and its play to welcome the arrival of the United States Navy dirigible Shenandoah, as it passed over this city shortly after 12 o'clock. Appearing first as a dark cloud to the southeast, the huge airship approached Long Beach Harbor and hovered over the ships of the Pacific battle fleet, anchored off Los Angeles Harbor.

Swinging about, the giant dirigible glided over Long Beach, passing over the business section. Following American avenue to Willowville, the Shenandoah headed northward, veering to the northwest as though following the Long Beach-Los Angeles line of the Pacific Electric to the latter city.

Sirens in the industrial section here were turned loose to greet the huge Navy airship.

New Zealand to Stand Firm on Japanese Ban

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

WELLINGTON (N. Z.) Oct. 16. —Premier Massey, replying to a question by an opposition member in the Assembly today on the success of Japan's efforts to alter the League of Nations protocol on arbitration and security in connection with submission to the League of disputes arising from internal domestic consideration of the various nations, declared:

"We are not going to arbitrate. We simply say they cannot come here without government permission—League of Nations or no League of Nations. It is the law of our country and we will stand by it."

EN ROUTE WITH SHENANDOAH TO LOS ANGELES, ABOARD FLAGPLANE OF ESCORT SQUADRON, Oct. 16.—A million or more awe-stricken landlubbers viewed today the flight of the majestic Shenandoah from the naval air station at San Diego to Los Angeles. A fortunate few observing the impressive spectacle from the clouds. They are the pilots and passengers of the planes of Observation Squadron One, United States Marine Corps, accompanying the mighty dirigible on her northward journey.

The Times' representative was one of the fortunate few, accompanying Maj. Howell in the flagplane of the escort squadron and the only news writer to keep the Shenandoah within vision for three hours during the first 100 miles of the flight.

FINAL HANDCLASPS

Before tilting her glistening nose skyward from her mooring mast this morning, the Shenandoah was prepared to weigh off two hours before the hour of her departure, 11 a.m. The crew had gone "topside" and to their designated stations to stand by. Final handclasps and Rear-Admiral Moffett and Lieutenant-Commander Landsdowne were the last to go aloft. For an hour the great ship of the skies swayed at her mooring mast. Signal bells were ringing, sounding in the five engine gondolas. And the powerful engines were responding with a sputtering, roar and a deafening whirring of propeller blades.

At 6:45 a.m.: "Stand by to give us a weigh-off!"

Three men clambored to the topmost pinnacle of the mooring mast and hooped with the coupling that moored the Shenandoah to the mast.

Fifteen minutes passed.

SPLENDID START BY GIANT OF AIR

Planes Accompany Dirigible in Flight's Beginning

"Times" Correspondent With Escort Squadron

Clouds Conceal Silver Hull During Part of Trip

BY OTIS M. WILES

"Times" Staff Correspondent

EN ROUTE WITH SHENANDOAH TO LOS ANGELES. ABOARD FLAGPLANE OF ESCORT SQUADRON, Oct. 16.—A million or more awe-stricken landlubbers viewed today the flight of the majestic Shenandoah from the naval air station at San Diego to Los Angeles. A fortunate few are observing the impressive spectacle from the clouds. They are the pilots and passengers of the Fleet of Observation Squadron One, United States Marine Corps, convoying the mighty dirigible on her northward journey.

The Times' representative was one of the fortunate few, accompanying Maj. Rowell in the flagplane of the escort squadron and the only news writer to keep the Shenandoah within vision for three hours during the first 100 miles of the flight.

FINAL HANDCLASPS

After filling her glistening nose and bow from her mooring mast in preparing the Shenandoah was allowed to weigh off two hours before the hour of her departure, 6 a.m. The crew had gone "topside" to get to their designated stations and "stand by." Final handclasps between Rear-Admiral Moffett and Lieutenant-Commander Landsdowne, "the boss" to go aloft. At the hour the great ship of the skies swayed at her mooring mast, digital bells were ringing, sounding in the five engine gondolas. And the powerful engines started with a sputtering, coughing and a deafening whirring of the propeller blades.

6:01 a.m.: "Stand by to give us a lift!"

Men clambered to the top-most deck of the mooring mast and, with the coupling that held the Shenandoah to the mast, minutes passed.

"Ready for a heigh-ho!" a voice called from the control car, and then—

"Let 'er go!"

FLIGHT STARTS

The Shenandoah's nose slowly lifted upward and swung clear of the mooring mast. The throbbing crescendo of five synchronizing motors increased in volume. The Shenandoah climbed upward, circled Coronado Island—a beauteous gem in a setting of blue-green sea—and pointed her prow toward Los Angeles.

Forty-five minutes after the departure of the Shenandoah, Observation Squadron One took the air on the Shenandoah's tail. Two thousand feet below, San Diego's roof-tops gradually diminished and faded into distance.

High above Oceanside the Shenandoah was first sighted by Maj. Rowell through a rift in the rolling fog banks. To the west the silvery threads of surf were breaking upon gilded shores. To the east rolling brown hills with brilliant splotches of green skimmed past in a panorama of splendorous beauty. Below, as vagrant puffs of clouds scampered southward, tiny checkerboards of towns were glimpsed through the rugged windows in the blanket of fog. And far ahead, like a silver pencil piercing its path through the heavens, the Shenandoah slipped serenely onward toward Los Angeles, and high over the colorful coast line.

GLIDING ABOVE SEA

The Shenandoah was flying over the sea, threading her way through the beautiful changing cloud formations and fog banks. Now her nose is poking into a cloud. She appears to be swallowed up in the feathery vapors, her tail disappears, her nose emerges into view, and again the sun splashes its radiant rays upon the graceful dirigible's broad back.

North of Oceanside, the escort squadron slipped earthward to an altitude of 1700 feet. The Shenandoah appeared to be drifting upward as the world below drew nearer and nearer. Ribbons of fog, thicker than ever, were rolling in from the sea and curling over the jagged mountain ridges.

Nearer and nearer the speeding planes drew toward the Shenandoah, skimming through space down to 1200 feet to slide under a ceiling of drifting fog. Yellow and black tangled threads were entwined around the rolling hills to the east—dirt roads and paved highways along the coast line. Splatters of sunshine and shadows seemed to intertwine in a joyous dance as the "Daughter of the Stars" forged onward.

WATCHERS BELOW

Upon the diminutive threads of yellow and black not a thing was moving. The little black specks that dotted them were automobiles parked along the palisades and those other smaller specks were humans, stretching their necks as they gazed skyward.

Every mile of the route from San Diego to Los Angeles was peppered with humanity, clustered in tiny groups who had awaited the coming of the Shenandoah for hours. Pastured stock were scampering across brown fields. Men stopped their work upon the building of a road. And as the flagplane descended to 500 feet over Laguna Beach other men dropped their hods and ran to a vacant lot to witness the passing of the palatial liner of the air.

The Shenandoah still hovered over the blue waters as it glided past Balboa, and its glistening bay. Seal Beach—and then the docks vanished for a few minutes. The sunlight broke through, and a huge highlight gleamed upon the Shenandoah's nose. Canals, sloughs, level fields, and squatting settlements—all these were skirted by the dirigible. And then she turned seaward and off her course for forty miles to the west to pay her compliments to the Pacific Fleet.

Returning again toward the Coast, the Shenandoah was plainly visible from Long Beach and Los Angeles Harbor. Entranced earthlings were straddling their roof tops. School yards were filled with children.

Out at sea, tiny crawling things that left a whitish trail behind them, betrayed themselves as ocean-going ships. Huge barges, resembling fallen chips, slid along other canals and the patch of blue that was the harbor.

NEARS CITY

The Shenandoah pushed onward and northward, nearer and nearer to Los Angeles—and far below the Shenandoah the great expanse of Los Angeles was unfolding itself—first the oil fields resembling toothpicks stuck into the earth, then the scattered settlements and the outer fringe of the city.

As the escort squadron sped closer to the Shenandoah, it no longer was the slender silvery silver threading its way through the skies. It grew into formidable shape, a thing alive and harnessed and driven by the same type of earthlings who stood and gazed in awe from the ground 4000 feet below.

The American flag was fluttering from the massive tail. Five great propellers were carrying her over the chasms and canyons of the business district. From nowhere, it seemed, a swarm of mosquitoes popped out from behind clouds, tormented the mighty ship, darted here and there—around, below, above her. They were the swift little planes of the battle fleet squadron.

BUSINESS DISTRICT

Hovering over the Los Angeles business district, those in the air looked downward and saw roofs of buildings packed with humanity. Closer, the escort planes flew to the Shenandoah. What was the burden that this great shining envelope carried over the throbbing city? Suspended from its forward section was a shining egg—the control car and the brains of the mighty monster. Within that egg are men.

The occupants of the control car are Rear-Admiral Moffatt, chief of the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics; Lieutenant-Commander Landsdowne, the "skipper" of the ship; Commander Hancock, the executive officer; Lieut. Lawrence, the officer of the deck; Lieut. Sheppard, the engineering officer, Lieut. Mayer, the construction officer; the helmsman, who steers the ship on its course; the elevator man, who operates the elevators that cause her to rise or descend.

In the rear of the control car is the radio room. They are invisible, but Lieut. Palmer, the radio officer, and a radio man are within that compartment.

Suspended from the belly of the ship are five smaller eggs. From Maj. Rowell's flagplane, the head of a chief machinist's mate is discerned through the window. He is at the throttle of a 300-horsepower engine—and there are four other such engines in the other four eggs, with a chief machinist's mate in each one.

INVISIBLE HUMANS

Yet these are not all the humans that the great silver shell contains. They, too, are invisible, but along the keel, that long narrow band of white that extends along the under side from the nose to the tail, are other men. One officer and three men are distributed through the keel to attend to the water ballast bags and the fuel. Other members of the crew are distributed at various points in the keel to keep the ship in proper trim.

The personnel of the Shenandoah totals twenty-seven men and eleven officers. The passenger list includes six more men, three who came from the Atlantic Coast with the ship and three others who are taken aboard this morning at San Diego.

Forty-four men—this is a portion of the burden that the Shenandoah carries as she pokes in and out of the drifting clouds.

LOOK UPON THRONGS

These forty-four men are looking down through 2000 feet of space upon the throngs that clutter the curbstones, the vacant lots and the roof-tops as the mighty ship of the skies turns westward and back to the coast, over Hollywood and the Santa Monica bay district to glide again upon her northward course.

And as the Shenandoah slowly slips into obscurity over the Malibu mountain ridges, Maj. Rowell turns southward and homeward after he and the occupants of his squadron planes have for three hours enjoyed the choicest and rarest view of the Shenandoah's flight—a treasured view from the clouds and from a height even greater at times than the altitude chosen by the "Daughter of the Stars."

FLEET SEES GREAT AIRSHIP

Silver-Gray Hulk Flies High Above Warships as They Travel at Battle Speed at Sea

The Shenandoah had to go to sea yesterday to accomplish her promised circling of the United States Battle Fleet, for the fleet left at daybreak for the drill grounds off San Clemente Island. There were great banks of low-lying clouds off Los Angeles Harbor and a high fog over the fleet, and the Shenandoah slipped easily through the fluff, holding true to her course.

She encountered the fleet about 11:30 a.m. and for fifteen minutes accompanied it on its journey, but the fleet saw little of its sister ship of the air. All the officers and men of the squadron could get were momentary glimpses; the Shenandoah was hidden more than she was visible.

The fleet was in battle formation and traveling at battle speed, but the Shenandoah had little difficulty, of course, in outdistancing it. The principal comment on the vessel came from little groups about the antiaircraft guns, where more than one gunner glanced aloft and whispered, "What a target!"

The silver-gray hulk, virtually identical in color with the mists that surrounded her, turned gracefully about at 11:45 a.m. and headed back for land, still keeping well up in the cloud bank at a height that made the noise from her engines only a hum and slipping along like a great ghost. As she neared the shore line once more she gradually worked down to a lower altitude and cut down her speed. She was barely at the 500-foot level as she passed over the outer harbor. She made, it was believed, barely twenty miles an hour as she passed over the channel and turned to Long Beach at about 12:20 p.m.

The first visit of the great Navy dirigible to the station of the Pacific Fleet was over.

Most of the escorting airplanes did not go out to the fleet, turning back eight or ten miles from shore. Only one made the complete trip.

SHENANDOAH IS BATTLING GALE

Shenandoah was about 2500 feet above the street. Its propellers were revolving slowly, but the hum of the engines of the giant craft was plainly heard from below.

While the Shenandoah was over the heart of the business section a small bag of mail weighted with sand was dropped overboard. It landed in the new Pershing Square Building. An ironworker picked it up and turned it over to the postal authorities. The mail sack was marked "Sky Mail from the Shenandoah." The letters were addressed to the families of the crew.

The Shenandoah was sighted at Clover Field about 12:35 p.m. and passed over the city at 1:05 p.m. Five government planes rose and joined the Navy escort planes from San Diego. The Shenandoah indulged in no maneuvers, but headed straight for Point Dome, about fourteen miles north of Santa Monica. Here the route along the seacoast was resumed.

Los Angeles' interest in the Shenandoah was evidenced by the hundreds of phone calls received by The Times asking the time of its arrival. In addition to this, KHJ, The Times broadcasting station, issued frequent bulletins as to its progress from San Diego.

MAPS FROM AUTO CLUB GUIDE GIANT DIRIGIBLE

There was interest for motorists in the passage of the giant dirigible on the last leg of its journey up the coast in that the navigating officers were provided with a complete set of road maps, the same as those issued to auto tourists by the Automobile Club of Southern California.

The San Diego office of the club furnished the world flyers, and to a set of maps identical with those furnished the world flyers, and to the naval air forces one year ago, when they made their flight to Seattle.

Although the Auto Club does not chart the air, its maps of the cities, mountains and highways have been found so accurate for flying purposes that they are in demand among airmen generally.

ALIENISTS WILL EXAMINE M'COY

Sanity Test to be Made on Prosecution's Behalf

Jailers Describe Symptoms of Derangement

Former Pugilist's Actions Suspected as Sham

Two well-known alienists, on behalf of the prosecution, will examine Kid McCoy, former idol of the prize ring, today at the County Jail where he is awaiting trial on a murder charge, to determine if possible the mental condition of the former world's middleweight champion. The examination will be made by Drs. Parkin and Bowers, both psychiatrists of wide experience, and was ordered last night by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Harold Davis, in charge of homicide prosecutions, following reports received from the Kid's jailers that he was manifesting many symptoms of insanity.

Reports received by Jailer David Croushorn and Night Jailer Archie Miller from turnkeys and other prisoners indicate that McCoy, who is charged with the murder of Mrs. Theresa Mors, has completely lost his reason. He has penned numerous fervid letters of love to the dead woman, it was stated, and on several occasions has requested permission to call her on the telephone, claiming it was of the utmost importance that he talk to her.

While talking to Jailer Croushorn and newspaper men last night his eyes filled with tears as he was shown an envelope which he had addressed to "Theresa" and he kept insisting that she was still alive. Suddenly picking up a hand mirror he held it up to his face so that his audience could see his reflection.

THINKS WOMAN LIVES

"From your point of view now you can see my reflection," McCoy said, "but when I turn the mirror this way you can't see me, but I can still see myself. It all depends upon your point of view, and I know Theresa is still alive."

Reports have also been received that McCoy on several occasions has sat on the edge of his bunk all night long, muttering constantly to himself in an almost inaudible tone. One night he carried a lighted candle about and awoke all of the other prisoners, according to their complaints to the jailers.

As a result of McCoy's peculiar actions Macon F. Irby, his bunkmate in the cell reserved for "the president" of tank 5, the "gentlemen's tank," as it is known at the County Jail, has expressed fear for his safety as well as that of the other inmates of the tank.

On another occasion while waiting for his trial, the "Kid" put his underclothing on the outside of his prison garb, and only dressed himself properly when other prisoners pleaded with him to do so.

SHAM SUSPECTED

Those in charge of the prosecution believe that all of McCoy's acts are merely a "sham," and perpetrated for the sole purpose of attempting to strengthen his defense, which it is known will be a plea of insanity.

"We have been expecting McCoy to do this for some time, because insanity will be his defense," Davis said last night. "He is showing himself to be the same foxy McCoy as he was in the prize fight ring. We will have two well-known alienists examine him at the County Jail in the morning."

One of the missives penned to Mrs. Mors, whom McCoy is charged with shooting to death but whom he has always professed to love, came into the hands of Jailer Croushorn. The envelope, given to a turnkey with the request that he mail it at once, was addressed to "Teresa, 77 Street, Store," and marked "Important." Inclosed were two sheets of scratch paper on one of which a poem was written as though it were prose. It reads:

CONTENTS OF NOTES

"To my Teyes: Teresa my love and my all, the days are long without you. I wonder and doubt, what it is all about: I think and think all in vain. Could the world but know how I love you. Just to hold you in my arms once again. Teresa, my Teresa, I love you the beats. The world has none like you. But our wedding above was welded by love, it seems too good to be true. They may torture this carcass and do what they will, but one thing tis certain our love they won't kill."

The second slip of paper read, "Teresa please hurry. Love, Norman."

McCoy has been under observation for some time by psychiatrists, said at the County Jail to represent the defense. Throughout it all, the "Kid" keeps on insisting to his jailers and fellow prisoners that he is perfectly sane and expressing his dislike at having to undergo the examinations of the alienists.

Burglar Robs Woman, Locks Her in Closet

Mrs. Beckie Straus of 1110 Ingraham street was held up and robbed in her home last night by an armed burglar. The intruder was in her room when she came home. He forced her into a closet and escaped with her pocketbook containing a small amount of money. Detectives Bligh and Wilde are investigating.

This is the third time Mrs. Straus has been robbed since April 5, last, when two men robbed her and her sister, Mrs. Sadie Kelly, of $6000 in jewelry. The second robbery was on September 15, last, when two men robbed her of $50.

TAX TALK SCHEDULED

Stoughton Cooley will address members of the Sierra Vista Improvement Association Monday evening at the Sierra Vista high school on the proposed tax relief constitutional amendment. The amendment, which the legislature will be asked to submit to the people, is sponsored by the Tax Relief Association of California, of which David Woodhead is president and Mr. Cooley secretary. The measure proposes to exempt from taxation $2000 worth of improvements on land to each individual taxpayer and to exempt all personal property in the State from ordinary taxation.

MOSUL SITUATION CRITICAL

Tribal Outbreaks Threaten to Break Truce Between Irak and Turkish Armies

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 16.—The situation in the Mosul region where veritable armies are facing each other is critical.

The Irak and Turkish armies have received orders to stand at their positions while the League of Nations Council is arbitrating the frontier dispute, but both have carried on intense propaganda against each other among the wild tribes on their respective sides of the provisional frontier, and these tribes are being restrained from attacking one another across the frontier with much difficulty. A tribal outbreak will immediately upset the status quo.

It will be so difficult for the League, or anyone, to make Turkey and Great Britain agree on the Northern Irak frontier that arbitration is considered only a lull in the crisis.

Unless it wishes its broad plains to be eternally at the mercy of Turkish incursions, the Irak government must have a stronger strategic position than merely clutching with its finger-tips at the foothills of the vast mountain range in Northern Mosul, where the British and Irak troops have now been pushed under Turkish pressure.

On the other hand, Turkey is convinced that unless it pushes even farther south in Mosul vilayet, the Kurds in Mosul will stir up endless trouble among the several million Kurds who dominate all Eastern Anatolia, and the climax will be a movement among the Kurds of Anatolia, Persia and Irak, for the creation of a strong Kurdish state, which would completely shut off Turkey from the East. For Turkey, Mosul oil is secondary.

The excitement over the British threat to attack the Turkish troops and Turkish military counter-measures has further complicated Turkish internal politics.

OIL EXPORTS HALTED BY GEORGIAN REVOLUTION

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 16.—The Georgian revolution has practically stopped the export of oil from the Causasus.

The revolutionists, whose whole offensive is now directed against oil exportation, have dynamited in a dozen places the eight-inch pipe line that stretches 560 miles from Baku to Batum, and for more than six weeks have wrecked every train of oil tank cars sent out over the Baku-Batum railway or the Baku-Dorbent-Grosnyi-Rostoff railway. These are the only exportation routes.

The revolutionists are also responsible for huge fires which have been raging in the Baku and Grosnyi fields for six weeks, and revolts and strikes among the workmen in the oil fields. Several of the largest refineries in the Baku field have been dynamited.

All the raw and refined petroleum that has left the Russian Black Sea ports since the revolution started has come from the few storage tanks in these ports.

The soviet authorities are using most of the 100,000 troops they have in the Caucasus to guard the Baku-Batum railway and pipe line, but almost daily insurgent raiding parties sweep down from the mountains and wreck oil trains and dynamite the pipe line in another place. It will take the soviets more than a year to repair the pipe line.

SHOTGUN SQUAD TAKES PAIR

Suspects in Attack on Woman Identified by Victim; Third Held on Charge of Aiding Fugitives

Armed with shotguns, a squad of deputy sheriffs last night tracked down and arrested two men who later were identified by Mrs. Lillian Bourlis, 17 years of age, as the pair that robbed and attempted to mistreat her last Tuesday morning.

Those arrested were Elmer Sylvis, 28 years of age, and Joseph F. Welch, 25. They were charged with robbery and assault on a minor with intent to commit bodily harm. Justice of the Peace H. Parker Wood set bail at $15,000 each. The deputies also took into custody Clyde Sylvis, 26 years of age, a brother of Elmer, on a charge of aiding and abetting a fugitive and interfering with an officer.

The squad that searched through the Belvedere Gardens section was led by Deputy Sheriffs Neighbors and Monteleone and included Deputies Johnson, Heller, Wheeler, M. H. Snyder of the motor division, and Conley and Lingo of Substation No. 2 at Belvedere Gardens.

WARNS OF BATTLE

Neighbors and Monteleone said that Sylvis had sent word to them he would shoot the first officer who attempted to place him under arrest.

Last Thursday Mrs. Bourlis was hailed by two men in an automobile as she was leaving her home at 5011 Randolph street, Belvedere Gardens. She was on her way to board a street car. The men, she said, offered her a lift, then drove to a lonely region east of the city and after taking $10 and some jewelry, attempted to attack her. She fought them off and ran toward a railroad section foreman. Her assailants sped away.

The deputy sheriffs last night received information that Sylvis was in a house at 1145 Frazer avenue. They surrounded the place and Deputies Neighbors, Monteleone, Johnson and Heller entered. The found Sylvis asleep. A shotgun muzzle pressed against his head awakened him.

Welch was arrested at a small hotel near by. He made no resistance. Clyde Sylvis was taken into custody in front of the Frazer avenue house. Deputy Neighbors said Clyde interfered with the search.

PAIR IDENTIFIED

Mrs. Bourlis is the mother of an eight months' old child. She was summoned to Substation No. 2 of the Sheriff's Office in Belvedere Gardens, where the prisoners were first taken. Six men were lined up including Sylvis and Welch. Mrs. Bourlis picked them out instantly, according to the deputies.

Deputies Neighbors, Monteleone, Heller and Johnson said Welch made an oral confession of his asserted participation in the case. Later, at the Sheriff's Office, he declined to make a written statement until he had consulted an attorney.

Records at the identification bureau of the Sheriff's Office showed that Elmer and Clyde Sylvis had been arrested previously and convicted. Elmer's last conviction was on a statutory charge and he was paroled on May 7, last. Clyde's last conviction was on grand larceny of an automobile. He was released on probation on May 13, last.

SWISS BAR LAZY RICH IN COLLEGE

Tests Weed Out Indolent Students, Says Educator, Here Studying Methods

College as a playground for rich men's sons is an impossibility in Switzerland because of stringent entrance requirements and the rule that students must keep up with the work or be dropped from the enrollment, according to Prof. Hans Max Kriesi of Thurgovian Cantonal College of Frauenfeld, Switzerland, who is in Los Angeles on a tour of educational institutions in the United States and Canada.

"Ability and desire to learn are all that is required in the Swiss boy or girl who wishes to attend college after he has completed the compulsory high school course," Dr. Kriesi stated.

Particular attention is being paid by the Swiss educator to the physical education systems of the American colleges. No sports of any kind are included in the college curriculums of his country.

Dr. Kriesi spoke last night at a meeting of the Swiss Society Helvetia and will address another meeting Saturday night at Foresters' Hall, 951 South Olive street. He will lecture on all phases of Swiss life and will illustrate his lecture with stereoptican slides.

Angeleno Flees Across Border; Nabbed in Chase

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL PASO (Tex.) Oct. 16.—After leaping from a second-story window in the First National Bank Building here today, Charles Roberts of Los Angeles, boarded a passing taxi and escaped into Juarez, Mex., from detectives who attempted to arrest him in connection with the theft of an automobile in Los Angeles.

Late today Roberts was arrested in Juarez followin g a chase through the white-light district in which soldiers, police and civilians took part. He is being held in the Juarez Jail.

Mrs. Lorraine Roberts and her 7-year-old daughter, Lottie, are being held here pending investigation.

The Roberts family came here three weeks ago from Los Angeles, according to police, and the daughter is a pupil at a local school.

FEDERAL JUDGE DISMISSES LIBEL PROCEEDINGS IN ORDUNA DRUG RAID

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—A steamship cannot be libeled by the government when members of its crew smuggle liquor or narcotic drugs into the United States without the knowledge of the vessel's owners, Federal Judge Augustus N. Hand ruled today in dismissing libel proceedings against the Orduna of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Clark, who brought the libel proceeding after prohibition agents had raided the Orduna March 12, last, said he would either file amended libel proceedings or appeal the decision to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

DISCIPLES STAY ACTION ON WAR

Convention of Christ Church Re-elects Officers

Vacancies on Manager Board Also Are Filled

Business Meetings Occupy Thursday Session

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CLEVELAND, Oct. 16. — Committee meetings and business conferences marked today's session of the international convention of the Disciples of Christ.

No action was taken on resolutions presented yesterday dealing with the convention's attitude toward war. One of the resolutions provided that the convention go on record as opposing war in any form, while another suggested that war be condemned except when "our country is attacked." Leaders believed the resolutions would be presented on the floor at Saturday's session.

Rev. H. H. Peters, State secretary of the church in Illinois, declared that the old-fashioned church has lost its glamour and said: "It is well that this glamour has been lost. It is well because the old-fashioned church is a product of a different age, and because its old-fashioned methods no longer are practicable."

The United Christian Missionary Society today re-elected F. W. Burnham, president; Anna R. Atwaler, first vice-president; Stephen J. Corey, second vice-president; Mrs. Effie Cunningham, recording secretary, and C. W. Plopper, treasurer, all of St. Louis.

Those appointed to fill vacancies created by expiring terms on the board of managers include George Marsh, Ottumwa, Iowa; D. C. Knupp, Vinton, Iowa; May Frick, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Mrs. D. W. Moorehause, Des Moines; Mrs. C. D. Fulton, Chehalis, Wash.; Paul F. Reajan, Tacoma; H. M. Horn, Fresno; William Seschger, Denver; Mrs. Sadie Flint, Denver.

Banquet Given by Chamber of Beverly Hills

Nearly 300 representative citizens of Beverly Hills were present last night at the semiannual banquet and meeting of the Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce at the Beverly Hills Hotel. Ralph Shull, president of the chamber, presided. Mayor S. M. Spalding briefly outlined the history and development of Beverly Hills.

An address on "The Relation of Every Citizen of Beverly Hills to the Chamber of Commerce" was delivered by Mr. Dennell, industrial expert of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

The Escrow Indians, an organization of Beverly Hills realty men, took part in the program and sang their war song. "What We Are Here For" was the subject of an address by George Buncon, vice-president of the Southern California Commercial Secretaries' Association.

Entertainment was furnished by the West Coast Theaters, Inc., and included dancing by Genevieve Finney.

TWENTY YEARS OF PROGRESSIVE GROWTH

IN the score of years that have elapsed since the BANK OF ITALY first opened its doors for business, October 17, 1904, a new era of prosperity has come to California.

Agriculture—always a basic factor in the life and affairs of the Golden State—has found new allies. The rapid increase in the volume of manufactured products, the steady growth in maritime trade, the development of hydro-electric power and oil production, and the great impetus to business occasioned by a multiplication in population, have given to California a measure of completeness unknown to earlier years.

No less impressive has been the increase in banking service.

These 20 years have seen the Bank of Italy take rank among the nation's foremost institutions. In scope of facilities, in the number of depositors it serves, in the amount of banking capital and total resources, it stands a commanding figure in the field of commerce and finance.

What has been done in creating this organization—covering the state in all its important centers of industry and production—is not the work of a single individual, nor of a small group.

To the great army of depositors, numbering more than half a million people, proper appreciation must be expressed. By their united patronage and the weight of their combined resources, they have consistently contributed to the progress of this great California institution.

To the 75,000 school children depositors who have built with confidence in their own future and in the future of this bank, sincere acknowledgement is given. Their eager interest has been a constant source of inspiration. They have, by their example, aided in a material way the growth of the Bank of Italy and the progressive development of the state itself.

To the bank's employes, whose loyal service and willingness have won a greater measure of popular approval for the institution, due credit is accorded. They represent a tangible asset of inestimable value—value to the bank because of their specialized, technical knowledge and value to the bank's customers because they give thoughtful, conscientious service.

To the 14,000 stockholders of the bank, a special word is said in recognition of their faith in the management of the institution, and the principles for which it stands. Through their ready and consistent response to the demands of progress, they have assembled a tremendous banking capital that keeps pace with the steady growth in deposits.

Finally, there is given a pledge of integrity to the people of this Pacific Commonwealth, that in its interpretation of banking service the Bank of Italy will steadfastly adhere to the characteristics that have won for it the respect and trust of those who are its customers.

RULES IN ALIEN STOCK HOLDING

Webb Defines Law Relating to Land Corporations

Says Interest of Minority Members Escheats

If Majority Affected Property Itself is Taken

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 16.—Two questions relating to the leasing of agricultural land in California under provisions of the Alien Land Law to corporations, whose stockholders might be composed of both American citizens and Japanese or other persons ineligible to citizenship have been answered by Atty.-Gen. U. S. Webb in reply to a letter from Orrin L. Lowell, District Attorney of Placer county.

The questions deal with penalties for violations of law, first in the case of the leasing of land by a corporation of whose stockholders a minority were ineligible to citizenship, and in the second case, the leasing of land by a corporation of whose stockholders a majority were ineligible to citizenship.

Assuming even that a corporation was organized before the Alien Land Law of 1913 went into effect, Mr. Webb ruled in his opinion, a copy of which was received here today, the stock of the minority stockholders would escheat to the State, in the first case, while in the case of a corporation composed mainly of aliens ineligible to citizenship the land itself would escheat to the State.

The escheatment of stock in the case of the minority stockholders, the opinion points out, is provided for in the law of 1920. Provisions for the escheatment of land are contained in the act of 1913.

UNLAWFUL DEAL LAID TO WALSH

Montana Senator Named in Petition Filed Against Federal Water Permit

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

HELENA (Mont.) Oct. 16.—A petition for the cancellation of a special water permit granted to the Beaverhead Ranch Company in August, 1912, by the Federal Land Office at Washington, presented at the General Land Office here late today by A. W. Dolphin, Spokane attorney, was received for filing by Frank L. Reece, receiver and recorder, who forwarded it to the Washington Land Office.

Dolphin charged in the petition that the permit was issued in violation of the Federal statutes, specifying no member of Congress shall be a party to such a contract, in that Senator T. J. Walsh of Montana, was a stockholder in the company at the time the permit was granted and that Senator Walsh continued to hold stock in the company after he had taken the oath of office in March, 1913. The petition also alleges that litigation in connection with the project was not completed until the winter of 1914, after Senator Walsh had written Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane, regarding the permit.

Large tracts of land were purchased by the company in Beaverhead county, according to county records here, and irrigated with water obtained from the Beaverhead National Forest preserve under the terms of the special permit.

Within the last eight years, most of the land was sold to individuals in small tracts, with contracts for sufficient water for irrigation.

Senator Walsh, according to records in the office of the company here, transferred his stock to his daughter in 1915, who sold it two years later to Lewis Penwell, president of the company.

Dolphin, before leaving for Spokane tonight, announced he drafted the petition as an individual and that he did not represent any client.

FUGITIVE IN BANKS SWINDLE ARRESTED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SHREVEPORT (La.) Oct. 16. C. A. Westrand, formerly cashier of the Farmers' National Bank of Shenandoah, Iowa, was arrested at De Ridder, La., yesterday on a fugitive warrant issued by the Federal court for the Southern District of Iowa. He is charged with having embezzled funds of the bank. He was released on $2000 bail.

The United States is now producing about 93.5 per cent of the dyes it consumes.

TEST DISTANCE OF BIRD FLIGHT

University Authorities Trap and Band Hundreds for Experiment

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—How far a migratory bird flies when the season ends is the subject of experiment at Northwestern University, where hundreds of birds are being trapped and banded with a tiny aluminum ring before being released. Efforts are being made to cooperate with bird lovers in other sections of the country who might trap the banded birds. The work is done under government auspices.

Recently a wild duck, banded in Ontario by the university experts, was found on the Island of Trinidad, off South America, according to Cayle P. Pickwell of the zoology department of the university, in charge of the work.

Buena parte del futuro progreso de Los Angeles, que es la metrópoli de los Estados Unidos que más cercana se halla a territorio latino-americano, habrá de depender de las relaciones que logremos establecer con nuestras hermanas, las repúblicas del sur. Para que lleguen a ser enteramente cordiales, no hay nada tan importante como que nuestros ciudadanos se familiaricen con la lengua castellana. Tan se dan cuenta de este hecho nuestros habitantes, que hay al presente más de 25,000 personas que estudian español en Los Angeles. A ellas les conviene leer todos los días esta columna, en la que encontrarán español correcto y enteramente moderno.

NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

Se Conjuró la Crisis en Shanghai

SHANGHAI, Octubre 16. — La sensacional aprehensión, y más tarde la libertad, del pequeño Hsu y del estado mayor general de la fuerza rebelde de Chekiang por las autoridades municipales extranjeras de esta ciudad, parece haber vencido eficazmente la resistencia. Estos hechos se desarrollaron anoche. Aunque todavía están atrincherados grupos aislados de soldados en posiciones no ligadas entre sí, y en diversas partes de la ciudad, no se han producido ni combates ni desórdenes. Gradualmente ha aflojado la tirantez en la región de Shanghai.

El problema de esta población consiste ahora en la alimentación de hordas de soldados—hay como 75,000 hombres—acuartelados alrededor de Shanghai, en un radio como de diez millas más allá de los límites de la población. Lo menos 30,000 de estos soldados están urgidos de subsistencias, y ya hoy se registraron muchos casos de atracos y de extorsiones.

Los comerciantes chinos, así como el cuerpo consular, están alarmados por este estado de cosas y por el hecho de que ningún funcionario o militar caracterizado del norte haya llegado a la ciudad desde que cesó aquí la resistencia de los de Chekiang.

La Cámara de Comercio China de ésta se ha preparado para cooperar a la alimentación de los soldados refugiados y para poner los medios de transportarlos a sus hogares, pero se niega a dar los pasos necesarios sin que se haya llegado antes a un entendimiento definido en lo que respecta al futuro gobierno de esta región.

Los comerciantes chinos tienen el firme propósito de insistir en que se quite el arsenal y se arrasen los fuertes que rodean a Shanghai, a fin de impedir la repetición de los actuales disturbios, y se cree sea ésta la razón por la que vacilan en venir a conferenciar en esta ciudad el general Yuan, de Kiangsu, o el general Sun Chuan Feng, de Fukien.

Créese que, de durar mucho tiempo más la incertidumbre, y de amenazar el peligro de nuevos motines, las potencias adoptarán quizá una actitud enérgica y exigirán que los funcionarios del norte y el gobierno de Pequín arreglen este desbaratajuste, que se ha iniciado apenas terminaron los combates en este distrito.

Los Salteadores Descarrilan un Tren en Méjico

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Octubre 16.—Según noticias llegadas de Saltillo, y San Luis Potosí, unos bandidos asaltaron un tren de viajeros que venía por la línea troncal, procedente de Láredo y con destino a Méjico.

Los truncos y confusos relatos que aquí han llegado dejan comprender que los bandidos levantaron los carriles en una curva muy cerrada, descarrilando todos los vagones del tren, y haciendo que todos, menos un coche Pullman, quedaran volcados. Parece que sólo resultó muerto el maquinista, aunque el fogonero y varios viajeros salieron lastimados gravemente.

Dícese que los bandidos iban capitaneados por Demetrio López, que hace poco se rindió al gobierno. Agrégase que robaron a los viajeros y saquearon el vagón de exprés.

Tanta de Saltillo como de San Luis Potosí se han despachado trenes para perseguir a los culpables, según reza un mensaje depositado a la 1 p.m. en Lan Luis Potosí. Este telegrama dice además que se ha suspendido temporalmente todo tráfico con la frontera de los Estados Unidos. El tercer tuvo lugar en la estación de Carneros, al decir de los mensajes. Queda ésta a 300 millas al sur de Laredo. La banda de malhechores consistía de cien hombres.

La línea en que se efectuó el asalto, y la que une la Ciudad de Méjico con El Paso, sobre la cual se verificó no ha mucho un atraco a otro convoy, a cuarenta millas al sur de El Paso, son las principales arterias de ferrocarril entre los Estados Unidos y Méjico.

NOTAS LOCALES

El Shenandoah Cruza los Aires en Dirección de San Francisco

Deslizándose suave y majestuosamente a lo largo de la última etapa de su travesía aérea, el ingente dirigible Shenandoah iba ya muy al norte de Santa Bárbara ayer a última hora, según avisos recibidos de allá, y con toda probabilidad llegará a San Francisco como a media noche. No se detendrá para nada en ese puerto, sino que continuará directamente hacia Seattle, término de su viaje.

El Shenandoah pasó por sobre Santa Bárbara a las 3:11 p.m. de ayer, recibiendo los atronadores aplausos de millares de personas que lo contemplaron desde esa ciudad. Hizo rumbo al norte a lo largo de la costa.

Poco antes de las 12:30 p.m. fue avistada la gran nave en Los Angeles, cobrando de pronto la forma de un dedo que se proyectaba sobre las nubes del sudoeste. Dirigió la proa hacia nuestra ciudad, y al darle de lleno el sol, pudo verse como la tela del inmenso saco henchido de helio. Los aeroplanos que le escoltaban formaban enjambre a su alrededor.

La sirena que funciona sobre el edificio de The Times informó a las muchedumbres que llenaban las aceras y las vías públicas de que ya podía verse el dirigible, lanzando al efecto repetidos silbatos. Se calcula en 50,000 el número de personas de esta ciudad que vieron el globo desde las calles y edificios céntricos.

Además de los afortunados que lo pudieron observar desde las techumbres de altos edificios se congregaron innumerables gentes en las calles y en los varios puntos elevados que hay en el corazón de la ciudad. La colina que se halla al occidente de la calle Hill, cerca de a esquina de la Primera, se hallaba atestada de observadores, y también invadieron éstos la altura que se denomina "Angels' Flight." Muchas casas de comercio declararon que sus empleados no interrumpieran sus labores y saldrían a contemplar el paso del dirigible.

DEPORTES

Futbol

La contienda entre Loyola y La Verne, que tendrá lugar mañana en la tarde en el campo de Loyola, recién acondicionado, va a atraer seguramente buena cantidad de entusiastas aficionados locales, pues no habrá otra contienda de balompié ese día en la ciudad, que la de Santa Clara contra Occidental. Por otra parte, ya se están haciendo cargo los aficionados del lucido juego de futbol de que han estado haciendo gala últimamente los bravos Leones del Instituto Hom.

Todo hace prever una buena tarde. Ya antes había luchado Loyola con la Universidad local de California, y se habían empatado sin tantos, al paso que La Verne hizo un valiente esfuerzo y les pegó una solfa a los Osos Grises, que fue toda una sorpresa.

Baseball

Los Angeles derrotaron ayer a Vernon, y siguen en la carrera tras el pendón, pero se hallan todavía a dos juegos de distancia de los Indios de Seattle, quienes les ganaron a los de Portland el acostumbrado partido.

SHIP MASTER THIRTY YEARS

Capt. Cousins, Grand Old Man of Pacific, Also Rounds Out Almost Half-Century as Sea Officer

Capt. Ned E. Cousins, commander of the Admiral liner Ruth Alexander and known to ocean travelers as the grand old man of the Pacific, yesterday afternoon rounded out his forty-fifth consecutive year as an officer of the Admiral line and his thirtieth year as master. Forty-five years to a day after he came into what was then the port of San Pedro aboard the old steamer Santa Cruz, Capt. Cousins brought his present 18,000-ton command up the main channel of Los Angeles Harbor.

His long record, unmarred by the loss of a single life placed in his care, is filled with remarkable achievement. He estimates that he has traveled 2,500,000 miles over the Pacific and that he has carried 1,500,000 passengers up and down the coast in thirty years. Capt. Cousins in that time has commanded twenty-three ships.

He is particularly remembered in Pacific sea-going circles for two exploits. In 1916 he was commander of the liner Congress when fire broke out in her holds while 100 miles off the Oregon coast. Capt. Cousins rushed his ship, a mass of flames, to Coos Bay, beached her and got every passenger safely ashore. Several years before he performed a similar feat with the steamer Queen, when she caught fire off San Francisco.

Capt. Cousins declares that he got his sea legs earlier in life than any skipper on the Pacific. He was born in Maine in 1864 and three months later started for California aboard the brig Josephine, of which his father, later to become Capt. Jacob Cousins of clipper ship fame, was first mate. After that trip around Cape Horn on the old windjammer, Capt. Cousins was never at home, he said, but at sea.

He is one of the best known sea captains sailing under the American flag and is rated as being able to draw an intimate navigation chart of the Pacific Coast entirely from memory. On the San Francisco water-front they tell a story about him.

One of his passengers was discussing the captain's long experience on this coast.

"Well, captain," he said. "I guess you know the location of every rock on this coast, don't you?"

"No, I don't know where they all are," the old skipper said, "but I know where they ain't."

Jury Sees Man of 'Broken Neck' Do Film Stunts

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 16.—When Francis J. Powers received a jolt in a street-car accident two years ago, he also suffered a "broken neck." He sued the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Lighting Company for $75,000.

Then two motion-picture promoters saw him. "We have been looking for a man of your type," said one. "But first you must have a tryout for the comedy parts." So Powers, was taken for an hour's ride on a roller-coaster. He played slapstick comedy, with all his heart. He tumbled and turned handsprings, stretched his neck looking for imaginary airplanes, danced, etc., while the picture camera clicked merrily on.

Today, a jury of twelve men, Powers, his wife, Judge Gregory, and others, were treated to a film thriller, at a downtown theater. There they saw Powers, who a few hours before could not even turn his neck, trying his best on the screen to outdo a professional contortionist.

The "film promoters" were a couple of employees of the street-railway company which Powers is suing.

WAR VETERAN CRAZED

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BREST (France) Oct. 16.—Jean Rosec, war veteran, ran amuck in the Municipal Hospital here. He killed an invalid with a blow of a chair, ran a knife into the back of an interne, and wounded four others in the battle. It took three more men to overcome him.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF TONG STRIFE

On Leong Member is Shot to Death in Tenement

Fifth New York Chinese to be Killed in War

Gunmen Get by Picked Cordon of Detectives

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16. — In a tenement at 29 Allen street, known to the police as "the house of all nationalities," another victim was added to the list of four already killed in this city as a result of the tong warfare that has swept across the country from the Barbary Coast. Tong Woo, a member of the On Leong Tong, was shot to death.

Lee Wah, a member of the Hip Sing Tong, was taken into custody for questioning.

The Chinese gunmen, and it is believed that more than one aided in today's killing, penetrated into the Allen-street Chinatown district through a cordon of picked detectives who have been especially assigned to the section.

UNDERGROUND ROUTES

The sleuths have spent their lives among the orientals. How the slayers got through with their revolvers is a mystery. It brings up the old belief, never thoroughly laid, that there is a system of underground tunnels leading into Chinatown from the outside and unpatrolled streets.

Six bullets were fired into Tong Woo. He died while being taken to Gouveneur Hospital. The assassins broke into his flat on the fourth floor of the tenement. He was found by Mrs. Yehsika Turka. The dying Chinese was trying to blow a police whistle. Mrs. Turka took it from him and going to a window blew a shrill blasts, attracting the attention of a policeman.

MEMBER OF TONG

Tong Fook, his brother, admitted Tong Woo was a member of the On Leong Tong. A membership card in that organization was found in his pockets. The brother also is being questioned. The two brothers shared the flat with a number of other Chinese.

Hoping to obtain some sort of evidence, detectives sent to the scene rounded up every oriental who came near the tenement. While they were doing so Lee Wah attempted to enter the building. He was "frisked." When a membership card in the Hip Sing Tong was found hidden in a money belt, the Chinese was arrested.

In less than a month, not including the number killed in San Francisco, two Chinese have been killed in Chicago, one in Washington, two in Detroit and one in Philadelphia.

PHYSICIANS' WIVES ORGANIZE SOCIETY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Oct. 16.—A new organization is that of wives of members of the Maricopa County Medical Society, which embraces about 100 physicians. Mrs. Fred G. Holmes has been elected president, Mrs. Charles B. Palmer vice-president and Mrs. W. A. Schwartz secretary. Meetings are to take place monthly.

PORT NOTES

Hope for Federal assistance in preventing another invasion through California ports of such scourges as the foot-and-mouth disease, rose yesterday following a conference of State and Federal officials, stationed here, who are interested directly in such work. The conference is an indirect result of tracing the entry of the recent cattle scourge into the State through a Northern California port. The result of yesterday's conference is a decision to request the Federal government for a survey of all California's ports to determine the advisability of appointing inspectors under the Bureau of Animal Industry who would serve the purpose of a quarantine station, and be intended to prevent entry of injurious animal pests.

At present the State maintains plant quarantine inspectors at the ports, and so far they not only have kept plant pests out, but have repeatedly checked the entry of injurious insect pests. Development of commerce from nations harboring cattle diseases, however, has brought with it a distinct menace, and one which, the conference agreed, might need a similar corps of specialists. The Texas invasion by the foot-and-mouth disease already has been traced to a ship docking at one of that State's ports from a South American country where the disease exists.

The conference was attended by Dr. A. J. Houck, in charge of Federal control work against the foot-and-mouth disease here; his assistant, Dr. O. M. Keefe; H. J. Ryan, Horticultural Commissioner of Los Angeles county; Dr. L. L. Irons, United States Bureau of Animal Industry; A. P. Messenger, State supervising quarantine officer at Los Angeles Harbor, and C. H. E. Vary, State quarantine officer at Los Angeles.

Los Angeles Harbor has approximately nine miles of developed wharf—47,558 feet to be exact—with a total docking capacity of 110 ships without tieing them up two and three abreast, according to figures supplied by the Harbor Engineer's office to the Marine Exchange on the latter's request yesterday. There are 5795 feet of developed wharf frontage capable of handling 11 ships drawing 35 feet; 1,000 feet capable of berthing 50 ships drawing 30 to 35 feet, and 5700 feet frontage to berth 19 ships drawing 25 to 30 feet, according to the statement.

It was seventeen years ago almost to a day since Mura Kanzo put into port here as an apprentice on a Japanese merchant training ship. Yesterday he arrived and departed as master of the new N. Y. K. freighter Mayebashi Maru, bound from Yokohama to New York with cocoanut oil, tea and 10,009 tons of other oriental cargo. She discharged 600 tons here.

C. K. G. Billings of Santa Barbara and a large party will sail tomorrow on his big yacht Vanadis, now anchored here, for Palm Beach, Fla., for an extended stay. The vessel is commanded by Capt. J. W. Powell.

The Shipping Board tanker Cecil Counties, operated by Struthers & Barry, is in no danger, and will arrive here from New York on the 21st inst., instead of the 18th, as scheduled, the delay being occasioned by the failure of one of the vessel's circulating pumps, according to Fred Chase of the local agency. One of the ship's cargo pumps has been substituted for the faulty apparatus, he said.

Application was made to the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce yesterday for accommodations for the port offices of the Marine Exchange, of the Los Angeles Chamber, now maintained in separate offices on Beacon street, San Pedro. By having the two offices together, C. A. James, manager of the exchange pointed out, not only would the two be mutually helpful in serving the shipping public, but great economies effected in eliminating one separate office. Further conferences have been arranged on the proposal.

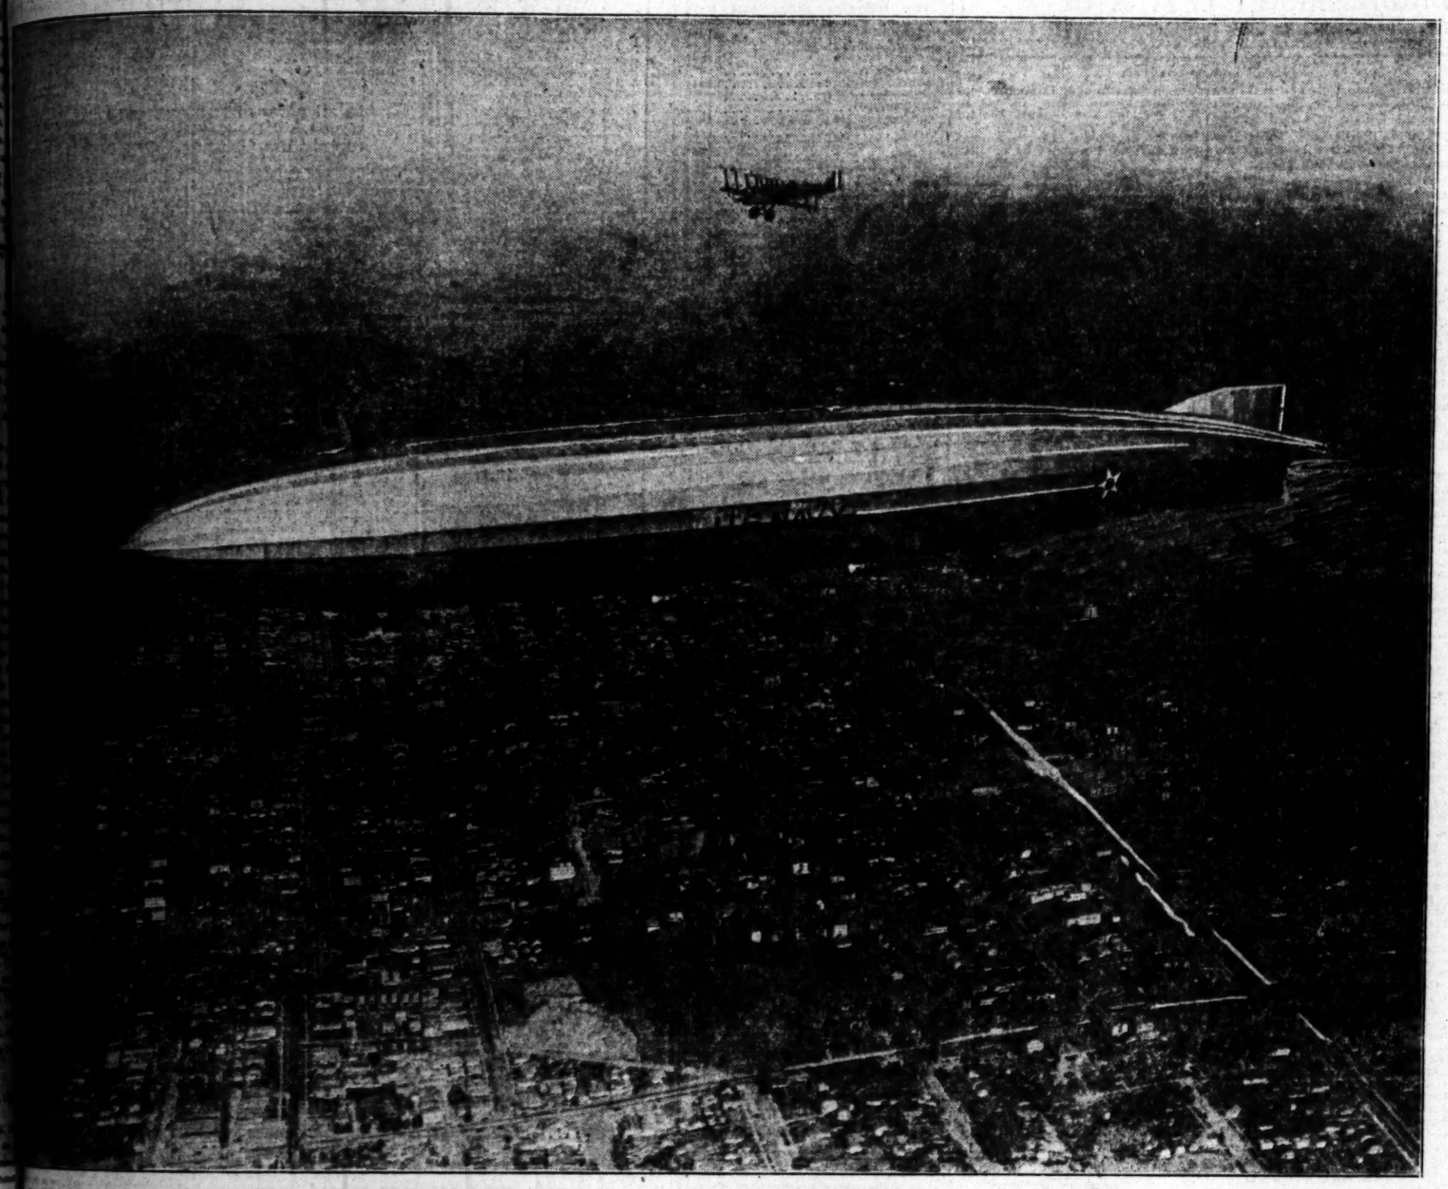
Thousands See Shenandoah Soar Over Los Angeles



The Empress of the Skies Looked to The Planes That Escorted Her. View of the Shenandoah from the air, with a panoramic view of Los Angeles beneath. Taken by [illegible] Y. Haldeman of Pacific and Atlantic photos as the ship passed over the city. The Marine Corps plane carrying The Times representative is shown directly over [illegible] dirigible. These and other air pictures were made through the courtesy of the Navy and Marine Corps.

First Greeting From Times Siren. As the Shenandoah was sighted shrill blasts from the siren welcomed her to Los Angeles and apprised the waiting crowds that the pride of the Navy was sailing high above their heads. (Times photo.)

All Eyes Turned Heavenward. The wheels of industry in Los Angeles slowed down for a while yesterday to permit the city's residents to gaze their fill upon the Shenandoah as she passed overhead. Thousands gathered at different points of vantage to observe her. (Times photo.)

CALIFORNIANS ON COMMITTEES

Investment Bankers Select Fifteen Golden Staters

Eight Los Angeles Men Are Drafted to Service

Seven San Francisco Members Are Chosen

Fifteen California members of the Investment Bankers' Association of America, seven from San Francisco, and eight from Los Angeles, have places on twelve of the twenty committees reorganized at the national convention of the association at Cleveland on September 22 to 24, inclusive.

Included in the committees on which California is represented are the finance committee, education committee, industrial securities, marine securities, membership, railroad securities, real estate securities and securities law committees.

Angelenos were placed as follows:

R. H. Moulton of R. H. Moulton & Co., business conduct committee; C. A. Sheedy of M. H. Lewis & Co., Federal taxation committee; T. W. Banks of Banks, Huntley & Co., government bond committee; W. H. Thomas of Drake, Riley & Thomas, irrigation securities; James R. Page of Stevens, Page & Sterling, legislation; Robert H. Moulton of R. H. Moulton & Co., municipal securities; George R. Martin, Security Company, public service securities, and W. G. Kolock, California Company, State taxation committee.

San Franciscans were chosen for the following places:

W. Prescott of Bond & Goodwin & Tucker, Inc., commercial credits committee; Collins, Mitchum, Mitchum, Tully & Co., committee on revision of constitution and by-laws; J. L. Osborne, Anglo-California Trust Company, Federal taxation; Benjamin H. Dibblee, E. H. Rollins & Sons, foreign securities; Albert E. Schwabacher of Schwabacher & Co., and G. C. Stephens of Stephens & Co., irrigation securities, and publicity committee.

New York leads all other cities in committee representation with a total of forty-one positions held, and Chicago is second with thirty-three. From a standpoint of strength the two cities combined dominate the committees as a whole as they occupy seventy-four of the 123 places. The finance committee is solely in the hands of Chicagoans.

The West is represented by the fifteen Californians, four Seattle men, two from Denver, and one each from Salt Lake City, Portland and Spokane, a total of twenty-four members.

Only St. Louis with fourteen representatives, and Boston with nine members exceed Los Angeles in point of numbers selected to function on the committees.

COTTON CROP FINANCED

Financing of a large percentage of this year's cotton crop to be handled by the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association has been arranged by a group of banks headed by the Seaboard National Bank and Goldman, Sachs & Co. of New York. The financing will be done through acceptance credits and institutions in San Francisco, Philadelphia, Chicago, Providence, R. I., Houston and Dallas, Tex., will participate.

Until the Seaboard National and Goldman, Sachs & Co. entered into this arrangement four years ago, co-operative organizations had difficulty in obtaining money to market their crops in an orderly manner.

The new credit is similar to a revolving fund. Under the agreement, credits will be available through acceptances by members of the banking group of drafts drawn by the Texas association. These drafts may be drawn up to May 1, 1925, the maximum total amount that may be outstanding at one time being limited to $10,000,000. All drafts drawn under the agreement will mature not later than July 1, 1925. By means of the new system, the cotton growers are able to prevent the jumping of their commodity on the world markets under stress of necessity to raise money.

The credits will have as security cotton in process of shipment to, or stored with, the Houston Compress Company of Houston, Tex., or such other warehouse or warehouses as may be approved by the managers of the banking group.

The Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association has a membership of 35,000 and last year handled in excess of 182,000 bales. This year the association expects to have more than 200,000 bales.

CREDIT MEN'S BANQUET

Eugene S. Elkus of San Francisco, president of the National Association of Credit Men, and George T. Eberle of the Eberle & Riggelman Economic Service, were the principal speakers last night at the regular banquet of the Los Angeles Credit Men's Association at the Alexandria.

Mr. Eberle spoke on "Business Forecasting—Stabilizing Business in the Southwest," and Mr. Elkus discussed the activities of the national association. H. F. Bremmer spoke on the Community Chest.

Credit subjects were the topic of an open forum later in the evening.

DAILY MARKET LETTER OF THE NEW YORK COMMERCIAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16. — There was little change in the situation in prunes today. Straight sizes in new crop at 18 1-2 cents for 20-30s; 13 cents for 30-40s; 9 3-4 cents for 40-50s; 6 3-4 cents for 50-60s, and 5 3-4 cents for 60-70s attracted attention, but buying generally was not active. The market here is not very firm.

While reports from the association indicate that buyers are still taking the carry-over to cover until 1925 begins, and that all general outlets are taking their share of the active call for 1923 stocks, independents are not pressing sales in either old or new crop. Some old-crop business is passing through the hands of those outside of the association, but the major volume, of course, goes where the carry-over is. New prices on Sunmaid are expected next week.

Apricots show no change. Peaches are firmly held. Currants are steady with shipments increasing.

TOMATOES AND CORN

Buyers in this market who are short of corn, tomatoes or both continue in a measure to hold their positions and wait for a definite checking of the various packs. There is little pressing of bids and rather frequent attempts on the part of buyers to cover at shadings from quoted lines.

In corn few if any concessions have been reported, while in tomatoes, both in the South and West, it is not unusual to hear of some canner confirming at 2 1-2 cents or so under what is supposed to be the general market level. It seems that both the buyer and seller are cracking under the strain. The market is either colored with hopes or has a bad case of nerves. It is not difficult to understand how either case would be possible. Corn, it seems, is slightly firmer than tomatoes. In the South the pack is late, estimated short and held firm. Peas are rather interesting as not a few of the top grades are sparingly offered despite the record pack.

FISH MARKET

Red Alaska salmon, while not eagerly sought in this and other eastern markets, is firmly held on the Coast, where canners are loudly proclaiming shortage and high packing costs. Pinks are rather quiet. Maine sardines also are quiet, with buyers here showing keen interest in the co-operative selling plan that is expected to stabilize prices in this division.

California fruits continue firm. It is the old story of canners refusing to consider bids; local buyers refusing resale offers, unless they are of items in which there is an acute individual shortage, and the movement of early arrivals by distributors who are anxious to see what a final check will show. Gallons in all fruits are scarce and offered in very small amounts. Peaches and pears are particularly firm. Gallon apples are very firm. Pineapples are steady on a good general call.

SUGAR AND COFFEE

The 4 1-4 cent cost and freight price for raw sugar was pretty well established today by a sale at this figure of a cargo of Cubans for near-by shipment to a local refiner after the sale holders withdrew the former offers and asked 4 5-16 cents.

Demand for refined has not been heavy, but enough business has been placed to use up the small stocks of raws held by refiners. The National and Warner advanced their list to 10 points to $7.50. As prices are now quoted the National, Warner and American are at $7.50; Arbuckle and Atkins at $7.40, and the Federal at $7.15 to $7.20.

Raw futures opened quiet but steady at 1 to 2 points decline. The market acted irregularly throughout the day in scattered light trading, but the undertone was easier. The market closed at unchanged to 4 points decline.

There was nothing in Brazilian coffee cables to influence the local market which opened quiet at unchanged to 7 points advance. Local holders began to liquidate with the result that the market steadily declined. The final closing was 17 to 30 points lower.

Spot coffee locally was steady and in fairly good demand.

All the latest cables covering news from Colombo, Calcutta and London, tea markets continue to announce strong and advancing prices. In the local market, as prices go up, buyers hesitate and buy sparingly for current requirements. Nevertheless, the gross volume of steady business is considered satisfactory.

BUTTER AND EGGS

The butter market shows little change. Demand was entirely of a selective character and extras in creamery were freely offered at 39 and 39 1-4 cents. The arrivals are about heavy enough to supply the demand and the better sorts were cleared without trouble.

The position of fresh eggs remains firm. Arrivals are moderate, but retail prices are so high that there has been a heavy shrinkage in consumption. Good storage eggs can be bought very reasonably. The production of fresh eggs is falling off with the advent of the cool weather. White eggs are in good demand.

Demand for beans so far this week has been mainly for types and grades wanted for jobbing assortments. It is rather difficult to move long lines of old stock unless bargain prices are named. Some buyers are not disposed to take much stock in view of the near approach of new goods.

COPPER FIRMER

The copper market has hardened at 13 1-8 cents a pound for electrolytic delivered and a fair amount of business has been done at this level. In London electrolytic declined 5s to £66, 10s for spot and £66, 15s for futures, while standard spot reacted for a loss of 10s at £62 7s 6d, and futures for a drop of 7s 6d to £63 10s.

Lead is selling at a premium of 5 cents and is now quotable at 8.05 cents a pound New York, although the American Smelting and Refining continues to quote 8 cents. The St. Louis price ranges between 7.80 and 7.85 cents a pound. In London spot declined 6s 3d to £25 7s 6d and futures 10s to £23 15s.

Zinc is firm at 6.30 cents St. Louis and 6.65 cents a pound New York. In London prices fell 3s 9d, with spot closing at £33 2s 6d and futures at £33.

Tin prices reacted, the market here declining about 1-4 cent. All deliveries and positions of straits and straits shipments closed at 49½ cents a pound. London cables standard as declining £1 15s to £243 for spot and to £245 15s for futures, while straits registered a drop of £1 10s to £244 5s. Singapore showed a gain of 5s to £248 10s c.i.f. London.

The new German bonds advanced to a new high in more active trading on the stock exchange. The issue opened at 95½, showing an overnight gain of a full point, and moved higher during the course of the day's transactions, the turnover in the bonds reaching a total of more than $3,000,000. The increased activity and higher prices for the issue were partly explained by notice of allotments showing that subscriptions had been scaled down to amounts ranging from 5 to 20 per cent. Other foreign issues, including the Belgian 6½s, the Czecho-Slovakian 8s and the Austrian 7½s, were active and generally higher. Liberties were also more active and generally higher.

BUYING OF IRON WAITS ON POLITICS

Cautious Note Exists in Coast Market; Builders Are Active Takers

BY DON PARTRIDGE
(Associate Editor, Iron Trade Review)

In summing up the condition of the Pacific Coast iron and steel markets, Iron Trade Review will say this week:

"While the buying public is proceeding cautiously, general business conditions are not unfavorable. Political issues have created some hesitation and uncertainty and until the atmosphere clears, stock replenishing cannot be expected. In the meantime the volume of trade is limited to immediate requirements.

"Construction activity is responsible for continued good demand for reinforcing bars, but awards reported this week involved less than 100-ton lots. Pending business totals over 4000 tons. Foreign sellers are offering German merchant bars at 1.80 cents, c.i.f. duty paid, Seattle.

"The Pacific Coast Engineering Company secured the ninety-six-inch penstock for the Merced Irrigation District, involving about 225 tons. This is the only important business placed this week. Inquiries before the trade at present involve small lots only. Prices, which for several weeks were stationary at 2.30 cents, c.i.f. Coast ports, are now being quoted generally at 2.35 cents.

"Fabricators report a fair amount of work in hand. Awards this week exceeded 3000 tons of which Dyer Brothers Golden West Iron Works secured 1250 tons for the Clift Hotel addition in San Francisco; Union Iron Works of Los Angeles, 1150 tons for the Patriotic Hall in Los Angeles, and the California Steel Company, 260 tons for the Chamberlain Building in San Francisco. Pending business totals close to 2000 tons. Prices range from 2.35 cents to 2.40 cents, c.i.f.

"The United States Steel Products Company secured 300 tons of seventy-pound A.S.C.E. rails for the Alaska Engineering Commission. The Pacific Coast Lumber Company has closed on 105 tons of sixty-pound, and 370 tons of seventy-pound rails. No action has yet been taken on the 2165 tons of seventy-pound rails for the Merced Irrigation District on which the United Commercial Company was the low bidder.

"Although over 4000 tons of cast iron pipe inquiries are up for figures or pending, only 200 tons has been reported awarded. This involved four to twelve-inch pipe for Kelso, Wash., and was secured by Gordon & Bolyea, who will furnish French-made pipe."

BAD CHECKS

The public is urged to be very cautious in cashing checks for strangers, and the police forgery detail calls particular attention to the activities of Glen R. Hobert, who is said to have been passing a number of bad checks in and around Los Angeles. In most cases these checks bear the forged signature of Mrs. R. C. Hobert.

Following is a description of the man: American, 25 years of age, height 5 feet 8 inches, weight 150 pounds; blue eyes, sandy hair, light complexion; no beard, and is generally well dressed.

Any information regarding this man should be forwarded to the police forgery detail at central station, or the nearest police officer.

ANALYSIS OF CITY SHOWS TRADE MEND

Bradstreet's Report for Week Reveals Dry Goods Unstabilized

Bradstreet's weekly review of business conditions in Los Angeles is as follows:

"Local conditions, while showing some improvement, have not been fully stabilized as yet in the dry goods line. The wholesalers report that buying is cautious and collections are only fair. The bigger retail houses report sales holding up fairly well. Wholesale drug houses are still very optimistic and show a material increase in their sales with collections good and prospects encouraging.

Building material and lumber houses are still complaining regarding sales which are considerably off from last year, although building is picking up and tourists will help the real estate market. Imports of fancy goods report that the demand is fairly good and in a number of lines such as handkerchiefs there is an increasing demand, but collections are below normal and very slow.

"Food supply houses still report encouraging sales with collections improving over the first part of the year. Holiday novelties are moving for Christmas. Retail shoes report prices a little down and sales have shown an increase over a month ago. A recent statement shows plenty of available cash on hand and loans in good condition. Crops and fall weather continue good. Receipts are heavy and prices off.

COTTON FUTURES RISE ON STRONG UNDERTONE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Spot cotton closed at 23.65, 25 points net higher.

Under good buying, the cotton futures list displayed a firm undertone today, and except for October, which lagged due to heavy tenders, values advanced some 40 to 55 points. Spot houses bought, and the trade and brokers with Liverpool connections also came in. Later in the session, however, renewed selling was encountered of a hedging nature and a moderate reaction followed. Final prices were 26 points net higher for October, and 47 points net higher on other months.

Western Timber

Spruce -:- Hemlock -:- Fir

In all parts of the East and South the once great stands of timber are rapidly disappearing.

The larger logging firms are being forced to curtail their operations or seek other fields.

Spruce, hemlock and fir, the most valuable natural resources of the West, will naturally increase many times in value as this eastern supply diminishes.

According to authorities the finest remaining growths of the above mentioned woods in the world are contained in the Pacific Northwest.

The timber business is the greatest source of western wealth and supplies a vital world-wide necessity.

Carefully selected bonds of this industry are excellent investments and have a stable market record.

Sound Security Assured Earnings

MILTON G. COOPER & SON BUILDING COMPANY First Mortgage 6½% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds, due 1939, combine both adequate security and unusually dependable earnings—prime requirements of the sound building bond.

This issue is secured by a closed first mortgage on highly improved down town property, owned in fee and representing a security of $1,773,504 for this $1,000,000 bond issue.

This property is entirely leased under a long term contract to the Milton G. Cooper Dry Goods Company, at a rental which is sufficient to meet all bond interest and maturity requirements. A sinking fund, beginning in 1925, provides for the annual reduction of the indebtedness and the retirement of the entire issue by the maturity date.

Application has been made to certify these bonds as a legal investment for California Savings Banks. They are exempt from Personal Property Tax in California.

BOND QUOTATIONS

German Bonds Active

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Drastic scaling down of the allotments on the German load today caused the liveliest scramble for the bonds in stock exchange trading since the offering last Tuesday. Brisk bidding by dealers who received only a small percentage of their applications carried the price up to a new high record at 95⅝, at which point extensive profit taking set in and drove the quotations back to 94½, slightly below yesterday's final figure.

Sales on the German obligations today approximated $5,000,000, representing one-third the day's total bond transactions, and bringing the turnover for the three days up to about $12,000,000. Blocks of as high as $275,000 changed hands.

With trading in domestic corporation liens completely overshadowed by activity in the German bonds, prices of the active railroad and industrial mortgages again fluctuated within narrow limits. Demand for the rail bonds turned from the investment to the speculative class, several of the latter displaying rallying tendencies. Sugar company issues, including Warner 7s and Punta Alegre 7s, were conspicuous heavy spots.

Outside the foreign list the principal feature of trading was the establishment of a new high record by the treasury 4¼s at 106.18 on a small turnover. Other United States government issues were firm.

The $6,000,000 Bogota loan offered today was readily absorbed, and other financing also met with a good reception.

Following are yesterday's high, low and closing prices of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange, and the total sales of each bond. This market is our Associated Press service and to avoid duplication the closing is omitted when it is the same as the last sale, and the low and sales are omitted when they are the same as the high.

WOOL MARKET

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—Trading on the wool market remains on about the same basis as during the last few days. Business is less active, but prices are being maintained. Some three-eighths and one-fourth blood Missouri wools have changed hands at 57 cents, grease basis this market. Offers to contract for next clip wools have been made in Nevada and Montana.

NEW YORK CURB

Oils Surge Forward

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Revival of speculative interest in the oil shares, several of which advanced from 1 to 4 points, was the outstanding feature of today's irregularly higher curb market. Buying of the petroleum issues was stimulated by the publication of statistics showing a further decrease of more than 56,000 barrels daily in crude oil production for the week ended the 11th inst.

Prairie Oil and Gas stood out with a gain of 4 points on fairly good transactions; Standard Oil of Ohio advanced 3¾; Standard Oil of Nebraska, 3, and Buckeye Pipe, 3, on small sales. Ohio Oil and Prairie Pipe each gained 1¾ points.

Public utilities, which were hard hit on the recent reaction, made further brisk recovery. National Power jumped 26 points on one sale, American Gas and Electric moved up 3¾ and American Power and Light, Commonwealth, Middle West Utilities and Western Power closed 1 to 2 points higher.

Following are the closing quotations on the New York Curb Market, furnished by Logan & Bryan, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 636 South Spring street:

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

Two new wells were completed in the Torrance field yesterday with a combined production of 350 barrels.

The Standard Oil Company's Sentinel-Joughin No. 16 went on production with an initial flow of 200 barrels a day at a depth of 3820 feet. This well is in the southern part of the field.

The Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company brought in its Del Amo No. 100 at 3820 feet, getting 150 barrels a day.

The Consolidated Mutual Oil Company's Campbell No. 1, the southern outpost of the Torrance field near Wilmington, is having trouble with sand, and is off production, according to field reports. The well came in about ten days ago at the rate of 250 barrels a day, and added several hundred acres of proven territory to the southern part of the field, including the southern portion of the great Joughin ranch which is held by the Superior Oil Company, Standard Oil Company, E. J. Miley and Sentinel Oil Company.

Standard Quits Well

The Standard Oil Company is abandoning its Los Angeles Extension wildcat well in the El Segundo district, according to official reports. The well was drilled deeper than 6000 feet without showings, it is said.

To Make Test

The Pan-American Petroleum Company's Pacific-Southwest wildcat in El Segundo is standing cemented with six-inch casing set, according to field reports. Eight-inch casing was set in this well at 3660 feet last spring, but during a fishing job which followed, it is believed to have been damaged considerably and the six-inch pipe was run inside it, preparatory to making a test. The well was plugged back to 2800 feet, after drilling to nearly 5000 feet. The present test is the last hope for getting production in this well, it is said.

Flow Increases

The United Oil Company's Dominguez No. 1 in the southeastern section of the Dominguez field has increased its flow to nearly 1600 barrels a day, according to official reports. The well was the discovery project of this part of the field, and came in about two months ago making around 1400 barrels a day.

The United is preparing to start drilling its Dominguez No. 3 southwest of No. 1, and one location south of No. 2. The latter well is drilling ahead at 2415 feet. It is an offset to the Shell Company's Manuel No. 3.

Outpost is Fishing

The Union Oil Company's Callender No. 4, the northern outpost of the Dominguez field, is fishing for drill pipe at 3040 feet, according to official reports. The well is down 4758 feet, where oil sand has been found, but the well has not been successfully completed due to water trouble which has persisted through a number of attempts to get shutoff.

Off Production

The Howard Park No. 2 well in the central area of the Rosecrans field which was completed by the Union Oil Company last week, is fishing, according to official reports. The well was on production only a few days when it stopped flowing.

Get Light Showing

The Gordon No. 1, southwestern outpost of the Rosecrans field has found slight showings at 4805 to 4815 feet, according to official reports. This is the second time that slight indications have been found in the Gordon, but in this case, as in the first, the showing was lost within a few feet, and at 4828 feet, the well was again reported in barren sand and shale.

The Gordon showings, in spite of their slightness, give an indication that the Superior Oil Company's Van Nuys No. 1, several hundred feet northeast, may make a commercial well, according to operators. The Van Nuys is believed to be considerably higher on the structure than the Gordon, and the sands of which the Gordon found only a trace, may be productive in the Van Nuys, it is said.

At Original Depth

E. J. Miley is drilling at around 3600 feet in his wildcat well at Anaheim, according to official reports. This well is Miley's second attempt in this district, his first well having been junked because of collapsed casing when it had been drilled to approximately the same depth as the present well.

Globe Sells Lease

The Globe Petroleum Corporation has sold an eight-acre tract of land in the Comanche Point district to the Marland Oil Company, it was reported yesterday. The Globe drilled a well near the Marland's newly acquired tract last year and found live oil, but was never able to put the well on production.

Drills Out Plug

The U. S. Royalties Company is making a test of its well in the southeast Rosecrans area at 4500 feet, where eight-inch casing has been set, according to field reports. The well was drilled to 4750 feet, and plugged back to 4500 feet. The plug has been drilled out.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Trading in oil securities diminished in volume yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange in a quiet and uneventful market. Bank stocks attracted a strong investment demand and two of the issues registered gains. Goodyear Tire and Rubber preferred was the individual bright spot in the industrial list.

An advance of 4 points was marked up in Union Bank and Trust Company, the stock rising to 164. Merchants' National scored a gain of 2½ points to 200 and Bank of America advanced 1 point to 141. First National sold at 378.

Both of the Julian shares spurted during the dealing in oil stocks. Each registered gains of 1 1-8 points, the preferred finishing at 13½ and the common at 8 1-4. Los Angeles Investment opened at 3.75, fell to 3.73 and closed at 3.80, net gain over the previous day of 1 cent. Union Oil Associates acquired 1-8 at 57 3-8 and Shell Union moved forward distance to 17 5-8.

Oatman United again was buoyant on the basis of good buying, jumping from 15½ to a high of 17 and finished at 16 cents. Gold Dust sold at 1, Oatman Gold at 3 1-2 and Tom Reed at 23 cents.

Pacific Gas and Electric and Southern California Edison bonds were active during the bond call. Total transactions amounted to $50,000, par value.

Profit-Taking Sales in Wheat Affect Grains

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Heavy profit-taking sales of wheat, headed by some of the houses that have been leaders on the bull side for many weeks, turned the market downward after a bulge of 1 cent to 1.52⅝ for December, a new high on the crop, and to 1.56⅝ for May. The selling was persistent, and while there was an excellent class of buying at times, the inside figure showed 4⅝ cents under the early top, with the finish at net losses of 2⅛@2⅝c.

Corn was under pressure from the start, with heavy selling by strong commission houses, which finally resulted in scattered liquidation and net losses of 1@1⅛c for the day. A bearish summary of existing conditions put out by J. P. Griffin of J. S. Bache & Co., attracted much attention and had considerable effect on sentiment. Oats closed 1⅝ cents lower with other grains, with cables telling that rains were needed immediately, and a Buenos Aires cable to Joseph Schreiner estimating the crop at 75 per cent of last year, or around 190,000,000 bushels, suggesting an exportable surplus of 115,000,000 bushels, had but little effect on values. At the top, December showed 10⅝ cents over the low on Saturday, and the weakened technical position was entirely responsible for the decline. December touched 1.48 at the low point and finished at 1.49@1.49¼, with May at 1.53⅝@1.53¾, after selling at 1.52. July finished at 1.35.

Foreigners failed to follow the early advance in wheat, with buying orders for cash grain, but the total sales for export for the day aggregated 1,000,000 bushels. Italy was the best buyer. Winnipeg closed 2⅛@2¾c lower, breaking sharply at the last on profit-taking. Liverpool was 2⅝@3¼d higher. Broomhall noted a pause in the demand for wheat abroad.

The corn market is out of the rut as the result of heavy selling, headed by strong commission houses, which finally resulted in stop-loss orders being uncovered. At the low point, prices were off 4¾@5c from the early high and the finish was about the bottom, with December at 1.09⅝@1.09¾, May at 1.11¼@1.11¼ and July at 1.11⅝. The continued excellent weather conditions over the belt, the liquidation of live stock by farmers is having some effect on sentiment. After the Griffin summary of bearish conditions was put out, the market declined rapidly. Improvement in the eastern cash demand, with shipping sales of 120,000 bushels, was ignored.

Oats weakened in sympathy with other grains, and the bullish sentiment which prevailed among local traders the previous day disappeared. December closed at 54@54¼ and May at 58⅝@58½.

A big trade was on in rye with free speculative buying, but with wheat weak the market gradually declined and finished about the bottom. December closed at 1.35⅝, or ¼ cent over May. Export sales for the day were 200,000 bushels.

BROTHER OF COUNCILMAN IN HERO ROLE

W. R. Sanborn Captures Burglar Suspect at House of City Official

W. R. Sanborn, brother of Councilman Sanborn, proved himself a first-rate hero yesterday, prevented his brother's home from being robbed and was credited by police with the capture of one burglar suspect late Wednesday night.

Mr. Sanborn and his family live at 2520 East Third street. Councilman Sanborn lives at 2004 Pennsylvania avenue. Late Wednesday night Mr. Sanborn and a friend, R. J. Dunton of 1214 East Vernon avenue, decided to call on Councilman Sanborn. They found the door of Councilman Sanborn's home wide open and the screen ripped away.

A strange man dived out of one of the windows and vanished. Mr. Sanborn and his friend raced into the house and there found another man who later gave the name of Anastacio Villarrell and his address as 633 North Grand avenue. Mr. Sanborn grappled with the stranger and with the aid of Mr. Dunton subdued the struggling suspect.

Patrolmen Darnell and Fahrman were summoned and relieved Mr. Sanborn and his friend of their prisoner. They searched the neighborhood and arrested Regino Rodriguez. Both Villarrel and Rodriguez were lodged in the City Jail on suspicion of burglary.

WIFE'S WILL FOUGHT

Husband Blames Occult Influence for Small Legacy to Him

Mrs. Florence F. Kraemer was under the "mystic powers" of fortune tellers, clairvoyants and others of the same classification when she made her will cutting him off with $25 out of an estate valued at $12,000, her husband, Edward F. Kraemer, charged in a contest of the will, filed yesterday.

The bulk of Mrs. Kraemer's estate was left to a nephew and a niece.

At the time of her death Mrs. Kraemer was plaintiff in a divorce suit pending.

The automobile is responsible for more than one-sixth of the accidental deaths in the United States.

Production of Crude in Sharp Drop for Week

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The daily average gross crude oil production of the United States decreased 26,450 barrels for the week ending the 11th inst., totaling 1,984,000, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute. The daily average production east of California was 1,376,000 barrels, a decrease of 26,050. California production was 608,000 barrels, a decrease of 400.

Daily average imports of petroleum at principal ports for the week ended the 11th inst. were 200,286 barrels, compared with 181,571 for the previous week. Daily average receipts of California oil at Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports for the period were 102,286 barrels, compared with 118,143 for the previous week.

There were no changes reported in crude oil prices for the major districts—midcontinent being quoted at 75 cents to $1.25 a barrel, according to the gravity of the oil; Pennsylvania crude, Bradford district, $2.85 a barrel, all other grades $2.75 a barrel. Gulf Coast crude, grade "A," $1.25 a barrel; grade "B," $1.05, and California crude ranging from $1 to $1.40 a barrel, according to gravity of the oil.

White figs are said by handlers to be the most perishable of all fruits.

Drive Planned for Amendment on Child Labor

In furtherance of an effort to have California formally urge the proposed child-labor amendment to the United States Constitution as the first official act of the 1925 Legislature, there was a meeting yesterday at the offices here of the State Board of Charities and Corrections, jointly attended by the southern and northern committees on child labor.

Rabbi R. I. Coffee of Oakland, president of the Northern California committee and a member of the State Board of Charities and Corrections, presided. The president of the Southern California committee, H. H. Duryee, was ill and unable to attend.

Immediately after election the committees will circularize the members-elect of the Legislature in favor of the amendment, and will endeavor to persuade them to give the ratification resolution the right of way over everything else.

"California has a moral obligation to American childhood, said Dr. Coffee.

He declared that women's clubs, luncheon clubs and fraternal organization are preparing to aid the committee.

Brain Disorder Laid to Sitting Down Too Hard

When J. B. Alatorre started to get off a Los Angeles street car it started suddenly and he sat down on the pavement so hard that he suffered concussion of the brain, so he charged in a damage suit against the Los Angeles Railway Company yesterday before Judge Walton J. Wood. Medical experts were placed on the stand by the defendant and they testified they never heard of a man sitting down so hard he got concussion of the brain.

At the conclusion of the trial the jury gave Alatorre a judgment of $975. He asked for $15,000.

APPOINTS COMMITTEE

East Side President Pushes Plan for Industrial Area

Preparing to carry forward plans calling for the expenditure of many millions of dollars in the development of the great East Side industrial area of Los Angeles, comprising 100 quare miles of territory, Fred T. Beaty, newly elected president of the East Side organization, yesterday appointed the new executive committee of that body which will serve for the next twelve months.

The committee is composed of S. C. Graham, president of the Laguna Land and Water Company, chairman; Edwin E. Cox of Filcher & Cox; Henry W. Keller of the Keller-Wattles Co., W. L. Brent, president of the Los Angeles Realty Board; P. N. Snyder of Snyder & Winston, Hogan Willeford, president of the Downey Finance and Mortgage Company; Fred T. Beaty, president of the Montebello Chamber of Commerce and Leslie R. Saunders, executive secretary of the East Side Organization and secretary of the committee.

It was announced yesterday that regular monthly meetings of the membership will be held hereafter on the third Friday of each month.

HUSBAND WHO DEFIED COURT IS PUT IN JAIL

"No court can ever compel me to do anything," opined Earl O. Cox, when his wife, Oleta G. Cox, served him with notice of her divorce suit. Mrs. Cox told Judge Guerin at a recent alimony hearing. Cox was thinking the matter over in the County Jail yesterday. He tore up the summons, his wife said, and Judge Guerin wrote a bench warrant for him. He was arrested in El Centro. Alimony was fixed at $50 a month, and Judge Guerin will decide today what further steps to take to bring Cox under submission to the court order.

BANDIT SUSPECTS TO BE PUT ON EXHIBITION

Nine bandit suspects rounded up in the last few days by Detective Lieutenants Hickey and Moore will be placed on exhibition at 9 a.m. today and again at 2 p.m., at Central Station. That portion of the public which has been robbed during the last few months is cordially invited to attend the exhibit and to try to identify the suspects.

SIGN LANGUAGE USED IN CONDUCTING TRIAL

R. Purswell, who is deaf and dumb, appeared before Police Judge Crawford yesterday on a charge of driving an automobile without lights. Judge Crawford happens to be expert in sign language and he had little difficulty in conducting the trial. After "hearing" the case, or rather seeing it, Judge Crawford gave Purswell a suspended sentence of $10 or ten days.

JAPANESE TRADE DECLINES

The foreign trade of Japan during September was less satisfactory than during the preceding month. Preliminary figures show exports totaled 158,300,000 yen, and imports 144,000,000 yen, exports decreasing 18,000,000 yen, and imports 1,300,000, according to a cable to the Department of Commerce from Acting Commercial Attache Butts at Tokio. The excess of exports, totaling 17,300,000 yen was 17,000,000 yen smaller than the balance recorded in August.

The rapid reversal of the favorable trade trend which commenced toward the end of July is evident from the returns for the three ten-day periods of September. During the first period there was a favorable balance of more than 15,000,000 yen, but the second one showed a balance of only 3,000,000 yen, while the closing period must have shown an excess of imports, since the import balance for the month is smaller than the balance for the first twenty days.

The civil war in China is almost entirely responsible for the decline in exports, it is believed. Details of the trade by principal commodities show that raw silk shipments, which constitute nearly a half the total exports of Japan and most of which go to the United States, were very large in September, the total for the month being 74,900,000 yen, a gain of 3,000,000 yen compared with August. Shipments of other commodities of which America or Europe take the largest share were well maintained, the only notable declines being in products which China mostly purchases. Cotton textiles, of which China takes about 60 per cent of the total, fell off more than 9,000,000 yen in September, and exports of cotton yarns, about 75 per cent of which go to China, were less than a half the total for the previous month.

The import trade for September was about normal for this period of the year, the only noteworthy features being increased arrivals of iron and steel, machinery and woolen textiles, and smaller imports of raw cotton, wool and lumber.

DeBIT STOCK CHARGE MAY BE DROPPED

Officials Said to Lack Evidence Against Pair in Sacred School Case

Motion for a dismissal of the indictment accusing Ralph M. DeBit and his wife, Dr. Ione Ingles DeBit, founders of the School of Sacred Science, of violating the Corporate Securities Act, is expected to be made by the District Attorney's office when the case is called for trial in Judge Keetch's department of Superior Court this morning.

The DeBits are charged with having sold units in the School of Sacred Science Association to Mrs. Emma Adams, a widow, without first having secured a permit from the State Corporation Commissioner.

Although the case is scheduled to go on trial today, it was reported yesterday from an authoritative source that the State probably would not prosecute the case further, owing to lack of evidence.

It was stated that Mrs. Adams, an asserted incompetent, had expressed a desire not to testify that the defendants sold her units in the religious project. Attaches of the District Attorney's office said the State could not hope to obtain a conviction without such testimony from Mrs. Adams, and, it was explained even though she did consent to telling a jury of the asserted sale of units, attorneys for the defense could keep such testimony from the record because of the asserted incompetency of Mrs. Adams.

The DeBits, Rabbi William Rice and H. LaV. Twining, a school teacher, were indicted by the county grand jury several months ago following an investigation of an asserted School of Sacred Science Association plan to establish a colony near Long Beach.

The case against Twining has already been dismissed. Rabbi Rice met his death several weeks ago when he was struck by a freight train.

Patent Paving Specifications Go to Printer

The City Council ordered printed 5000 copies of the new pavement specifications, following the reading of a report from City Attorney Stephens to the effect that no further action was necessary to make the specifications legal other than that of September 25, last, when the specifications were adopted by motion.

It had been contended that an ordinance would be required to legalize the new specifications, and Councilman Mallard said at yesterday's session of the Council that he was of this opinion, despite the contrary ruling of the City Attorney.

The new specifications for street paving, sidewalks, curbs and other improvements make legal for Los Angeles streets Warrenite, Willite and other types of patented paving.

Those who opposed patented paving being included by name in the specifications on account of the high prices declare that they will place an initiative ordinance on the ballot at the primaries next May prohibiting trade-marked pavement.

CLUBWOMAN HITS SCHOOL ARMY CORPS

Tells W.C.T.U. Session Military Training Will Breed Future Wars

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Oct. 16.—Denouncing military training as prescribed in the public schools of California as tending to breed future wars for this nation, Mrs. Seward Simons, officer of the Federation of Women's Clubs, spoke before 500 delegates of the Women's Christian Temperance Union convention now in session in this city.

R.O.T.C. training now offered in almost all public schools was strongly criticised by the speaker. Mobilization Day, held throughout the country only recently, came in for a shower of denunciation in Mrs. Simons's address.

"The United States is following the example of Germany, the most militaristic nation in the world," the speaker asserted. "The greatest question before us today is whether we are going to co-operate with other nations for war or for peace."

Mrs. Eva Craven Wheeler of Glendale was unanimously re-elected president of the W.C.T.U. of Southern California. This is the forty-second annual convention of the organization and is the fourth consecutive year in which Mrs. Wheeler has been chosen president.

Mrs. Ada B. Cummings of Santa Paula was elected vice-president to succeed Mrs. Julia D. Phelps of Los Angeles. Mrs. Ana B. Hale of Baldwin Park was chosen corresponding secretary and Miss Hattie E. Young of Los Angeles was re-elected recording secretary. Mrs. Clara G. Sheldon of Los Angeles also was re-elected to the office of treasurer.

RANCK SANITY TRIAL BEFORE JURY TODAY

MAN ACCUSED OF THREAT AGAINST JUDGE CALLED INSANE BY BOARD

Theodore Ranck, ex-convict accused of threatening the lives of Superior Judge Willis, Dist.-Atty. Keyes and others because he said they had railroaded him to prison on a murder charge in 1911, will go on trial before a jury in Judge Collier's court today on an insanity complaint sworn out by the District Attorney's office.

Ranck was arrested on the 3rd inst. and was found insane by the Lunacy Commission and sentenced to Patton. He demanded a jury trial.

Ranck is declared to have offered to pay $500 to John Dymond, formerly an investigator for the District Attorney's office, if he would get Judge Willis or Keyes away from their homes. He is accused also of threats against Frank Dominguez, who defended him of the murder charge, and jurors who sat on the case.

CONVICTED MAN ASKS OPERATION ON BRAIN

Theodore Moe, convicted of a charge of burglary of a quantity of radio equipment, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Hardy to a ward in the General Hospital, where he will be examined to determine if a skull operation will correct his asserted criminal tendencies. Moe declared that he believes he is suffering from pressure on his brain which could be corrected by an operation. He will be returned for further action of the court after the examination.

RAIN PREVENTS TRIP TO MISSION

Serra Pilgrims Witnesses to Tomb Dedication

Procession to Mt. Carmel Set for Sunday

Riding Fiesta and Religious Plays Fill Program

BY NEETA MARQUIS
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

MONTEREY, Oct. 16.—After a night of rain, the curtain of clouds cleared up yesterday morning for the fifth act of the Serra pilgrimage. The dedication ceremony, following the unveiling of the Serra sarcophagus of last Sunday, occurred soon after noon. This was preceded by high mass with Archbishop Hanna of San Francisco delivering the dedicatory address. The scene at the mission presented many of the picturesque features of the opening day of the pilgrimage. Many of the worshippers appeared in Spanish costume.

The service was interesting and impressive, even to those visitors to whom its formal features were strange. A choir of 150 male voices, made up of students from St. Patrick's Seminary at Menlo Park, sang. Archbishop Hanna paid a simple but eloquent tribute to Junipero Serra as a man who is ranked great by measure of the service he rendered his fellowmen with the most limited of material means at his command.

The dedication ceremony took place in the chapel of the sarcophagus, the rear door of which opens upon the ruins of the original adobe rooms in which Serra lived and died. A white cross marks the spot on which he died.

PROCESSION PUT OFF

The procession of pilgrims from San Carlos Church in Monterey to Mt. Carmel Mission, which was scheduled for this occasion, was postponed until Sunday on account of the rain which made the trail too difficult. This original trail of the padres which follows the natural depressions in hills is grown up with underbrush and jungles of poison oak, through which a passage will have to be cut as the pilgrims advance.

The afternoon proved an admirable one for the fiesta De Los Vacqueros, which opened at the polo field at 2:30 p.m. The long procession of horses mounted by cowboys from various ranches and by skilled riders from the Eleventh United States Cavalry excited admiration from the moment it entered the field.

In the events which followed, including running races, Cossack races, standing races and bare-backed wrestling matches, the cavalry entrants carried off many honors. But when the bucking horses and steers came on to the track the punchers in wide hats and wooly chaparreos won the palm.

PLAYS PRESENTED

Alvin Pico, son of Juan Californio Pico of the old Californian family, gave a thrilling exhibition of riding on Glasseye, the world's greatest bucking horse. "The Rose of the Rancho" was given on the pageant grounds at Monterey last night, and will be repeated Saturday night at Carmel.

Another dramatic event which had its initial production last night was the miracle play, "The Nursery Maid of Heaven," by the Thomas Wood Stevens, given at the theater of the Golden Boughs in Carmel, under the direction of Edward Kuster. Although not an official event, this play was planned with a special view to its fitness for production during pageant week. Edward Kuster, who grew up in Los Angeles, is creating a distinct center of dramatic art, to which he is turning his whole attention now in Carmel.

PICKLED LIQUOR TAKEN

Twenty Bottles Found in Brine; Suspect Lands in Jail

Because Samuel Shanman's pickle barrel had something in it besides pickles—meaning the ex-cucumber kind—Samuel himself is in a "pickle."

The pickle barrel reposed in Samuel's restaurant at 138 South Spring street. Vice squad officers under Officer Leslie visited the cafe last night, not in search of pickles, but the stuff that pickles. One of the officers, it is said, reached his arm into the briny depths and drew out a bottle. He is said to have repeated the procedure until twenty bottles were lined up beside the barrel. The bottles, so the officers say, contained liquor of more than the legal alcoholic content.

Shanman was booked at the City Jail on a Wright Act charge.

OIL STATION ROBBER LOSES APPEAL FIGHT

The judgment of Superior Judge Crail, convicting E. D. Howell of the crime of robbery, was affirmed yesterday by Justice Houser of the Second District Court of Appeal, Division One. Howell in company with two others was charged with robbing Paul Johnson at a gasoline station near Downey on December 22, 1923. The defendant appealed from his conviction on the grounds that testimony of the other men who participated in the offense, was not corroborated and therefore his conviction was not justified.

SECRET OF HAPPINESS

The greatest menace on earth to happiness is the ill health with which so many women are afflicted. The young woman is subject to pain and irregularities, the mother to the tortures of displacements with consequent pains, aches and nervousness,—the middle aged woman to the uncomfortable conditions caused by this critical age. The one remedy to control these conditions and restore the system to a normal healthy condition is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for fifty years has been restoring sick and ailing women to health and happiness.—[Advertisement.

DR. STEELE DEFENDANT IN NEW SUIT

Beauty Doctor, Fugitive in Death Case, is Sued for $50,000 Damages

Dr. Gertrude Steele, beauty specialist and facial surgeon, now a fugitive on an indictment charging her with manslaughter, was named defendant in a suit for $50,000 damages filed yesterday in Superior Court by Attorney C. E. Piper in behalf of Mrs. Kazie McPherson of Los Angeles and San Diego.

In her complaint, Mrs. McPherson recited that she paid Dr. Steele $1100 October 17, 1922, to perform an operation to reduce the plaintiff's nose. Mrs. McPherson said the defendant guaranteed to alter her nose without leaving scars, marks or disfigurations.

Dr. Steele was careless and negligent in performing the operation, according to the complaint, which stated the plaintiff's nose and face were permanently scarred and disfigured.

Attorney Piper said last night his client was at present in San Diego.

Adrenalin Puts Life Spark Into New Born Babe

Twenty-five minutes of ordinary methods of resuscitation having failed, a baby born apparently dead, was revived by the injection of adrenalin at the Pacific Hospital, it was learned yesterday.

The child was born to Mrs. Thomas Norton September 26. Although normal in all respects the infant showed no signs of life. Dr. Thomas Taggart, the attending physician, worked on the child for twenty-five minutes without any success. He then injected adrenalin and within a few minutes the infant began to breath. According to the mother, the baby appears to be perfectly normal and is thriving.

APPEAL FOR LIVES

Attorneys in Last Effort to Save Pals of Hold-up Slayer

A last effort to save the lives of John Geregac and John Sears, who with Jack Ferdinand are under sentence of death for the murder of Charles A. Chapman, November 27, 1922, was made by attorneys for the two men yesterday in a petition to the California Supreme Court. The high tribunal is asked to reconsider its decision of September 25. It is contended by counsel that a mitigating circumstance exists in that Sears and Geregac were not party to the actual murder of Chapman.

CHAOS SEEN IN CURRENT LACK

Engineers in Convention Tell of Dire Possibilities

Electricity's Importance to Mankind is Cited

Human Life is Dependent Upon Power Constancy

By a Times Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Oct. 16.—What electricity means to the various industries of the United States and as an important factor it is in the every-day life of this country is the theme of a number of addresses delivered by engineers at the session of the Pacific Coast Division of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers at the Hotel Huntington.

If the world was suddenly deprived of electricity, in a literal sense it would die, virtually all industry would stop; factories, street cars, lights, and hundreds of common things used by the public would become useless, lives would be lost, the bustling world would be thrown into a state of chaos. This is not as a possibility merely to illustrate the importance of electrical power and what the world has become since it was harnessed from the sky by Benjamin Franklin and his kite and key.

The importance of electricity to the mining industry was given by P. L. Stone, of the electrical engineering department of the General Electric Company. He came here from Schenectady, N.Y., expressly to deliver the address.

It was said that more than 2,000,000 men are employed in and about the mines of this country. The mines require annually $1,500,000,000," he said. "The mines require the use of approximately 6,300,000 horsepower in motive power. Forty power lines from large hydroelectric plants have penetrated nearly all of the important mining districts of the West. Equitable rates have been established whereby the mine owner can afford to purchase power. Years ago this was not possible, as power companies would not extend their lines to mines that it was necessary to increase the size of their own plants and generating units. The inability to serve power to many mine owners to increase the operating stations of their own.

"Power interruptions have been a constant dread of the mine operator, particularly those who use gaseous or collects explosives. Some mines give off gases so rapidly that the use of the ventilating system completely changes the mine from a comparatively safe thing to a terribly dangerous thing, and only for some half-wit to light a cigarette and send himself and everything into the Great Beyond. Accidents resulting from electrically wrecking the mine are rare and of little importance. But power interruptions are rather rare and of short duration.

"One of the most important uses of electricity in mines is to operate the ventilating systems. Another important use is in the operation of mines that are worked mostly by electric power. The installation of electric locomotives was the first step along the lines of economies which electricity played in mining.

"Mines require a drainage system of some sort. In many operations the cost of keeping the mine free from water is one of the most expensive. In the average pumping station throughout the country the coal consumed is twenty tons or more per day. Equipped to one ton of coal per hour, enormous quantities of water are found in mines. Pumps are also electrically operated.

"Problems connected with the ventilation of a proper hoisting system in the most interesting. Many long since have been solved

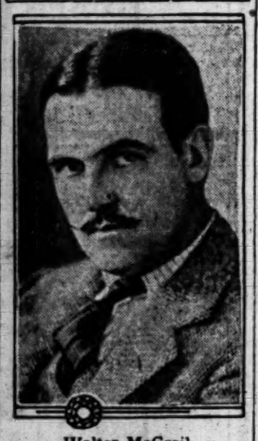
ACTOR LOSES FOOT RACE TO BURGLAR



Walter McGrail

PROWLER OUTRUNS FILM MAN

Walter McGrail Gives Chase to Burglar Found in Home; Just Misses Him

Walter McGrail, motion-picture actor, proved himself considerable of a sprinter and hurdler yesterday but missed the glory of being a hero in real life by the margin of the few inches which separated his fingers from the coat-tail of a speeding burglar.

Mr. McGrail and his wife returned home at 455 Westminster avenue early yesterday morning to see a strange man do a high dive from one of the windows of the house. Mr. McGrail hurried into the house there to be confronted by another stranger. The latter ran. So did Mr. McGrail. They played a hectic game of tag through the various rooms, hopping, hurdling and climbing over chairs, tables and other furniture which they found in their path in the darkness.

The burglar headed for the window and imitated his predecessor. Mr. McGrail followed. They sprinted down the street, the burglar leading and Mr. McGrail pounding along a few feet behind. The burglar, however, had the necessary reserve. He sprinted around a corner and Mr. McGrail's fingers clutched the night air. Nothing was taken from the house.

SKETCHING TEAMS TO INVADE POMONA FAIR

Sketching teams from the Otis Art Institute will descend in force today on the County Fair at Pomona. The trip is being arranged by the Bivouac Art Club of the institute, and from 150 to 200 student artists are expected to go. They will sketch anything they see that looks interesting. The trip was arranged by E. Roscoe Shroder, Edouard Dyseksal, Ralph Holmes, Karl Howenstein and Dr. W. A. Bryan of the instruction staff, who will accompany the sketchers. The artists will be divided into fifteen teams.

It was a bear with an affinity for roving disposition. Jack Boyle, author of the "Jack Blackie" stories, made an attempt at suburban domesticity. Mrs. Jack Boyle, wife of the author, declared Boyle loved Jack more than he did her—and that was saying anything else in his favor.

COUNTY GIVEN DEED TO BOWL

Hollywood Association Takes Long Lease on Site

Perpetual Use as Civic and Art Center Assured

Property is Turned Over on Debt-Free Basis

Hollywood Bowl now is the property of Los Angeles county.

A deed to the natural amphitheater was presented to the Board of Supervisors yesterday by the Community Park and Art Association.

The deed conveys to the county title to sixty acres of land at Cahuenga and Highland avenues, in Hollywood, the value of which is estimated at $1,500,000. It specifies that the property is to be used perpetually as an art, recreation and civic center, and forbids its use for any purpose of individual or corporate gain.

Representatives of the association have been negotiating terms of the transfer with the Board of Supervisors for several weeks, and the deed was ordered drawn after a final conference Tuesday afternoon.

ASSOCIATION FORMED

The Bowl will be operated by a newly incorporated body named the Hollywood Bowl Association, under a ninety-nine-year lease. The transfer of title to the county was made as a safeguard of the future of the enterprise, assuring that it will never be sold for taxes or be lost to the uses for which the property is restricted through any kind of financial mishap. The lease also contains an option for a ninety-nine-year renewal.

The property was turned over to the county free of debt and operating on a successful basis. County Counsel Bishop informed the board.

The formal presentation of the deed was made by E. N. Martin, one of the pioneer promoters of the project, and attorney for the association, in behalf of the directors.

OFFICERS NAMED

The officers and directors of the Hollywood Bowl Association are: Mrs. J. J. Carter, president; F. E. Keeler, first vice-president; Mrs. Marie Rankin Clarke, second vice-president; E. N. Martin, secretary; M. E. Palmer, treasurer; Allan C. Balch, C. E. Toberman, F. W. Blanchard, H. Ellis Reed and Dr. T. Perceval Gerson, directors.

The movement resulting in the purchase of the Bowl was started six years ago by Dr. Gerson, after Martin and Reed had discovered the remarkable acoustic properties of the natural amphitheater. The purchase price was $47,000, part of which was contributed by eighty public-spirited donors, and the rest advanced as loans by Mrs. Clarke and the late Mrs. Christine Stevenson.

Two years later, when the Bowl was endangered by lack of funds to meet deferred payments, Mrs. Carter promoted the Community Park and Art Association, which started the summer open-air concerts and operated them successfully from financial and artistic standpoints.

YEAR'S CROP OF WALNUTS IS SOLD OUT

California Output Valued at $14,000,000 Disposed of in Two Days

Compelled to decline orders for hundreds of thousands of pounds of walnuts, the California Walnut Growers' Association yesterday made the announcement that this year's crop, amounting to 48,180,000 pounds and valued at $14,000,000, had been entirely sold out in forty-eight hours.

Carlyle Thorpe, general manager of the association, which markets 86 per cent of the State's entire output, says that the trade eagerly bought up every available pound of walnuts as soon as they were offered. The brisk market, in his opinion, is the result of general prosperity the country over and likewise, in a measure, to the fact that the production will be at least 5 per cent lower than that of last year.

According to Mr. Thorpe, the quality of the crop is not as good as had been expected, but all off-grade walnuts are being removed from the standard pack. This leaves a large quantity for the cracking plants to handle, but there is a strong demand for meats, Mr. Thorpe says, and the growers will receive, this fall, better prices than in recent seasons for the several grades of meats which the association will have to offer.

The harvest is reported to be proceeding slower than usual, because the crop matured late. To date the association has not shipped more than one-fifth as many carloads as it had on the way to market on the same date last year, it is asserted.

BOY HELD IN AUTO THEFT

Harry Rosselot, Jr., 15 years of age, arrested in San Diego Wednesday by Officer McCurdy of the Hollywood police division on a charge of suspicion of grand larceny, yesterday was turned over to juvenile authorities. Rosselot is charged with taking an automobile owned by Fred Collier of 1133½ Beachwood Drive. He denied taking the machine.

QUIZ OPENS IN GIRL CASE

Investigation to be Continued Today Into Story of Film Worker of Asserted Assault

Investigation was started by the grand jury yesterday into the charges of Jeane Diane, screen extra, that she was attacked on September 29, last, at a road house on Washington Boulevard by Al Lloyd and M. E. Schuwyler.

The investigation was not concluded yesterday and will be resumed by the grand jury Tuesday under the direction of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Bonner Richardson.

The girl stated that she met Lloyd at a dinner at an Olive-street cafe and that he introduced her to Schuwyler. They induced her to accompany them to the beach in their automobile, she said, but on the way they stopped at a road house, took her into a private dining-room and there assaulted her.

She finally succeeded in breaking away, she said, and was taken to her home by a kindly motorist. The next day she reported to the Hollywood police. Lloyd is under arrest at Salt Lake City, Utah, but Utah authorities refuse to have him extradited.

Schuwyler is out on bail and his preliminary hearing is scheduled to open today in justice court.

GARAGE WATCHMAN HELD

George Marts, night watchman at a Western-avenue garage, was arrested by Officer Lamkin of the Hollywood police yesterday on a charge of violating Section 146 of the City Vehicle Act, using an automobile without the owner's consent. Marts, the officer alleges, took a machine out of the garage without asking permission of the owner. When he returned he was arrested.

In Justice to Former Mayor F. T. Woodman

Some of the casual acquaintances of former Mayor Frederic T. Woodman inferred from a reference to the Woodman campaign scandal in The Times yesterday that Mr. Woodman was personally involved in the collection of campaign funds from vice elements, cited by The Times as an example of corrupt political conditions in Los Angeles. It will be recalled by those familiar with the Woodman case that the evidence completely exonerated Mr. Woodman from any such connection or from knowledge of what was going on.

GIANNINI QUITS AS BANK CHIEF

Names James A. Bacigalupi as His Successor

Initiates Plan for Eventual Employee Ownership

Puts Administrative Power Into Younger Hands

Today, the twentieth anniversary of the founding of the Bank of Italy, marks two significant epochs in the history of one of the greatest of California's banking systems. It ends the active direction of the bank by A. P. Giannini, first president and founder, and delegates administrative authority into younger hands. Of at least equal importance, and perhaps more so, is the initiation by Mr. Giannini of a policy of employee ownership that will eventually place the control of the Bank of Italy system with the employees.

After twenty years of active management of the bank's affairs, during which the Bank of Italy has accumulated resources totaling approximately $350,000,000, placing it among the first half dozen largest in the United States and first outside of New York and Chicago, Mr. Giannini relinquishes the presidency to James A. Bacigalupi, who has been senior vice-president.

Mr. Giannini, however, retains several important offices to insure his close connection with the bank.

RETAINS CHAIRMANSHIPS

He will continue as chairman of the executive committee and of the finance committee, and expects, through his association with these two bodies to maintain an intimate relationship with the management of the bank. He will also retain the presidencies of the California Joint Stock Land Bank and of the Bancitaly Corporation, and will assume the chairmanship of the board of directors of the Stockholders' Auxiliary Corporation.

The delegation of authority to the younger men of the bank has been one of Mr. Giannini's policies ever since the Bank of Italy system began its irresistible march of expansion throughout the State. Wherever possible, he has followed this method, and now in divesting himself of the duties of the presidency, he has selected as his successor one of the younger generation who has been thoroughly trained in the Bank of Italy school.

In Mr. Giannini's words: "Through the succession of Mr. Bacigalupi to the presidency, the bank is giving recognition to a man who has intimate knowledge of the institution's history, policies and personnel. He is fully qualified to head this system and I have complete confidence in the success of his administration."

SURPRISING INNOVATION

In the announcement of the plan whereby the employees will gradually acquire control of the bank is a departure almost revolutionary in principle from the orthodox methods of banking. It is a plan, however, which Mr. Giannini has had under discussion for some time, and is the result of careful analysis on his part of the trend of big business in this country.

Employee control, in this instance, does not mean a hasty delegation of entire authority to the host of Bank of Italy employees. The scheme is carefully safeguarded by measures designed to insure the conservative management of a powerful financial institution, and yet grant to the employees an eventual voice in the administration of the bank's affairs.

Mr. Giannini's plan also contemplates, once the employees receive control, that the office of president shall rotate, and the election to the office shall come from the ranks. This feature is still in the nebulous stage, although the board of directors has approved it in principle. When actually in operation, it will provide, it is generally believed, that the president will serve a specified term, probably from four to six years or more, and then retire as a member of the advisory board. This board will be composed of former presidents who will have a weighty hand in the administration of the bank.

As evolved by Mr. Giannini, the plan of employee ownership and rotation of the presidency encompasses in its entirety the desire to concentrate the interests and activities of employees and officers in the Bank of Italy. The bank has a strict regulation against officers participating in outside enterprises in an official capacity while a member of the Bank of Italy staff. Participating in profits as stockholders will effectually eliminate this tendency in Mr. Giannini's opinion.

DETAILS OF PLANS

The acquisition of stock control by employees will work in this manner. Every six months the bank will ear-mark 40 per cent of its profits for the purchase of stock to be given to the 2200 employees, in addition to the officers throughout the entire organization. Each individual associated with the bank will set aside a definite percentage of their annual salaries, the amount ranging from 3 to 10 per cent. In addition, as a reward for length of service, any employee may contribute 1 per cent for each year of employment. This

THREE FLYERS KILLED, ONE HURT IN PLANE CRASHES

Fifth Escapes in Parachute When Machines Collide at Coronado; Other Wreck at Glendale

Death rode the air in Southern California yesterday while the country was in exultation over the flying triumphs of the dirigibles Shenandoah and ZR-3. Three airplane flyers lost their lives, another was hurt, a fifth escaped injury by taking to his parachute. One accident occurred at Glendale and the other at Coronado. Three planes were destroyed. One victim was burned to death. The victims were in the Naval Air Service.

The dead are:

GRATTAN C. DICHMAN, pilot, lieutenant-commander, Naval Air Service, killed at Glendale.

MERRITT J. FLANDERS, ensign United States naval transport Vega, killed at Coronado.

ROBERT H. KERR, pilot, aviation, chief rigger, killed at Coronado.

The injured man is Joseph Frosio, chief machinist's mate, with Dichman.

William Cole, a chief gunner's mate, lone pilot of one plane at Coronado, escaped injury when he leaped from his falling plane and glided to safety in his parachute. Flanders and Kerr apparently were unable to extricate themselves from their plane and use the parachutes with which the machines were equipped.

CRASH IN MIDAIR

The accident to the flyers in Coronado occurred when the two planes collided in midair.

The accident to the flyers in Glendale occurred when the rising plane crashed into the airport hangar.

Dichman and Frosio, with flyers in two other planes, were said by some to have come to Los Angeles as a part of the Shenandoah's escort and by others to have been engaged in cross-country flying inspecting airports. The three planes stopped at the Glendale airport and made minor repairs to one of the planes which then took off. Dichman was commander of the squadron and took off next. He crashed into the top of the hangar and hurtled to the top of a pump pump shed, where his plane collapsed and burst into flames. Frosio escaped with a cut and bruised face, but Dichman was entangled in the burning wreckage and soon was burned to death.

The plane in which Kerr and Flanders were riding collided with the one which Cole was piloting while the three were about 1000 feet over Coronado and plunged downward like stricken birds. They crashed to earth several hundred feet apart, Kerr's plane falling in the yard of Walter Keck, Alameda avenue, Coronado, and tearing off a part of the sun porch of Keck's home. Cole's machine landed on the polo field of the Coronado Country Club. Kerr's plane crashed with such force that it was buried nearly three feet in the ground. It was necessary to dig around the wreck to rescue the bodies.

IMPACT TERRIFIC

So terrific was the impact that residents of Coronado said they heard the crash and many of the persons who invariably watch the government planes in their daily evolutions saw the planes as they dropped like plummets. Pieces of the wrecked machines were picked up a considerable distance from where they came to earth.

A board of inquiry was immediately summoned by Capt. Thomas T. Craven, commandant of the naval air station.

Cole, although dazed from his experience and suffering from shock, was able to relate clearly the cause of the crash. He said the Vought plane piloted by Kerr and traveling nearly two miles a minute, dived out of a cloud hole and struck his machine before either pilot had a chance to steer off. The long wing of Kerr's plane was torn off, putting it completely out of control. Cole said the wrecked plane immediately plunged down, gaining so much speed that it was impossible for

POOL ROOM EXPERT IS SENT AWAY

Veteran Police Investigator and Twelve Other Officers Are Transferred

Another important police change came to light last night when it was learned that Sergeant Tom Graham, for fourteen years investigator for the Chief's office and for the Police Commission, has been transferred from the headquarters and is now checking property slips at the University Police Station.

Graham has been at work at the University Station since last Tuesday morning but it was not till late yesterday that announcement of his transfer and the transfer of a dozen additional officers was made at the office of Second Deputy Chief of Police Jackson. No comment was made by Chief Heath.

Graham was in charge of all investigations for the Chief's office and for the Police Commission in matters bearing on applications for dance licenses, pool room permits and matters of that type. His position was an important one as all applications for permits granted by the Police Commission are first referred to the Chief of Police for investigation.

He will be in active charge of the membership campaign which will be a club affair with no promotion or profit-making phases.

The offices of the club will be consolidated with headquarters at 206 Hillstreet Building. Improvements planned will involve an outlay of more than $250,000.

R. T. Burge, game hunter, who has just returned from the jungles of Africa, has offered to land El Caballero some of his trophies. They will be placed in the clubhouse.

An instructed jury in Judge Collier's department of Superior Court yesterday found T. S. Tanabe and F. K. Kimoto not guilty of the murder of Katsumi Igarashi and M. Yoshioko, asserted Japanese gamblers found shot to death on June 19, last.

The court instructed the jury to find the two men not guilty after declaring that the prosecution's principal witness had been fairly impeached and that the revolver used in the killing had been identified as belonging to a friend of this witness and not to either of the defendants.

LOVE SUITS KEEP MAN BUSY

Erickson Hears Wife Given Annulment and Hurries to Trial of Woman's Case Against Him

Peter B. Erickson had a busy day in Superior Court yesterday. To start with he appeared in Judge Stephens's court at the trial of the annulment suit of his wife, Mary A. Erickson, who declared he deceived her as to his character.

Mrs. Erickson said she sued because Erickson had been sued for breach of promise by Mrs. Nettie Schroeder. Mrs. Schroeder asks $25,000 damages.

After Judge Stephens had granted Mrs. Erickson the annulment, Erickson hurried to the court of Judge J. Walton Wood where Mrs. Schroeder's suit was to be tried. It was only a short distance away and he made it in ample time.

Mrs. Schroeder reiterated her statement of the previous day that there was nothing improper in her relations with Erickson at the time they were arrested in a local hotel on a charge of violating the rooming-house ordinance. Erickson corroborated her testimony but was halted by Judge Wood, who warned him he might be cited for perjury.

It developed yesterday that Mrs. Schroeder has married since she filed the heart balm action. Her name is now Sims, she said.

"Did you get a better man than Erickson?" Judge Wood asked her.

"I sure did," she said.

"Well," Judge Wood returned, "it may be hard for you to get damages if you are so much better off than you would have been."

The breach of promise case will be resumed today.

Today is one of the times when I would give anything to have the pen of a Victor Hugo to describe KHJ as the giant dirigible, the Shenandoah, of the United States Navy, shining in the sun like some powerful being from another world, passed over the city with her escort of twelve planes flying around her. Something in your throat choked you as it came so near that the words "United States Navy" could be plainly seen. The roofs of the buildings were black with people as the scream of The Times siren announced another epoch-making scene.

The other picture I would give you was the operator's room of our studio. Promising to be very quiet, three of us girls were allowed to stay in the room with the operators and Uncle John while we "picked up" the Shenandoah, talked to her and broadcast Admiral Moffett's speech as she proceeded on her journey. Nothing for quite a long while has ever so impressed me as the standing breathless in the little operating room and watching the tense face of our chief operator as he turned bottons and dials with the practiced surety of a great artist on his instrument until into the stillness came the first word of the Admiral's voice!

When you write in some letters of thanks for the joys given you by KHJ do not forget the man whose clever hands turn the operating room into a magician's tower, Roy Cronkhite, the head operator at KHJ, successfully accomplished the demonstration of "picking up" a station of comparatively small power and under our own antenna sending it out to you as perfectly as though Admiral Maffett were in your home.

HUNGARIANS HOLD SWAY

We know the Martin Music Company, which is one of our favorite godmothers, will forgive us for this little outburst regarding the Shenandoah before commenting on the splendid program which they gave us last evening. The artists included Calmon Luboviski, violinist; Joseph Heindl, 'cellist; Ruth Pitts, soprano, and John Martin, president of the Martin Music Company.

I might make a confession, as long as I am feeling rather personal today, and tell my family how difficult it sometimes is to say new things about the splendid artists with whom I am associated from day to day. The principle thought which struck me forcibly last evening was the interest which John Martin takes in the programs which his company presents to you. We are so used in this modern age to presidents of organizations hiding behind mahogany desks and several discreet secretaries that it is particularly interesting to be brought in contact with the head of a musical house who plays himself and truly appreciates the art he serves. Whenever I appear on one of these programs, the atmosphere which surrounds Mr. Martin always makes a strong appeal to me.

The appearance of Calmon Luboviski is always assurance that the dial of the radio will never be turned from KHJ until the last note of the program is over. Hungarian music was a specialty last night and the ardent flaming temperament of Mr. Luboviski has never seemed more glorious than when he played Sarasate's "Zigeunerweisen." The flare of the gypay campfires and their wild songs flowed from under his fingers like the colors on a Rembrandt canvas. In striking contrast to this was his playing of a Mozart Sonata, with its remoteness from all primitive emotion and soul turmoil. Only an artist of the caliber of a Heifitz or a Kreisler can play a Mozart melody with the same serenity and limpidity of tone with which Mr. Luboviski imbued his reading of last night.

Joseph Heindl is a good friend of ours and a serious musician. He added to the atmosphere of Hungary by a group of 'cello solos including a Brahms Hungarian dance, and his share of the program aroused much favorable comment.

STADIUM DEDICATION

Ruth Pitts, coloratura soprano, whose lovely voice is one of the high lights of the Martin Music Company's programs, sang several familiar songs such as "Carmena," "Vale" and "Just That One Hour," investing them with the warmth of her personality and truly fine vocal production.

Mr. Luboviski, Joseph Heindl and myself received a great deal of enjoyment from playing three or four trio numbers which radioland seemed to take pleasure in. John Martin, accompanied Miss Pitts at the Gulbransen Registering Piano, also playing several solos.

The noon program brought the weekly visit of Coy Barkley and his Palace Ballroom Orchestra from Ocean Park. As a matter of course, their mascot, "Shorty" Brandenburg, came with them, and another guest singer, Mrs. Mabel Fay. They gave an hour of fascinating dance music which brought our minds back from the Shenandoah to the familiar delight of fox-trotting to their music. We wish to announce that next Thursday night at 11 p.m. our radio family should plan Welsh rarebit suppers to be followed by dancing, as Coy Barkley and his orchestra will give a special midnight program.

The children's hour brought Catherine Hyatt, 8-year-old pianist and a pupil of Ethel Sanborn, and Gerda Van Sanden, 12-year-old singer, both of whom proved to be talented youngsters. Two pupils of Carter Weaver, whom we always enjoy were with us, Henrietta Poland, 5 years of age, and Francis Earnest, 6. We are repeatedly surprised at the success which Mr. Weaver attains with baby minds just beginning to visualize. Harold Swartz of the Otis Institute gave his weekly talk on art. In some Sunday edition we hope to persuade Mr. Swartz to give us his views on getting across education in his work.

Be sure to listen-in at 7 p.m. tonight, as Dr. Edmund J. James, president emeritus of the University of Illinois, will for the first time in history dedicate a great stadium through the medium of radio. The new stadium of Illinois is one of the finest in the country and has been built to the memory of the young men who died in France.

The PENINSULA at Balboa

Next Summer's Homes are Now Being Built

HAMMERS are ringing, saws are buzzing, workmen are busy, on the PENINSULA at Balboa!

The dreams of many families are being materialized today for next summer's happiness. The call of surf, of clean sandy beach, of aquaplaning, of canoeing, has inspired the supreme expectation for next summer. Beach homes are now being built in this "front yard of happiness."

On the narrow neck of land at Balboa that forms the Peninsula, homes are being built, architecturally restricted, socially restricted by its geography. Permanent concrete boulevards, electrically lighted, stretch its entire length.

Come visit the PENINSULA. There is time to plan your cottage for next summer!

Wife Avers She Was Only 'Blind' for Bootlegger

"I was simply a bootlegger's bride," Mrs. Edna M. Cox, youthful and attractive, told Judge Thompson yesterday, as an introduction to her tale of marital misfortune with Allan A. Cox, from whom she was seeking a divorce.

"He told me he married me just for a blind to his liquor-selling operations," she continued.

"In other words, you put the blind in his blind pig," Judge Thompson suggested.

"Yes, something like that," Mrs. Cox agreed. We only lived together about six weeks after our marriage last summer. I found out he was selling liquor and made a fuss about it. He told me to mind my own business and that he would take care of the bootlegging.

"A few days later he was arrested, and the bottom dropped out of his business. He left me right away.

"I don't need you any more now," he said. "You see his business had got to the point where he needed a place to work it from, and he figured that a wife in the house would make it look respectable. That's why he married me."

"You may now call yourself a bootlegger's widow," Judge Thompson remarked as he entered a decree of divorce for her.

CO-WORKERS HONOR DETECTIVE HICKOK

Assistant Captain of Detectives Hickok, head of the auto-theft detail of the police department, was presented with a beautifully engraved gold fountain men and pencil by the nineteen members of his unit yesterday. The gift marked Capt. Hickok's completion of his first year at the head of the automobile-theft squad.

either the pilot or the ensign to leap.

CATCHES FIRE

Both planes were of the land type and were a part of the equipment at the Naval Air Station on North Island. Cole's machine caught fire when it landed but the blaze was soon extinguished. Fragments of the airplanes were picked up in the flower garden of the Luther Kennett home, which is several hundred yards from the spot where the machine in which Kern and Flanders met their death was found.

Capt. Thomas Craven, commandant of the North Island naval air station, praised the heroic conduct of Cole in walking out on his smashed and falling ship and then diving overboard trusting to his parachute.

Ensign Flanders was not a flyer, it was said, but had gone on the flight as a pleasure trip. It is not known whether the second plane, piloted by Cole, was on official duty at the time.

The bodies of the dead men are being held by naval authorities on North Island awaiting advices from relatives.

"It was a sickening sensation as I saw Kerr's plane swoop down upon me like a flash," Cole said. "There wasn't a chance in the world of avoiding the collision. Kerr, soaring above a bank of clouds, dived through a hole at the exact moment that I came flying by. I instantly realized a crash was inevitable. As soon as I could collect my senses I jumped out of the cockpit, walked out on a wing and leaped. I fell several hundred feet before my parachute opened."

HELD UNAVOIDABLE

Officers at North Island were unanimously of the opinion that the accident was unavoidable. Kerr was regarded as one of the most expert flyers at the field. During the war he was commissioned a lieutenant and had charge of an aviation base at North Sidney, near Halifax. He reverted to his noncommissioned rank after the war.

Ensign Flanders, who aspired to become al aviator, was appointed to Annapolis from Georgia, his native State, in 1918, and graduated two years ago. He was unmarried.

Kerr, who lived in San Diego, leaves a widow and three boys, the eldest of whom is 9 years of age. This morning he piloted Capt. Craven on a flight to observe the departure of the Navy dirigible Shenandoah and he was often in demand as a pilot when persons of prominence requested an airplane ride.

FLAMES HALT RESCUE

Ralph E. Dodsworth, a captain of the Glendale fire department, which was called to the scene of the accident at the airport there, said Dichman was taking off from rough ground and apparently tried to rise too soon in order to avoid electric wires some distance away from that part of the field. Dodsworth's theory is that the tail of the machine struck some obstruction on the rough ground just as the machine was rising and that this threw the plane over to the hangar, ripping off a part of the roof and then turning over completely and falling on the pump shed of a part of the Glendale water works.

"Within a few seconds," said H. G. Hosford of Glendale, one of the four eyewitnesses of the accident, "the flames were shooting fifty feet in the air. We ran over and got hold of the tail of the plane and moved it around till the mechanic, Frosio, crawled out. Then we tried to rescue the pilot, but he evidently was knocked unconscious by the fall, and no one could get near enough to the fire to help him. I suppose he must have been dead by then, anyhow."

ACCIDENTS BEFORE

A call had been sent to the Glendale fire department and a hose was stretched from San Fernando Road across the Southern Pacific tracks to the airport. A stream of water was played on the still-burning plane and it was not until then that Dichman's burned body could be taken out.

Frosio was taken in an automobile to the Glendale Research Hospital, where it was found he had minor burns and bruises, from which no serious results are expected. The body of the dead commander was sent to the L. G. Scovern undertaking rooms.

In the last six months there have been many airplane crashes at the Glendale field, due to power wires across the south side, which make both taking off and landing difficult. The wires, however, had nothing to do with yesterday's accident.

Wife Prefers Jail Term to Return Home

Mrs. Margaret Macklin, 25 years of age, appeared before Police Judge Pope yesterday and chose to serve the balance of a thirty-day sentence rather than return to her husband, Lieut. T. S. Macklin of the United States minesweeper Tern.

Mrs. Macklin was convicted a week ago of a violation of the morals code, and Police Judge Pope said he would give her a week in jail to make up her mind whether she would prefer a jail sentence to decorous domestic life.

"I'll take the jail, Judge," she said on her appearance yesterday, though she had in her hand a telegram from her husband urging her to return and promising to forgive everything.

Lieut. Macklin appeared at the trial and testified he had married his wife to reform her, but that he had failed.

As Mrs. Macklin was in jail several days before her trial, she already has served about half of her sentence. She is said to be a college graduate and daughter of a judge of the Mississippi courts.

amount invested by the company will be added to the bank's contribution from profits and the total will be applied on stock purchase.

The bank's present extra compensation plan, involving the distribution to employees of $250,000 annually will not be affected by the new arrangement, except that extra compensation may be used as an addition to the stock-purchase fund.

Reviewing the growth of the Bank of Italy during its twenty years of existence discloses remarkable progress. Its resources now total about $350,000,000, which compares favorably with the six largest banks in this respect in the United States. In point of capital and surplus, the bank shows a total of $25,500,000, the largest west of Chicago.

In its short life, the assets of the bank have multiplied more than 1000 times. Deposits are close to $315,000,000 and loans and investments aggregate nearly $300,000,000. It leads all other banks in the country in the number of depositors, having more than 500,000. The system owns eighty-six banking offices located in fifty-eight cities.

Other changes in the official personnel resulting from the election of Mr. Baciagalupi and the partial retirement of Mr. Giannini include the advancement of L. M. Giannini, assistant to the president, to the vice-chairmanship of the board of directors, and the presidency of the Stockholders' Auxiliary Corporation. A. J. Mount, who has been vice-president and cashier, now becomes senior vice-president, and W. E. Blauer assumes the office of vice-president and cashier. L. Scatena remains as chairman of the board of directors.

FILM MEN YEARN FOR AIR TRAVEL

Trip to New York and Back by Rail is Declared Burden to Executives

Hollywood will become more firmly established as the film capital of the universe as soon as airplane passenger transportation across the continent is developed, yesterday declared George Melford, picture producer at the Famous Players-Lasky studio. The complaint of executives now is that the point of production is too far from the business offices.

"Five days from New York to Los Angeles and five days to return means a loss of ten days to the president of a producing organization when he wishes to inspect his Hollywood studios," he said. "This is a terrific handicap to Hollywood. The executives must remain in the East near the money markets, and near the point of greatest distribution.

"But when an executive can have his dinner in New York and eat breakfast the next day in Los Angeles, and the next few years of airplane development may bring that about, Hollywood's biggest obstacle will have been overcome.

"Los Angeles should lend every possible aid to airplane development also, in preparation for airplane tourist travel. Airplane mail is of great value to motion pictures. Where heretofore it required six or seven days to send a film negative east, now it can be done in two days."

Junior Club of Museum to Give Contest Party

The Junior Club of the Southwestern Museum will give an opening reception tomorrow afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock for the children wishing to enter the letter contest now being conducted by the museum and which is open to any boy or girl who is interested in taking part. The sum of $50 in cash prizes is being offered for the three best letters written on the exhibits in the museum.

The conditions of the contest permit every boy and girl up to 14 years of age to participate and there are no charges in connection with the letter contest, but all boys and girls taking part are requested to register at the museum in person, if living in the city, or by mail, if outside the city.

Wilfird Shults, Walter Hofer, Ruth Gard and Elizabeth Whitlock, officers and members of the Junior Club, will assist visitors in registering tomorrow afternoon.

The program will consist of a talk by Dr. Herbert E. House, on the "Children of China and Their Play," illustrated with museum exhibits; Evelyn Adams will give two folk dances; pupils of the Carter Weaver Studio of the Drama will present a series of readings, including "What Tommy Dislikes." Miss Florence Robertson, children's librarian of the Arroyo Seco branch library, will tell several stories. A feature motion picture and refreshments will conclude the entertainment. This will be an open afternoon for parents and their children. Lincoln Dean will be the host of the afternoon and outline the conditions of the contest.

ACTRESS SEEKS WRIT

Mary Land Sues to Stop Use of Her Name by Newcomer

Mary Ganter, known on the screen as Mary Land, yesterday asked the Superior Court to restrain "Jane Doe," an actress, from using the name of Mary Land in connection with any of the defendant's work on the screen.

Miss Ganter stated she had used the name of Mary Land on the stage and screen for several years, while the defendant, according to her petition, is comparatively a newcomer in the land of shadows. Miss Ganter also asked $10,000 damages.

WOMAN IN CHECK ARREST

A young woman, who gave her name as Ann Leverett and her age as 26 years, was arrested early yesterday by Detective Lieutenant Kallmeyer of the Hollywood Police detective bureau on a charge of passing bad checks. Police say she passed checks totaling more than $400 in Hollywood and Los Angeles in payment for clothes.

YOUTH GETS HASTY MARRIAGE ANNULED

When Lester Meredith Ensley married Elizabeth F. Ensley after an all-night ride, he had to borrow $2 from her to pay for the license, he told Judge Summerfield yesterday when he sought annulment of the marriage. He asked that the marriage be set aside because he was under age and had contracted it without his parents' consent. "I have to annul this marriage because it is the law," Judge Summerfield remarked. "But, young man, you had better realize that your perjured yourself in obtaining a license. That is an offense for which you could be severely punished."

"She said she couldn't go home," young Ensley explained. "We had been riding all night. I had only known her five or six days."

passed beyond the experimental stage and have innumerable times demonstrated their greater economy, as compared with any other form of hoisting.

"Undercutting machines are used only in coal mines, but there very extensively. The purpose of the machine is to cut a very thin channel across the bottom of the coal face."

"Electricity's Contribution to the Steel Industry" was the subject of K. A. Pauly, of the General Electric Company. He gave a brief outline of the processes involved in the production of steel and the part electricity takes in the production.

J. H. Wright, another prominent engineer from the General Electric Company, who came to Pasadena from Portland, Or., spoke on "Electric Power Application in Pacific Northwest Fir Mills." He told of the logging, sawmilling, hoisting, finishing plants, edgers, slashers and trimmers which are operated electrically.

Another important address of especial interest to Southern California ranchers was given by R. H. Gates, engineer of the Southern California Edison Company, who talked on "Electrical Applications to Irrigation Pumping."

"Electrical Equipment in Smelting Plants," by R. N. Lockyer, assistant superintendent of the West Kootenay Power and Light Company, Bonnington Falls, B. C., and "Electrometallurgical Applications," by J. L. McK. Yardley, general engineer, Westinghouse Electrical Manufacturing Company, were the final two papers read at today's convention.

VISIT OBSERVATORY

At a late hour this afternoon the visiting engineers left Pasadena for Mt. Wilson, where they were entertained at the famous Solar Observatory by the scientists in charge.

The California Institute of Technology was honored yesterday. Both afternoon and evening sessions being held at the institution, a dinner served at night and the program completed with an address by Dr. Robert A. Millikan, executive head of the school. Experiments were performed at the institution with the 1,000,000-volt transformer and other pieces of electrical apparatus.

Dr. Millikan addressed the convention on the subject "The Orbit of a Stripped Atom, or the Astronomy of Atoms." It was for his work in this connection that Dr. Millikan was awarded the Nobel prize for physics.

"The world has just entered a period called atomic mechanics," he said, "and it is similar to the period of celestial mechanics which began years ago and occupied two centuries. Atomic mechanics assumes all the laws of celestial mechanics, but it adds certain new laws which have been discovered during the last few years.

"The most important of these is the law direly forseen by Plank in 1900, and Einstein in 1905, and made use of by Bohr in the theory of spectra lines, and just given direct experimental proof in the photoelectric experiments for which the Nobel prize was awarded this last year. It reveals a relation between the electronic energy existing in an atom and ether waves while they are being absorbed by that atom.

"This law states simply that the energy of the atom before it emits the ether waves, minus the energy after emission is equal to a constant times the frequency of the ether waves emitted. With the aid of this equation the physicist can now predicts just what frequency is going to be emitted by a given atom because of the jumping of an electron from one orbit to another, if he can compute the energy corresponding to each orbit.

"One of the most recent advances which have been made at the Norman Bridge Laboratory was presented by Dr. I. S. Bowen to this convention. Dr. Bowen, with the aid of a high potential discharge in a very high vacua between electrodes only a millemeter or so apart, succeeded in stripping valance electrons off from a long series of light atoms thus reducing these atoms to similar atomic structures the radiation of which should have been given off, all of which could be accurately predicted with the laws of atomic mechanics before mentioned.

STRIPPED ATOMS

"The stripped atoms, the radiation from which had thus been predicted, were then found exactly in the predicted spots or places by the spectroscope. For instance, two series of atoms were taken, one series being sodium magnesium, aluminum, silicon, phosphorus, sulphur and chlorine. Seven electrons were stripped off the chlorine atom, six from the sulphur atom, five from phosphorus, four from silicon, three from aluminum, two from magnesium and one from sodium."

The experiments were made, Dr. Millikan declared, to show the truth of his former statement that the spectroscope in the hands of a modern physicist was revealing to the world some of the characteristics of the orbits of electron inside of atoms with the same certainty the telescope in the hands of an astronomer revealed the characteristics of the planets in the solar system.

The wonders of the 1,000,000-volt cascade transformer recently installed at the California Institute of Technology were revealed to the visiting engineers by Dr. Royal W. Sorensen, professor of Electrical Engineering at the Pasadena institution, who planned and built the mammoth apparatus. The transformer is the only one of its kind and is one of the most powerful generating apparatuses in use today.

High voltage power transmission began in California, Dr. Sorensen declared, and he gave this State all credit for pioneering in this important angle of electrical development.

"The laboratory is of interest because it will be used by Dr. Millikan and his associates for work carried on by them in determining the structure of matter and other problems in physics, as well as for engineering problems," Dr. Sorensen added.

NOT TO THE NOISY

There are always pretty good claimers in the political field, but victory does not necessarily belong to the best or loudest claimer. As the race is not always to the swift, neither is the triumph ever to the noisy.

THE SAFETY VALVE

When the Klan gets excited about anything it puts on its nightshirt and goes out and burns up a wooden cross. If it sticks to that as a safety valve no great harm is done. It is when it uses the rope or the rail that the Klan is lawless and nasty.

DOMESTIC TANGLES

Another court tangle grows out of the fact that a husband has for years been in the habit of charging the wife rent for the quarters she occupied in the family home. Until quite recently she had been able to meet this charge without much trouble, but she now finds herself in somewhat straitened circumstances and unable to make the payments. Now the husband sues for his money and the wife finds that she has been overcharged. In fact there are a lot of dames in the world who pay their husbands no rent at all. Also it seems that there are some husbands who are willing to pay a little on their own account for the joy of having a wee wife in the home. This particular woman believes she has been bunkoed by her own spouse and it may take the Supreme Court to decide. Does a wife really have to pay rent in her husband's home?

ICE AND DIRT

Much of the water supply of Chinese cities comes from shallow and dirty wells and small streams that rise in swamps. For generations most of the people have boiled the water before using it and have thereby made it safe and wholesome. Now, however, the Chinese are taking to the use of American iced drinks and are losing the old landmarks. When they drank their water and tea both hot they were perfectly safe. Now they are handling dirty ice in glasses that are not overly clean, in the midst of swarming flies. It is not that the American drinks are dangerous or unclean, but the surroundings invite germs and infection. They could boil their water, but they cannot warm the ice. And they do not always realize that the germ-laden ice, if used at all, should be outside of the tea and soda and not in it. The Chinese will have to get their ice from boiled and distilled water if they would live long and prosper. It really takes a trained American stomach to get away with some of the chilled concoctions which we have found refreshing.

THE GERMAN BONDS

It should stimulate the pride and courage of Germany quite a bit to realize that the financiers and business men of the world consider German bonds as first-class securities. The issue just offered was all taken within ten minutes of its opening—in fact, so far as the share of America is concerned, it was five times oversubscribed on the first day. The bonds that were offered at 92 could have been floated at par. The fact that Germany has stopped the presses that were printing debased money and that the government has indicated a purpose to get back to honest finance has restored a semblance of credit. The world is disposed to help Germany if she will help herself in legitimate and proper channels. In America this disposition amounts to an eagerness. Germany accepts the conditions of the Dawes report and that knowledge restores the nation to its place in the financial world. Germany possesses wonderful recuperative powers and her manufactures will once more impress civilization with their scope and extent. If the Germans do not strain their world credit to the breaking point they will go far.

THE YELLOW METAL

One of the big financial corporations admits that Uncle Sam has more gold than he should either carry or keep in the house. The bulletin of one of the great trust companies says that we not only have too much gold for our own good, but for the rest of the world. We have more than we need, while other nations have much less than they need. It would be beneficial for all parties if some of our huge surplus of the yellow metal could flow back to Europe through the orderly processes of trade. The vaults of the treasury and of the national banks are almost cluttered up with gold. It makes it easier to borrow money and it keeps interest rates down. But it invites speculation and that may not be so advantageous, after all. We cannot ship our gold to Europe, for that would mean merely a loan to be repaid with interest in more gold. The exchange to be of any ultimate benefit to the world must happen in the course of natural trade. For the benefit of Europe the balances of trade are on the wrong side of the ocean. Yet our own industries would not readily consent to the transposition. That wouldn't be human nature. The gold problem of the world will have to adjust itself under straight commercial conditions, with such assistance as experts and governments can furnish. But it will be difficult to stabilize foreign moneys at their old-time standards until the yellow metal is flowing back and forth through natural business channels.

OUR MALIGNED JUDICIARY

President Coolidge's stout championship of our Federal Constitution against the malignant attacks of La Follette and his followers is receiving commendation from the most substantial and deliberative nonpartisan elements of the country. The Saturday Evening Post, a journal of wide circulation whose editorials, always well written, never reveal the slightest political bias, does not hesitate to join in sounding the alarm against La Follette and his onslaughts upon the Supreme Court and the Constitution of the United States.

Regardless of the opinions of those of its unthinking readers who may be lending their support to the campaign of the Wisconsin aspirant to the White House, the Post heartily commends the ringing words of the President in his Baltimore speech in which he declared that a deliberate and determined effort is being made to break down the guaranties of our fundamental law, with the ulterior purpose of the confiscation of property and the destruction of liberty. In the leading editorial in its current issue the Post says:

> Disgruntled reformers, radical agitators and framers of jerry-built legislation sorely resent the limitations imposed upon Congress by the Constitution, and they are always ready to vent their wrath upon the Supreme Court when that body of interpreters and guardians of the Constitution defends it from their encroachments. So bent are they upon having their own way, right or wrong, so little care they for the liberties of the people as a whole, that they would gladly tear down the whole fabric of our rights as citizens for the sake of making into binding law a few unsound measures they have fathered and others they would like to father should it ever become possible to override the fundamental law of the land.

The editorial goes on to point out that the Constitution guarantees to every citizen more than a score of fundamental rights, and the Supreme Court is ever ready to see to it that the government's covenant is carried out to the letter and that no private person or law officer or legislator or corporation or inferior court infringes those rights with impunity.

And it adds, very truly, that the enemies of the Supreme Court would sweep away the mighty defenses that hedge the liberties of their fellow-citizens by giving Congress the power to invade all our basic rights at will and to exercise such oppressive powers as allowing accused persons to be put twice in jeopardy of life, enacting ex post facto laws, requiring accused persons in criminal cases to testify against themselves, denying the right of peaceable assembly, abridging freedom of speech and of the press and setting up religious tests as a qualification for holding public office, while it is within the possibilities of such a scheme of things that citizens might be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law.

In conclusion the Post repeats the President's warning that "the time to stop those who would loosen and weaken the fabric of our government is before they begin—the time for Americans to range themselves firmly, squarely and uncompromisingly behind American ideals is now."

The Times heartily commends to its readers this scathing arraignment of the enemies of the Constitution by the Post. It is the more authoritative because of its high purpose, which is too patriotic to admit of the slightest hint of partisanship.

As for the anarchistic idea of La Follette to "put the ax to the root of judicial usurpation" by overriding Supreme Court decisions by acts of Congress, no one need to think for a moment that this is what Daniel Webster had in mind when he said, "Liberty exists in proportion to wholesome restraint;" for this proposed Congressional restraint, by its very nature, would be anything but wholesome. Under the Constitution there can be no such thing as judicial usurpation. Judges merely interpret and apply the points of existing laws to the cases which they are called upon to decide. They can make no new laws.

Every student of civics knows that, so far as the amendment or enforcement of any of the various sections of the Constitution are concerned, Congress already has all the power with which it may safely be intrusted. By "appropriate legislation," adopted by a two-thirds vote and ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States, it may amend any of its articles. And when La Follette says that "it would require a dozen constitutional amendments to correct the evils of the decisions which the Supreme Court has handed down within the past three or four years" he wholly overlooks the fact that just because these decisions did not happen to please certain cliques of agitators there would be any valid reason for reversing them.

The Constitution was not designed to please all classes of people in or out of jail. Its criminal provisions were enacted to punish the lawless, among whom are not a few of those who are applauding La Follette's fulminations against "judicial usurpation" and his efforts to create in Congress a far greater usurpation than any ever dreamed of by our judiciary.

These people, as the Post truly says, are bent upon having their own way, right or wrong; but it remains to be seen, in the untoward event of their having their own way, whether, in the condition of chaos that naturally would ensue, they would not soon be lamenting the fact that they had no high tribunal to stand between them and their oppressors.

In other words, they fail to prevision the results of that worst of all oppression—anarchy.

BY TRICK AND DEVICE

The world hates a hypocrite and mankind instinctively abhors venality. It is thus fitting that the great vehemence with which the La Follette managers in California denounced action by the State Supreme Court barring the independent La Follette electors from the ballot should now serve to emphasize attention upon a discovery that the whole La Follette plan was based on duplicity and a deliberate and flagrant abuse of public confidence.

But for the fact that the County Clerk of Marin county grew restive under the undeserved criticism and abuse heaped upon him by the La Follette tricksters and the Hearst newspapers, the truth, while guessed at, might never have become known.

Throughout California and the nation the La Follette propaganda department has broadcast a wall of indignation at the "refusal" of R. E. Graham, County Clerk of Marin county, to give the La Follette independent electors a place on the ballot. The subsequent action of the State Supreme Court in determining that the law does not permit independent electors to go on the ballot has, likewise, resulted in nation-wide denunciation.

Graham has been pilloried as an upstart, as "a petty official without common sense" and otherwise subjected to humiliating attack.

Growing tired of the clamor, he has published the facts.

He "refused" to place the electors on the ballot because the La Follette managers requested him to do so. Except for this request, he says, he would not have raised the legal question of La Follette's right to file an independent ticket and the independent electors, not being challenged either by the Republican or Democratic organizations, undoubtedly would have been certified.

A request that he reject the La Follette electoral ticket was formally made to him by the man who presented the names, Nathan Moran, attorney for the La Follette group.

It may be logically assumed that Moran, knowing the law, understood the probable action of the court. It may be further logically assumed that the La Follette "frame-up" was then devised solely for the purpose of obtaining publicity, throwing mud at the Supreme Court and creating a misapprehension in the public mind that might be turned to the advantage of the tricksters who devised the scheme.

Undoubtedly, thousands of persons have been hoodwinked by this charlatanism and, while Graham unwittingly contributed to the scheme by extending a privilege not strictly in accord with the duties of his office, he is to be commended for exposing the fraud.

COLLEGE DOORS

Opening college doors are this fall being besieged by students as never before. This is an indication of national prosperity and a mark of progress and growth; but it nevertheless presents a problem to the colleges.

The problem is not solely one of housing accommodations or facilities for instruction. There is a growing question as to how far our institutions of learning can go in the expansion of student population with the best result to the student.

Entrance requirements have been generally stiffened; and there is an increasing restraint upon the number entering. Definite limitation of the size of the freshman class is fixed at 1000 by Harvard, so decreeing for the first time in its history of nearly 300 years. Yale at the same time makes the move of limiting the number of its freshmen to 850, though nearly twice that number have sought admission.

Selection is the course which is being increasingly adopted by the authorities of the universities; and the institutions so limiting their students are turning away applicants.

Here is a problem, but it is a problem with a promise. For the making of admission a privilege to be won only by the fit will leave no place for the idler or the indifferent. Going to college for the fun of it is not going to be the fun that it once was.

Few want "all work and no play," but a sensible balance won't do a bit of harm. We do not fear that warning about a "dull boy."

LIQUID REFRESHMENTS

American carbonated beverages—such as soda water and its boon companions—are being more largely used abroad. Both England and Japan are patronizing our liquid refreshments extensively and there is a corresponding curtailment of their afternoon tea. Among certain classes in both England and Japan the serving of tea in the afternoon is almost a rite. But it takes time to prepare and is not particularly refreshing on a hot day. An iced soda can be taken aboard quickly and it is found highly palatable. California fruit juices are also gathering fame in the same quarters. Smugglers are bringing a lot of whisky and gin across the water from the British Isles and we are sending them effervescent temperance beverages in return, thus repaying evil with good.

An Old, Old Story

[Copyright, 1924, by Public Ledger Company]

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

"Wipe Your Feet, Peter!"

A Dutch salvage firm is scouring the bottom of the Caribbean Sea looking for a part of the treasure that went to the bottom in the seventeenth century when Piet Hein, admiral of the Dutch fleet, captured eight Spanish galleons loaded with silver and sank five others.

When Piet Hein captured the Spanish "silver fleet" the power of the Dutch Republic had already started on its decline. The news of the admiral's victory, therefore, sent the country into frenzies of enthusiasm. When he arrived at Rotterdam members of the government were on hand to greet him and the aristocracy of Amsterdam and Haarlem in lace and cloth cheered itself hoarse at the sight of the popular young admiral. All Holland was in gala. But when the admiral approached the little cottage in Delftshaven where his mother lived and he rapped on the door there was a voice: "Is that you, Piet?" "Yes, mother." "Then wipe your feet on the mat, my boy. It's a little muddy outside today."

King Acts Like a Man

Paschitch, Prime Minister of Jugo-Slavia and formerly of Serbia, who has survived in office, though his wartime colleagues in France, England and Italy have all been ousted from office, has in him the making of a first-class dictator. In the new kingdom there is a powerful party of Croat peasants and Nationalists. They have asked for an election and hope to increase their representation in the Federal Parliament at Belgrade. Paschitch advised the King to disregard the request of the Croats. This would mean, of course, that he himself would continue in office with greater power than before and that likely with the attributes and characteristics of a dictator. King Alexander refused. It's not often these days that a King dares to be King in reality. Alexander of Jugo-Slavia did it and it counts for his glory. With this courageous refusal to the man who piloted the Serbian state through storm and stress he has gained a greater popularity, especially in the new Croat provinces.

Christianity Disappearing

Monsignor Drouillart, a French bishop, startles the Christian world with his statements about conditions in the Near East. He says Christianity has almost disappeared in Asia Minor countries and has almost wholly been supplanted by Islam. Of the seven churches to whom John on Patmos wrote his seven letters there is little left. With the exception of the Armenian church, which has remained faithful despite terrible persecution, the work of the earliest missionaries, among whom [illegible] apostles, has come to naught.

RIPPLING RHYMES

PUBLICITY

We'll pay our income tax next year with feelings of disgust and fear, for all our names will be displayed, together with the sums we've paid. The list must hang, it's been decreed, where he who runs may deftly read. Then all the gold-brick men, I wist, will gather round to read the list, and copies they will make and file to guide them in their work of guile. And if we're bothered now by sharks who size us up as easy marks, who ring our door bells every day, returning when they're shooed away, who tag behind us everywhere and fill our lives with dole and care, what shall we do in days to come when placards advertise the sum each delegate was made to dig? The future with despair looks big. Promoters then will put on fat and all the skates who pass the hat, and advocates for every cause will greet us with their outstretched paws and spring a horse laugh when we say we cannot spare a groat today. "We know you rich and richer wax, we've hunted up your income tax; the list is tacked to yonder tree where any passerby may see; we know you paid two thousand bones," they say to us in bitter tones; "that represents an income great, so patronize our graft, old skate." Oh, statesmen, by this foolish law, you'll make the nerves of voters raw; tax-paying at its measly best brings sorrow to the payer's breast, and you would give an extra pang to all the tired tax-paying gang.

THIS IS THE DAY

"The Charter of Liberties and Privileges," also known as "Dongan's Charter," was framed by a General Assembly of freeholders of the Province of New York in the year 1683. The assembly was called together by the English Governor and the charter was drawn by Mayor Nicholas Bayard of New York City. For that time it was an unusually liberal charter. King Charles II refused to sign it on the grounds that it was too democratic, but in the year 1686 it was ratified by King James II. The plan and government of the present City of New York are based on this charter.

THE SOLILOQUY OF THE BLIND GIRL

BY J. J. LOWMAN

I only hear things, but I am highly sensitized and my senses are most acute. My days and nights are as one, swinging equally upon the golden balance of time. From the silence of the street I know that the day's work is done and from a nearby tree some night bird dreams forth a bar of liquid music in its sleep. I have an odd trick of catching topics in the air, of knowing dawns and eventide.

I know the sky when the dawn touches it or the stars illumine it or the clouds sweep it.

My radio is my inseparable companion and friend. It is my harp in the light of a moon that has waned. How exquisitely acute the last strains of the nightly calls linger on my ear. Melting into the gloom, throbbing through the dim spaces like golden bubbles, idly wandering through the night, clear and sweet, falls the sound of "Radio K.H.J."

For me there are no dark spaces of earth that love cannot brighten. To me my Radio K.H.J. in this throbbing world of ours is a living thing. To me it has suffered and grown strong, it is soothing, brave and tender.

It has a hand clasp and a promise and a heart of oak, strong and true. To me Radio K.H.J. has been guide and counselor, is patient and long suffering. It brings me the song of the canary and of the meadow larks fluting among the clover heads. My radio takes me to mountain tops and I shout their glory.

I live a varied life, even if the clouds rush into the sky and obscure my sun. My radio brings me the sun and moon to wear and enchanted swans circle over lakes and pools. I wander to and fro over the earth. I meet many people and have found happiness in many ways. My radio has brought me peace, content and happiness. For me there is no blank monotony, for my radio lends a helping hand where the slough of despond is deepest. I have comfort in my heart and walk with all the peoples of the earth conscious that my way is not their way.

There are gates swinging within my life from day to day, letting in rare opportunities that tarry but a moment and are gone.

My radio is more than the mere dazzle of intellectual attainment or greatness of worldly achievement.

Heart rather than head, nature rather than art, romance rather than absolute realism. Radio K.H.J.! Los Angeles, Cal.! My radio is a friend such as God sometimes gives.

My radio's voice permeates and dominates. K.H.J. has created in me things that draw my very soul. Without my radio my life would be a ghastly silence of a songless world.

GOVERNMENT AND BUSINESS

In the development of our complicated civilization the regulatory and supervisory functions of government are properly employed to safeguard to the people their constitutional rights. This principle is admittedly sound, and the functions so exercised should be determined to be just or unjust by the motives and methods which actuate them.

During the stress of war, however, our government entered the field of ownership and operation of industries. Then came the effort led by demagogues to shift the economic problems of certain groups of the citizenry onto the whole body politic.

The very groups who hoped to be so benefited are the ones who are chafing under the resulting burdens of taxation. The clamor of these minority groups has deceived the already self-deluded demagogues to lead them into the thought that this clamor is general. Just as they were in the passage of the soldier bonus the demagogues have been out-demagogued by small minorities. Just as the reaction came from the mass of voters following passage of the soldier bonus, similarly is the reaction coming against this expensive paternalistic experiment of the government in industry. That nation is best governed which is least governed and that people is the best served by its government which is permitted to stand squarely on its own feet without paternalism in the working out of its economic problems, all of which are interdependent. No one wheel in our economic machine can be speeded up or retarded by governmental interference without throwing it all out of gear and ultimately breaking it down.—[Mining Congress Journal.

House Your Wife

A Kentuckian drove to Indianapolis in his automobile to visit relatives. He wished to return by way of Louisville, so he stopped a man on a downtown street and asked where he could find out about roads to Louisville.

"Hoosier Motor Club," came the response.

"I don't belong to any," the Kentuckian replied.—[Indianapolis News.

CARMELO PILGRIMS

I.

From Monterey to Carmel,
All in the fine fall weather,
An ancient and a modern world
Are faring forth together;
The feet of reverend pilgrims beat
To dust the trodden clay
And the mission bells are swinging
To their measured tread today.

II.

Silk shawl and lace mantilla
Resume their ancient reign;
And Old Glory proudly mingles
With the faded flag of Spain;
Our lads once more are gallant
Dons,
Our men are friars gray,
The ghosts of the historic past
Are on the march today.

III.

So the modern world gives answer
That the ancient dreams were true;
And sleeping in his quiet grave
The great Franciscan knew.
From the pine-clad hills of Carmel
To the white surge of the bay
The spirit of the living Christ
Is in the air today.

"MY PRIVILEGE"

MONROVIA, Sept. 17.—To the Editor of The Times:] I came to the United States thirty-five years ago. Three weeks after my arrival I became naturalized. In five years I was an American citizen. I glory in the privilege. I will tell you why. Under our flag there is nothing to hamper a man making the best of his powers. Class privileges do not exist here—nor are they recognised. Everyone has equal opportunity to rise unhampered by the shackles of caste.

Think of it. I am a native Irishman, but lived in England twelve years before coming to America and never had the privilege of voting, though I left Ireland when I was 26 years of age.

We have everything here to make life worth while. Too many people everywhere else but in this country live for the cause of their failure. Here is everything. No handicap can make a life. Anything that deepens, sweetens, enlarges one's life riches human life is wealth. Too many envy the prosperity of others. There are some people that cannot forgive success in their neighbors.

There is perfect freedom in matters of religious belief. Which, for instance, Rupert Hughes's article in the October Cosmopolitan Rupert knows no more about Christianity than a goose knows about geometry; yet his scurrilous attack is published with all its heavy blasphemy and blunders in a magazine. Liberty of speech and the press are confirmed by both Federal Constitution and the Constitution of the various States.

If people are not satisfied with the administration there is the remedy at the polls.

In no country is morality more highly prized and stoutly defended. We have a conscience against crime and all vices that weaken the individual or corrupt the state. Women are held in their proper esteem and the institution of the home is universally everywhere recognised as fundamental. I never brushed my own shoes until coming here. My mother or wife did that work. It is the custom and custom was the unwritten law.

In no other country is the home or house so assuredly acknowledged to be the corner-stone of democracy and liberty. There is nothing to be compared with our school system for all, anywhere.

Then our higher institutions of learning are unrivalled, our public libraries numerous and accessible. How much candy does the former and the La Follettes want for a cent? We are an ingenious people in the realm of inventions. Even France in any way borders on our ingenuity.

We are enterprising in business. We are adventurous in pioneer work.

As I have said, there is a chance for all to rise. Men are only limited by their ability and will power. "A man is like a tack; he never gets as far as his head will let him." If a man wants to get rich he must learn more.

Many of our richest men began on the farm or as office boys. Success depends in our country almost exclusively on native ability, which is rewarded here with prosperity and cheerful recognition and which is rare in other lands. We are a progressive people, always looking for improvements. No wiser American can visit any foreign land without noting innumerable examples of stupid, outgrown and cumbersome methods in industry, commerce or transportation.

Of course, no one is so blind not to see here and there evils to develop which should be remedied. Knowledge, though, is not omniscient nor is legislation, nor, as Patrick Henry well said, is patriotism, nor is the cry for demand for "our rights."

The Christian "right" is to assert my right for a higher right—the right to serve others. Privilege as well as rights should really be gone into our Constitution. There is a passage in the old book that reads: "The priests reported every man against his own house." Men are not raised in the lump. "Convert thyself," said Carlyle, "and there will be one less rascal in the world."

Was it not Browning who said: "The recognition of God in Christ accepted by thy reason, solves for thee all problems in the social sphere and thus far has advanced Christianity be wise."

This is "preachy," but it is wonderfully illuminating to a boy.

All I have written is in justification for this statement: Any propaganda that has for its avowed purpose the overthrowing of our existing society is worthy of condemnation and voting against. The Lusk committee's report (1920) which deals with "Revolutionary and Radical Subversive Methods at Home and Abroad" is worth reading again before the election.

Our democracy is right at the core and you cannot fool all the people all the time. Providence is watching America on the cliffs of time, to be a lighthouse to overthrow the dark sea of life in which so many of our brothers over the world are struggling to reach a haven of freedom, enlightenment and progress.

JAMES KERAN.

IN DARKEST AFRICA

Though we are gasping in the clutches of the octopus, the high cost of living, the economic oligarchy, the injunction judges, oppressed, defrauded and enchained, let us rejoice in the midst of our misery, for our savings deposits are now more than $15,000,000,000, which is more than half of all our bank deposits and almost equal to our total savings and individual deposits in 1913. This means that, in the past ten years of our slavery, the savings population has increased 50 per cent, individual deposits have increased 85 per cent and savings are now over $20,000,000,000.

Or, as Senator La Follette, our socialist allies would say, we are slaves, and strike. You have nothing to lose, but your bank and savings accounts.—[Chicago Tribune.

CUSTODY CASE OFFERS TANGLE

Courts of Two States and Air Mail Service Involved

Judge Denies Habeas Corpus Writ Asked by Father

Tells Mother to Keep Sons Until Case Settled

Two Superior Court judges, several lawyers, the divorce code of California, and the Constitution of the United States, and the Air Mail Service are all tangled up together in a web of litigation in the Los Angeles county courts over two small boys.

The boys are the children of Mrs. Eva M. Shaffer and Harry C. Hayward. Mrs. Shaffer obtained a divorce from Hayward several years ago in a Kansas City (Mo.) court. The decree awarded custody of the boys to their father. Then both remarried. Mrs. Shaffer later went to Kansas City and persuaded her former husband's mother, with whom the boys were living, to let her bring them to California with her.

CHARGES KIDNAPING

Recently Hayward came to Los Angeles and started several legal actions. He asked for a writ of habeas corpus and he made a charge of kidnaping. Mrs. Shaffer in the meantime had petitioned the Superior Court for an order giving her custody of the children.

The writ of habeas corpus came up before Judge Archbald who, when he heard that Judge Guerin was about to hear proceedings in Mrs. Shaffer's suit for custody, declined to have anything to do with the case.

The custody case came up before Judge Guerin yesterday, for a temporary order, pending trial of the suit itself. Judge Guerin confirmed the mother's possession of the children for the time being.

The Constitution of the United States enters into the matter by way of a clause requiring each State to give "full faith and credit" to the acts of each other State. Counsel for Harvard demands therefore, that the children be given him in compliance with the Missouri court order.

PRECEDENTS CITED

William T. Kendrick, counsel for Mrs. Shaffer, on the other hand, came into court armed with references to cases in which it had been ruled that inasmuch as the custody of the children of divorced parents can be altered at any time by court order, Judge Guerin could award Mrs. Shaffer her children, and still be giving "full faith and credit" to the acts of the Missouri court.

Judge Guerin, however, declined to listen to argument in the temporary proceedings, gave the children to Mrs. Shaffer to keep until the case is heard on its merits, and refused Hayward's request for a writ of habeas corpus. Hayward's counsel remarked that he intended to take his writ to a higher court. Further and complicated litigation is expected in the matter.

The aerial mail service got into the proceedings because Attorney Kendrick was in a hurry for certain documents relative to the Missouri divorce suit. He wired to Kansas City, and had the documents forwarded by air mail, receiving them in time for court proceedings here. This is the first time the convenience of the new service in connection with legal proceedings has been demonstrated in the Los Angeles county courts.

CHURCHMAN GIVES HINTS ON BUSINESS

Christian Science Lecturer Says Righteous Man Fears No Evil Competition

Ezra W. Palmer, C.S.B., member of the board of lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, delivered a lecture yesterday noon in Philharmonic Auditorium. He spoke in part as follows:

"How will a Christian Scientist handle a business that is not prosperous? First of all he will understand that business is a problem of thoughts, not of things. He will begin by examining his own mentality. He will literally have a mental house-cleaning. Has he been fearful? He will deny that error, and know that in the kingdom of love there is no fear.

"Has the golden rule been violated in the conduct of that business? Have the salesmen attempted to force goods on the public by mental suggestion?

Have goods been sold through misrepresentation? Have the employees been unfairly treated?

"On the other hand, unscrupulous competition may have caused the business to languish; but greed, dishonesty and envy have no power to harm the man clothed with divine understanding. Of course the righteous man the Psalmist declared 'Whatsoever he doeth shall prosper.' That is the immutable law of Divine Mind, and no human misconceptions can prevent the righteous man from demonstrating that law.

SAYS WIFE BOOTLEGGER

Husband's Charge Ignored by Judge in Alimony Court

"She's got a good bootlegging business and doesn't need any support from me," was George A. Lauman's reason why he should not pay alimony to Mrs. Mono Lauman, pending trial of her suit for divorce, when he appeared before Judge Guerin in alimony court yesterday.

Mrs. Lauman stoutly denied this and declared she was living on charity.

Judge Guerin declined to consider the charge.

"What do you expect me to do?" he inquired sarcastically. "Tell this woman to go ahead and make her living at an illegal business? I don't know whether she is bootlegging or not and it doesn't make any difference, because, if she is, she must quit it."

He ordered Lauman to pay his wife's attorney's fees and costs.

FOUR BOYS SOUGHT IN CAR SMASH

Heavy Auto Overturns Motor Bus and Speeds Away; Two Hurt

Police last night were searching for four boys who were riding in a heavy touring car that sped away after it struck and overturned a Pacific Electric Monterey Park-South Pasadena bus yesterday at Milan avenue and Monterey Road.

Caught under the overturned bus, Motorman H. McDonald received a fractured skull and, according to physicians at the Pacific Hospital, may die. Mrs. E. L. Young, 2229 Falling Leaf avenue, Wilmonte, a passenger in the bus, was cut and bruised. An unidentified woman passenger escaped with slight cuts.

According to reports received by the police, the machine was speeding when it struck the bus. Although the front of the touring car was smashed in, according to witnesses, it was backed away from the wreck and turned around in the opposite direction. The boys, it was reported, did not leave the machine to ascertain the extent of the injuries received by the persons in the bus.

A description of the boys and the license number of the automobile was furnished police.

No Will Found in Large Estate Left by Suicide

When Peter Gross ended his life Monday because of worry over a suit filed against him by a woman who said he had married her illegally, he left a $325,000 estate, but no will, according to a petition for letters of administration filed yesterday by his son, Peter N. Gross of San Jose.

Included in the estate are the Gail Apartments, Los Angeles, valued at $100,000, and apartment-houses in Oakland and Berkeley. Mrs. Gertrude Isensee a few weeks ago filed suit against Gross charging that he had married her before obtaining a final decree from his former wife. They separated, she said, and after he obtained a final decree he married another woman.

The petition for letters of administration names as heirs-at-law Mrs. Gross, the widow, living at 9503 Sunset Boulevard, and eleven children, ranging in age from 11 to 32 years.

Enjoy the winter season at Hotel Del Monte!

THE coming winter season at Hotel Del Monte will be just as eventful and enjoyable as though the recent fire had not occurred.

A beautiful temporary main building is being rushed to completion and will be opened about November 15th. It will contain a commodious lobby, Palm Grill and dining room, with fine hardwood floors for dancing. The furnishings and appointments, while informal, will be artistic and colorful.

Until this building is completed, the hotel is operating on the European plan, with meals being served at the golf clubhouse.

Make reservations now for Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year celebrations at Hotel Del Monte.

CLUBS TO VISIT MISSION FETE

Women Have Special Day at San Juan Capistrano

"Little Women" Presented by Amateur Players

Benefit Entertainment for Milk Fund to be Given

BY MYRA NYE

The romance and beauty of San Juan Capistrano will belong particularly to club women of the Southland Saturday; for that is their day of all the days of the mission pageant.

Garnet Holme, pageant expert, and Father O'Sullivan, devoted to San Juan Mission, are the guiding spirits behind the pageant, which was first produced the 4th inst. and will continue until Sunday, the 26th inst.—each day at 2:30 p.m.

Father O'Sullivan is one of the most lovable Irishmen alive and is beloved by the entire community, Catholic and Protestant alike. Many years ago he came to Capistrano, a sick man. He stopped at the mission, which was in ruins, and took up his abode under the least ruined part.

While he was trying to regain his health and realize his lifelong dream of restoring the place to something of its former glory, a tramp by the name of "Tarpot Jack" came by and took shelter with him. "Tarpot Jack" would prepare breakfast for the father while the latter said mass each morning in the ruined chapel of Junipero Serra. Then they would go about their work of propping the venerable arches and placing new tiles on the roof. "Tarpot Jack" has wandered now, but Father O'Sullivan is a well man and San Juan Capistrano is regaining something of its pristine sacredness and beauty.

In the pageant is the spirit of both Father O'Sullivan and Jack; glory, holiness, utility and devotion. In the setting of hills and sea with this spirit apparent and alive, it is a thing of beauty and rare charm. This will be for the enjoyment of club women Saturday when they and their friends are asked to come and enjoy this bit of history of beloved old California.

"Little Women" Given

Always a favorite of theatergoers everywhere, that delightful play, "Little Women," was given yesterday for the Matinee Musical Club in the Ambassador Theater by the Oatman Players. Aurania Rouleyre directed the play, which proved to be pleasing and novel. In the cast were Fanna Ralstin as Marmee; Blanche Fishburn, Jo; Madolyn Roselle, Miss Amy; Betty Webb, Meg, and Virginia Barbee, Aunt March.

The luncheon preceding the play celebrated the birthday anniversary of some of the club's most valued members including: Mrs. James Henry Ballagh, founder of the club; Mrs. Jennie Helen Keen, Mrs. Leonard Sivyer, Mrs. Bessie Lyons, Mrs. Victoria Davis, Mrs. Marshall Stookey Anderson, president, served as toastmistress, and seated at the table were the members of her board as honor guests in addition to the birthday honorees.

Two Parties Planned

"Significant Vacation Books" was the subject yesterday of Eleanor Brodie Jones, librarian of the Hollywood branch library, before the Philanthropy and Civics Club in the clubhouse in Wilton Place. The afternoon program was preceded by a beautifully appointed luncheon, Mrs. Lillian Burkhart Goldsmith presiding. The long blue satin and ecru lace runner of the polished table was centered with Venetian glass bowls of yellow holding yellow zinias and blue bachelor buttons. Place cards in blue and yellow marked each cover.

The club is much interested, as was manifest yesterday, in the two social events of the month which are to come. Tuesday, the 28th inst., at 2 p.m. in the clubhouse an afternoon card party will be given for the benefit of the milk fund. A Halloween party and dance will be given the evening of the 28th inst. when the clubhouse will be open to friends of the club as well as the members. Whist, five hundred, bridge and mah jongg may be played in any of the attractive downstairs rooms or in the ballroom. Dancing will be enjoyed in the assembly room. Prizes and favors will be of the Halloween motif. The dance is sponsored by the following well-known club members: Mrs. J. J. Doyle, Mrs. Marry M. Wier and Mrs. Joseph Bonhaus.

Politics to be Topic

This morning at the regular meeting of the Friday Morning Club the platforms and candidates of the major political parties will be discussed by the following speakers: Chester C. Rowell, Republican; Senator James D. Phelan, Democratic, and Mrs. Lou V. Chapin, third party. Mrs. Florence Moore Kreider will preside. At the luncheon the speaker will be Miss A. Pletkin, a member of the Clothing Workers' Union.

San Fernando Ebell

One of the most delightful out-of-town club affairs of the week was the annual breakfast given by the Ebell Club of San Fernando in the newly decorated Palm Room of the Potter Hotel. The re-elected president, Mrs. Mary E. Griswold, presided, and gave her annual address.

Mrs. John C. Urquhart, State president, was the speaker of the day and in her address on "The Spiritual Force of Understanding," announced that her subjects during the year will be: "Child Welfare," "Home Economics," "The Return of the Bible to the Public Schools," and "A Spiritual Budget as Well as a Material One." Music was given by Mrs. R. L. Fraisher and Faith Roberts, and Miss Vera A. Maryland. Mrs. Daniel Campbell gave an hour of wit and wisdom in her delightful Scotch-Irish manner.

Lesson on Short Story

J. O. Northcutt, teacher of English and short-story writing of the University of California, will give a lecture on: "Writing for the Magazines," at the Scribblers' League meeting Saturday night at 8 o'clock in Rowland Hall, 312 West Third street. Manuscripts written by the members will be read and helpful criticisms given. Those interested in short-story writing are invited to attend.

Child Training Lecture

Dr. Maud Wilde lectured at the Woman's Club of Hollywood yesterday at 2:30 p.m., on "The Story of Life." This is the subject of Dr. Wilde's latest book and is considered her finest work. The lecture was a part of the program of the child welfare section of the club. On the third Thursday of each month Dr. Wilde will give informal talks on various phases of child psychology and child training. These meetings are open to nonmembers.

Bridge and Mah Jongg

The Milwaukee Downer College Club will give a bridge and mah jongg party for the benefit of their college endowment fund on Saturday at the Hotel Vista Del Arroyo in Pasadena. Mrs. C. P. Salisbury of Alhambra is in charge of the affair, assisted by Mrs. Raymond Sanford, Mrs. A. Ray Ware and Miss Mabel Chapman of Pasadena, and Mrs. Beadle of Los Angeles.

Diet and Health

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

HERNIAS

"Dear Doctor Peters—I am inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in stamps for the booklet on reducing and gaining. I am overweight and wish to reduce, but am nursing my baby. Does that make any difference?

"My baby's navel sticks out so that I am afraid he will hurt himself if I let him cry. He is eight weeks old and it is very hard to make him wait two and one-half hours for his feeding. I believe he should go three hours at his age. I give him boiled water between feedings two or three times a day, but even then he doesn't want to wait. Do you think he will hurt himself if he cries? He cries very hard for such a little baby. But he is not small for his age. He weighed eight pounds at birth and now weighs thirteen and three-quarter pounds. I would appreciate any advice you can give me.—Mrs. L. M."

We have had articles on reducing while nursing the baby, so I won't go into detail. I will simply say that you can reduce without harm to the baby, and in fact, with benefit to him. You should omit from your diet the excess bread and butter, sweet desserts, candy and oily foods. Don't forget that you must have about a quart of milk a day or its equivalent in custards, cottage cheese, cream soups, etc.

It is quite normal for a baby's navel to have a little buttony effect. That doesn't mean there is a hernia. If there is a hernia there is a separation of the abdominal muscles so that the intestines can be felt under the skin and there is a good-sized bulge, especially when baby cries. Hernias often correct themselves as the child develops and his muscles grow. If they do not correct themselves by the time the child begins to play games, an operation has to be performed. Meanwhile, it is advisable to have an adhesive strap across the abdomen. Don't put a button over the navel under the strap, for it has the effect of preventing the opening from closing. That is just contrary to the result you want, of course.

It is best to have a physician show you how to do the strapping, but in case you cannot do that, take an adhesive strap one inch wide and long enough to go across the abdomen. Attach one side, pull the other side together and then attach the other side. This strap may be left on for four or five days without hinder the baby from his usual tub bath. Of course it can usually be pulled off gently, without any discomfort, the next time it is applied, as a little dragging at the hairs a different section. The center of the strap right over the navel can be oiled to prevent sticking there.

For hernias in the trusses must be worn. A physician must prescribe one that they fit. Then a hernias sometimes happen also as the child grows older, as the child grows older.

No, it won't hurt your baby if you let him cry, for you know that he is constipated. He is supposed to cry a certain amount of time every day to exercise his lungs. That is his privilege. The baby certainly can't be overfed and pain as many meals. Begin with one or two teaspoonful and increase this every day until he is getting three or four tablespoonfuls at a time, unless it makes him sick or moves too frequently.

FASHIONS & FOIBLES

by Shirley Sharon

BUTTERICK 5447

The pink satin evening gown beaded with crystal is a lovely foil for royal-blue chiffon frocks and the pastel gowns with ostrich fringe for trimming.

IF one is to judge from the new evening gowns, the Paris designers have designated "décolletage" as definitely obsolete and define the new neckline as rather high and usually the familiar Jenny type. For the very straight dress of satin or crêpe de Chine they use crystal beads and silver-thread embroidery, or occasionally for a dress of pure white Georgette they trace a large all-over design in crystal and silver beads. Some strass is also used for evening. Pale shades of pink in flesh and salmon, mauve, orchid and lilac.

Handy Hints

Sponging with sale water will revive the colors in rugs and carpets.

A mixture of warm milk and turpentine will make oilcloth look like new.

The tops of long kid gloves come in handy to cover the buffer of the manicure set.

A dampened chamois used as a duster for furniture will give it a fresh, new look.

CHEF WYMAN'S Suggestions for TOMORROW'S MENU

STUFFED PEPPER SALAD

Remove the stem ends from six green bell peppers; scoop out the seeds and veins. Cover with ice water and let stand until wanted. Mix in a cold bowl that has been rubbed with a clove of crushed garlic, one cupful of peeled and diced celery, one cupful of unpeeled and diced red apple, one chopped pimento, the chopped tender part of the pepper tops, one tablespoonful of chopped capers, and two-thirds of a cupful of French dressing. Drain the peppers and dry, fill with the mixture, set on lettuce-covered plates, top with mayonnaise and sprinkle with chopped hard-boiled egg.

FRUIT TAPIOCA

Place in a saucepan one and a half cupfuls of milk and four tablespoonfuls of sugar; bring to a boil and stir in slowly half a cupful of quick-cooking tapioca and stir and cook fifteen minutes. Remove from the fire, cool, add one cupful of stiffly whipped cream, whipped with one teaspoonful of vanilla. Pour into a border mold and set in the ice box to chill. Unmold on a round dish and fill the center with equal parts of diced preserved peaches, pears, apricots and pineapple. Sprinkle with chopped cherries and toasted almonds.

VICTIM OF ORGY KILLED BY BLOW

Autopsy Shows Woman Died of Brain Concussion

Police Redouble Efforts to Find Mystery Man

Witnesses Will Tell Story at Inquest Today

Marjorie Donovan, cabaret entertainer beaten to death during a drunken revel in a court bungalow at 484 Centennial street, died from concussion of the brain caused by a blow on the head, County Autopsy Surgeon Wagner announced yesterday after an autopsy over the woman's body at the Rice & Lechemiant mortuary.

The announcement of the result of the autopsy caused police to redouble their efforts in the search for the man known to them only as "Mack," who is said to have been present at the party in the bungalow early Wednesday morning when the woman met her death.

An inquest into the seeming murder will be conducted at 1:30 p.m. today and the four persons held by police as material witnesses in the case will be taken to the mortuary to testify. Those held as material witnesses are Charles Carson of the El Doro Hotel; Mrs. Bertie Fowler, 39 years of age, in whose bungalow Mrs. Donovan's body was found; Reno Glascock, a friend of Mrs. Fowler, who lives in the same bungalow, and E. W. Preston of 946 Norma Place, Hollywood, owner of the Preston Apartments in the motion-picture capital. They are all said to have been present at the party.

Walter Wieman, former cafe owner, who is held by police on suspicion of having slain the woman, is still at the Receiving Hospital suffering from a broken leg and numerous bruises received, according to his story, during a free-for-all battle which developed toward the tag end of the party.

Wieman also told police that he and the woman had been living together as husband and wife and detectives stated they believed that Mrs. Donovan's death was the result of a jealous quarrel between herself, Wieman and possibly the mysterious "Mack."

Wieman declared to the detectives, they said, that he had seen "Mack" beat the woman, but Mrs. Fowler and Glascock both told Assistant Captain of Detectives Bean that they saw the murder suspect kick Mrs. Donovan after a struggle over an ice pick with which she tried to stab him.

CAFE SUED OVER KISSING SONG

Company Claiming Rights to Music Seeks $250 from Glendale Place

The high cost of kisses was listed yesterday in the United States District Court.

"Kiss Me Again," wailed the orchestra at the Egyptian Village Cafe in Glendale; "Kiss Me Again," sang beautiful female entertainers in accompaniment, all unmindful—or not caring—that they were using up $250 worth of the osculatory material.

At least, it was so asserted in a suit filed in the Federal Court yesterday by M. Witmark & Sons of New York, who claim possession of the copyrights to the once-popular "Kiss Me Again," against the Glendale Cafe, who are asserted to have used the song without properly recompensing the musical company. Witmark & Sons want at least $250 and costs to make up for the oversight, according to the suit filed by Attorney Philip Cohan.

BURKE FUNERAL TODAY

Final Tribute to be Paid to Late Bay City Detective

Funeral services will be conducted today at 10 a.m., at Back's funeral parlors in Anaheim for Mike Burke, veteran detective who recently retired from the San Francisco police department. Burke, who was known all over the United States on account of handling the transportation of prisoners east for many years, died at Anaheim Wednesday after a short illness which came upon him in Los Angeles. Burial will be in Artesia.

Arrangements for the funeral are in charge of Assistant Captain of Detectives Taylor of the local police. A number of local police expect to attend the services.

AFRICA NOW SPANNED BY SHORT WALK

Scotch Globe Trotter Here Tells of Trip by Rail, Boat, Flivver and Afoot

A tourist desirous of traveling the 6000 miles from Capetown, South Africa, to Cairo, Egypt, may do so now without being compelled to walk more than three miles, according to W. R. G. Henderson of Edinburg, Scotland.

Mr. Henderson, who is at the Biltmore, is on his way home on a globe-encircling tour that has included Africa, Japan, Australia, the South Sea Islands, and Hawaii prior to his reaching the United States of America.

"The Cape-to-Cairo trip may now be undertaken in reasonable comfort by anybody over the almost completed railroad between these two points," he said. "The road already runs north from Capetown about 2500 miles to a point where the traveler is compelled to walk about three miles. Then he travels by flivver a short distance to where he connects with a steamer on Lake Victoria Nyanza. This carries him to the southern terminus of the line going south from Cairo."

During his African visit, Mr. Henderson saw Victoria Falls on the Zambesi River. "It is more stupendous than Niagara, being a mile wide and about three times as high as the American falls. The Zambesi flows through a jungle region and the surroundings of the falls are characterized by a heavy tropical growth, with monkeys performing among the trees and brilliantly colored birds flitting about."

Deputy Sheriff Suspended, but Not for Gaming

Whether Deputy Sheriff L. C. Blasdell is unlucky in love is not of record around the courthouse, but it is of record that he is lucky at cards and unlucky at holding his job. His suspension for unexplained absence was announced yesterday by Undersheriff Biscailuz, and it was later testified in Judge Guerin's court he had won $35 from a prisoner he was bringing from El Centro.

This is Blasdell's second suspension, and Undersheriff Biscailuz said it would become final after ten days. The suspension had nothing to do with the revelation about the poker game, but was for failing to report for two days without proper excuse.

The prisoner was Earl O. Cox, cited for contempt of court for nonpayment of temporary alimony to Mrs. Oleta Cox, who is suing for divorce.

Blasdell's previous suspension was on charges of intoxication, it was said. He was formerly in the transportation department, but lately has been in the fugitive department.

FACES DEATH CHARGE

Driver in Stormy Inquest Scene is Said to Have Speeded

A complaint charging Norbert R. Nettleship of Santa Monica with manslaughter was issued yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Davis. He is charged with causing the death of George H. Blohm in an automobile collision. A sliver of glass from the windshield of Blohm's car penetrated his chest.

There was a stormy scene at the Coroner's inquest into Blohm's death when Deputy Coroner Greene ordered Nettleship from the witness stand, declaring he had reason to believe Nettleship was not telling the truth. There were many friends of Nettleship in the audience and they roared disapproval of the deputy coroner's action, while there was a fist fight threatened between Nettleship's attorney and the official. The jury held Nettleship guilty of extreme carelessness and fast driving.

DINNER PLANNED BY LAFAYETTE ALUMNI

A dinner to commemorate the founding of Lafayette College will be given by the Lafayette College Alumni Association at the University Club next Thursday. Dr. Remsen D. Bird, president of Occidental College, and a Lafayette graduate, will represent the local association at the commemoration ceremonies in the East. More than 100 alumni of the college, now located in Southern California, are expected to attend the dinner and reunion Thursday.

Advertising is Not Added Cost, Students Told

"Don" Francisco

That advertising as a business force does not of necessity increase the cost of merchandise was shown by Don Francisco, vice-president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, and former president of the Advertising Club of Los Angeles, in an address to the students in the college of commerce at the University of Southern California yesterday morning.

In illustrating this point Mr. Francisco said that through extensive advertising manufacturers throughout the country have been able to cut their cost of advertising and sales effort less than half.

Yesterday's lecture was the first of a series of fifteen that will be presented to the students by prominent advertising men during the semester. The next address will be given by Elliott C. Hensel, a local advertising man, on "The Analysis of Advertising."

Many Speeches as Preliminary to Chest Drive

In the interests of the Community Chest campaign, in which solicitation starts November 10, members of the speakers' bureau have addressed 190 Los Angeles organizations, according to John G. Mott, chairman of the bureau, who reported yesterday at a speakers' luncheon at the Biltmore. An average of fifteen groups a day are being addressed by chest speakers.

Judge Bledsoe, chairman of the campaign committee, praised the work of the speakers highly and declared it would be tremendously effective.

"You are furthering the greatest movement that ever has come to Los Angeles," he said.

Col. C. A. Simmons followed and answered questions for the speakers. Col. Simmons is the campaign manager.

Experts in window display of the city met yesterday at Community Chest headquarters and made plans for the window displays that will be shown, commencing a few days before the start of the actual campaign.

Musical programs for the daily report luncheons, it was announced, will be arranged for by Mrs. Maude Reeves Barnard, who for thirteen years has been director and soloist of the First United Presbyterian Church choir. She also is director of the Occidental College Glee Club.

FAVOR HIGHWAY PLAN

Civic Organizations Also Indorse Street Bond Issue

The major traffic highway plan and the proposed $5,000,000 street bond issue were indorsed Wednesday night at a meeting in the offices of the West Hollywood Realty Board, which was attended by representatives of more than twenty civic and commercial organizations including the chambers of commerce of Santa Monica, Sawtelle, Beverly Hills, Sherman, and Glendale.

W. J. Castanien, president of the Santa Monica Boulevard Board of Trade, presided. Plans for widening Santa Monica Boulevard, and also extending it were discussed. Eventually it is intended to carry the boulevard along the Foothill Boulevard to San Bernardino, and thence across the desert country to Needles. The only available route in the process of extending the boulevard northeast, it was declared, was by way of Hyperion avenue, between Glendale and Hollywood Junction.

Resolutions were adopted stressing the importance of Hyperion avenue in the major highway plan, and asking that this avenue be included in the general plan.

NAB SUSPECT AT THEATER

Arrested by a Grauman's Egyptian Theater watchman who said the man was trying to slip into the theater as the crowd filed out late Wednesday night, Frank William Johnson is held by Hollywood police on a suspicion-of-burglary charge. He gave a hotel at Hollywood Boulevard and Las Palmas avenue as his home.

CHURCH TO BE DEDICATED

Bishop Burns Will Preside at Ceremony at Beautiful $60,000 Structure Sunday Afternoon

Dedication of the beautiful Euclid Heights Methodist Episcopal Church, recently completed and paid for at a cost of about $60,000, will be conducted by Bishop Charles Wesley Burns at 2:45 p.m., on Sunday, according to announcement yesterday by Rev. W. Alonzo Reynolds, pastor of the church.

The new temple of worship on Euclid avenue, just north of East Sixth street, is a white stucco structure of Roman architecture designed by H. V. Aarah. The auditorium has a seating capacity of more than 900 and the large Sunday-school rooms, exclusive of the classrooms, are capable of seating another 200 persons. The congregation recently purchased a large lot adjoining the church upon which a commodious community hall will be erected within the near future.

An architectural feature of the temple is the large revolving electric cross which every Sunday evening will turn constantly in all directions, inviting worshipers to the house of God. This will be the only revolving electric cross in Los Angeles, with the exception of the one on the First Methodist Church. It formerly adorned the old First Methodist Church at Sixth and Hill streets and was purchased from the First Church The membership today is 335 and more than 150 new members have been added to the enrollment since Mr. Reynolds was called to the pastorate two years ago.

A special musical program by the choir, the Huntington Four male quartet and Miss Esther Campbell, whistler, will feature the services next Sunday. Besides the dedicatory service in the afternoon, programs of interest will be given at 11 a.m., when Dr. L. T. Guild, district superintendent, will preach, and in the evening, when the principal speaker will be Dr. Roland Martin, recently appointed pastor of the West Adams Methodist Church.

When Dr. E. E. Helms and his congregation began to build their new home at Eighth and Hope streets.

The Euclid Heights Church was organized twenty years ago, with a charter membership of twenty.

HOLLYWOOD AIR POSTAL HELP URGED

Co-operation of Clubs is Suggested to Win Plane Service for Los Angeles

Co-operation of the various Hollywood luncheon clubs and the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce in boosting the amount of air mail originating in Los Angeles was urged yesterday at a luncheon at the Hollywood Athletic Club. The principal speaker was Luther Bell, traffic manager of the Air Mail Service.

"Los Angeles has to show that it can originate enough air mail to keep a mail plane busy between here and Salt Lake City," said Mr. Bell. "Present regulations provide for only one station in California, and that is already located at San Francisco. We need bout 500 pounds of mail a day to keep a plane filled up and if that amount is forthcoming I will urge that the service be established."

The meeting was called by the Hollywood Kiwanis Club. There were delegations present from the Lions, Round Table, Insurance Club and Chamber of Commerce. John Bogardus, of the Kiwanis Club, presided as chairman.

SUSPECT CAR THIEF IS BEING INVESTIGATED

Kirk Morgan, captured early yesterday in possession of an asserted stolen car, was taken to Long Beach later in the day for investigation in connection with other automobile thefts. He was arrested by Motorcycle Officers Urquhart and Glaze of the county squad and turned over to Deputy Sheriffs Shafer and Martz. The officers say Morgan has been in prison in Oklahoma, as well as in this State, and was once known as the "Million-dollar auto thief." He had the car of Dr. R. W. Wilcox of Long Beach at the time of his arrest, it was declared.

SPANISH SHAWL STOLEN

Shoplifters are blamed by police for the loss of a $256 Spanish shawl, reported stolen yesterday from an antique store at 4532 Hollywood Boulevard. The garment was taken while employees of the store were at a rear counter.

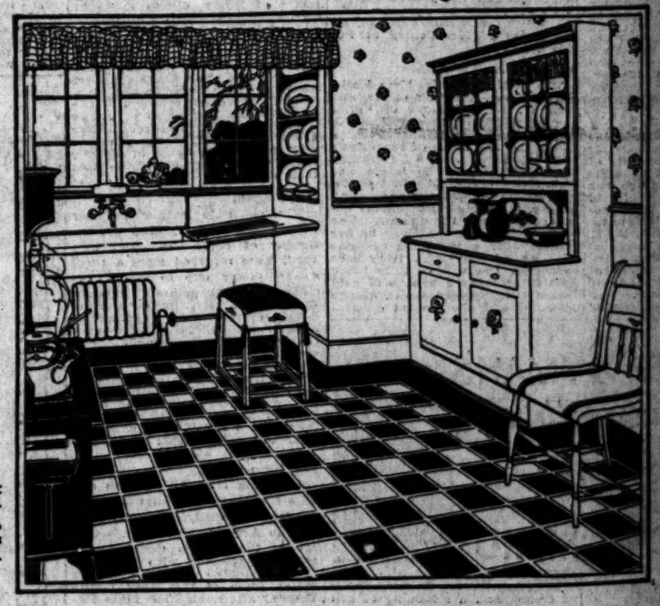
Armstrong's Linoleum

for Every Floor in the House



For the Kitchen

Armstrong's Inset Tile Inlaid Linoleum, with border, is the floor of this attractive kitchen.

You'll Be Prouder of Your Kitchen with a Floor Like This

THINK of the handsomest kitchen you have seen. Its floor was as modern, as gleaming and spotless as its equipment, wasn't it? Such a floor adds beauty to an attractive kitchen.

A floor of Armstrong's Linoleum makes any kitchen better-looking. The floor shown in the picture is an inset tile linoleum with a plain border. It is bright and cheerful, charmingly colorful. It is modern. It is handsome.

Easy to clean — and permanent

A kitchen floor is a hard-worked floor. Dishwater splashes on it, grease spatters on it, many feet track on it.

These small disasters are never important on a floor of Armstrong's Linoleum. A quick wiping is generally all the care it needs. For inlaid linoleum an occasional waxing and polishing keeps your floor lustrous, and increases its beauty as years pass. Varnishing is recommended for printed linoleum.

It is comfortable, too, a floor of linoleum. The hundreds of steps that you make each day in your kitchen are less tiring on this resilient, quiet floor.

Where you can choose linoleum

Good furniture and department stores carry an interesting selection of Armstrong's Linoleum. You can see linoleum suitable for your kitchen also the new designs and colorings for living-rooms, dining-rooms, bedrooms, sun porches, etc. These modern linoleum floors are being used now in all the rooms of many fine homes.

When you buy linoleum a good merchant will suggest that you have it laid for permanency. This means that a trained linoleum layer will cement your linoleum down over a lining of builders' deadening felt. The seams will be closely joined, and waterproof cement will be used at the seams and round the edges. The floor will then lie perfectly flat through all changes of weather, will never need retrimming, and will endure for many years.

Write for free sample and booklet

Let us send you a sample of Armstrong's Linoleum, together with our booklet, "New Floors for Old." It contains many colorphotos of the new patterns, and exact information about laying and caring for linoleum floors.

If you have some particular problem of working out color plans for one room or for your entire home, write for advice to our Bureau of Interior Decoration. No charge.

Armstrong's Linoleum Rugs

Armstrong's Linoleum Rugs, printed or inlaid, like all Armstrong's Linoleum, are made of cork, linseed oil, and burlap, and have the Circle "A" trademark on the back.

MARY'S DIRECTOR

MISS PICKFORD SIGNS NEW GENIUS OF FILMS

By Grace Kingsley

Mary Pickford, in spite of her diminutive stature, frequently hurls a bombshell into the movies that sets things very much agog. Mary has just finished hurling such a bombshell.

She has signed Josef von Sternberg to direct her next picture. She doesn't know for certain yet what that picture will be, but she does know that Von Sternberg will direct it.

And who is Josef von Sternberg? Therein lies the bombshell.

The screen's newest and most promising genius, the Eugene O'Neil of the films—that is what those who know him say of Von Sternberg. Until a few days ago he was practically unknown; today he possesses the most coveted contract in the industry and his future spreads out so bright before him that the glare hurts his eyes.

It is the story of a fairy tale come true and it all happened because Von Sternberg wrote and directed "The Salvation Hunters," a picture which bears all the earmarks of a genuine sensation. Douglas Fairbanks, Charlie Chaplin, Mary Pickford, Nazimova and many others state that with "The Salvation Hunters" Von Sternberg has brought the first new note to picture art that has been contributed in the last decade. It was his masterly handling of this vehicle that won for him the privilege of directing Mary.

"I believe that Mr. Von Sternberg has the precious qualities of freshness and originality for which we have long been seeking," said Miss Pickford. "He is a master technician and has a feeling for drama possessed by few."

Although Von Sternberg has been in the picture business since 1914, "The Salvation Hunters" is the first photoplay he ever directed, and the production of this film constitutes a great dramatic story in itself. It is a case of a man having faith in himself, and in an ideal, and of succeeding in transcribing both to the screen.

Miss Pickford has left the matter of getting a new story entirely in the hands of Von Sternberg.

"After discussing the problem very thoroughly with Miss Pickford," said the new director, "we have concluded not to attempt to reproduce a book or play, but to try for something different, perhaps an original story. I have in mind an idea, and expect to leave for the East shortly to do some research work in connection with the development of this work, with the hope of putting the idea in shape for production. If I succeed, we will then announce what the story will be."

Just when Miss Pickford will start work depends entirely upon how successfully the new story takes shape.

"Cinderella" is to be shelved for a while, with Miss Pickford going back to the type of story that first made her beloved of the whole world.

Mary Pickford is unique in the world's history of theatricals. She holds her place in the heart of the world against all comers, whether she always pleases everybody or not. But it seems certain that at least nine-tenths of Mary's admirers will be delighted to know that she is coming back to the screen in one of those thoroughly human roles, and away from the costume picture.

As for "Cinderella," it is still dear to Mary Pickford. She told me that she did not wish to make that picture until Douglas Fairbanks, who has a flair for the whimsical and fantastic, could aid in the supervision of it. Doug himself is now deep in his own gigantic theme for his next story.

ACTOR'S CELLULOID DOUBLE IN DEMAND

Robert Frazer, one of the screen's most popular leading men, yesterday was signed to play the leading male role in "Miss Bluebeard," the Paramount screen version of Irene Bordoni's stage success, according to announcement made by Jesse L. Lasky, first vice-president of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, in charge of production.

Raymond Griffith, who has just completed his work in "Lord Chumley" at the Lasky studio, will leave for New York Monday. Frazer and Griffith both will appear in support of Bebe Daniels in "Miss Bluebeard."

Through special arrangements with Frank Lloyd, Frazer was obtained for a feature role in the Paramount picture. He will leave today for New York, where he will start work immediately on the new picture at the Paramount Long Island studio, where Frank Tuttle is making preparations for the filming of the picture. Upon Frazer's return, he will resume his contract with Lloyd. Frazer recently made a deep impression in his role opposite Pola Negri in "Men."

In Honor of Peggy Wood

If Peggy Wood, star of "The Clinging Vine," isn't up in her paint, oil and varnish technique, she'd better watch out. She is to be professional supervision. Three hundred members of the Paint, Oil and Varnish Manufacturers' Association, consisting of the leading members of this industry in the Southland, will attend the performance of the above-named show at the Playhouse tonight. Miss Wood, when the play was running in New York, was elected an honorary member of the association.

President Osmond Olson heads the delegation which will root for Miss Wood tonight.

Irene Castle Awaits Stork

Irene Castle, in private life Mrs. McLaughlin, is awaiting the coming of the stork, according to word just received by friends of hers here.

Benny Leonard, High-Brow

Benny Leonard is by way of becoming a high-brow. Anyhow, high-brow enough to edit pictures. The lightweight champion recently played the star role in a series of three Sam Hellman screen stories. When the time came to do the final editing, Benny was called to sit in with Hellman and the others to aid in titling, cutting, etc.

P. S.—Nobody disputed Benny's judgment on the above matters.

"The Fool" in Controversy

Channing Pollock, author of "The Fool," is right in his element. He went over to London to produce the play, and it has gone over for a smashing hit.

But more than that, "The Fool" has set all London by the ears, according to reports from overseas. The established church is against it, but the liberal church indorses and approves it most ardently.

To his attackers, Pollock answered: "I am doing the same job as the English clergy, only I don't belong to the union. As an American I must thank God for English church intolerance, for without it, there would have been no America."

One English clergyman wrote to the theater, stating that "Only in America are people so irreverent as to bring God into the theater."

Pollock answered with the inquiry, "Has the Church of England a corner on God, or does He belong to the people?"

"Peter Pan" Flits

With a company of more than 100 people, Herbert Brenon is preparing for a trip to Santa Cruz Island where out-door scenes for his production of J. M. Barrie's "Peter Pan" will be filmed for Paramount.

In the company will be mermaids, Indians and pirates, a colorful crew which will serve to remind the island of the old days when the Spaniards first possessed the coast.

The mermaids were selected by Mr. Brenon after swimming tests conducted in Hollywood. The pirates, swaggering with cutlasses and pistols, are respectable residents of Hollywood between pictures. The Indians are genuine, having been brought to the coast from the Navajo reservation for the filming of "Peter Pan."

Complete lighting equipment will be carried with the company for the purpose of illuminating the pirate caves in which scenes will be made.

A special pirate vessel, built with a high poop and square rigging in the fashion of the sixteenth century vessels, will also cruise to Santa Cruz Island and will be used in various sequences.

Heading the cast which will accompany Mr. Brenon are Betty Bronson, Ernest Torrence, Cyril Chadwick, Virginia Brown Faire and Anna May Wong.

Dempsey in Vaudeville

Jack Dempsey is going out on the Loew Circuit, around New York, in an act by Paul Gerard Smith. It is likely that he will not come west, however, but will content himself with a few weeks in and around New York.

The champion always kids his own stage appearances. He told me once he and his manager, Jack Kearns, were both to make personal appearances at a theater. Jack Kearns played a trick on him, and got off Dempsey's speech, leaving him empty of ideas.

"I just cut and ran for the stage entrance and never showed up at all!" chuckled Jack.

MUSICAL PLAY RUNS ON

"Clinging Vine" Still Meeting With Success at Playhouse

The musical comedy success, "The Clinging Vine," in which Louis O. Macloon has introduced Peggy Wood to Los Angeles, continues to please capacity audiences at the Playhouse.

It is an unusual thing these days to find a musical play with so clever a book and lyrics as "The Clinging Vine." Zelda Sears, its author, is one of America's cleverest women, with success as actress and playwright to her credit.

She has an amusing philosophy with regard to her work, a sort of Coue formula, which she stated in this original manner: "If a hen can lay an egg she can lay it anywhere." Applied to writing, Miss Sears means by this that she is not one of the temperamental ones who must have a particular environment in which to do her work. She whote most of the brilliant lyrics for "The Clinging Vine" on the train going from her home in Stanford, Ct., to New York.

Miss Sears is a great admirer of the charming Peggy Wood, whom she considers very versatile and gifted. "Peggy can do anything you give her to do on the stage, sing, dance, play comedy, has a fine sense of pathos in scenes with a tear in them, and is an all-around artist," she says.

"The Clinging Vine" boasts another favorite in the person of the comedienne, Trixie Friganza, whose artistry and bubbling good humor keep her audience in a gale of laughter.

MICKEY McBAN GIVEN ROLE IN "PETER PAN"

There is great joy in the McBan household up on Lookout Mountain Road in Hollywood. Little Mickey McBan, screen kiddie, now before the public as the kid brother in Harold Lloyd's "Hot Water," showing at the Metropolitan, yesterday signed up for a role in "Peter Pan."

Little Mickey, who is only 5, but has been in pictures for three years, has the role of a little lost boy who follows Peter into that "Never, Never Land" where fairies really exist. And little Mickey's name in the play has that whimsical touch which Barrie gave so many characters in this loveliest of his works. He is called "Slightly Soiled," which, his mother says, is a most appropriate name for her youngster.

Actress Makes Travelogue on European Trip

Two reels of negative, comprising a complete cinema travelogue of Carmel Myers's journey since she sailed from New York, were received yesterday by Zion Myers, brother of the actress and a well known director.

During her entire sojourn abroad Miss Myers has arranged for the taking of motion pictures in every city she visits up until the time she leaves Rome for home. News reel cameramen "shoot" the pictures for her personal use.

Miss Myers appears in scenes of practically all the famous places she visited, including the beautiful Castle Kreitzenstein, a medieval castle situated on a hill in Austria; the City Park at Vienna where she was photographed before the monument dedicated to Johann Strauss, composer of "The Blue Danube;" at the unknown soldier's grave in Paris and many other historic spots.

Miss Myers will make regular shipments of film to her brother who is assembling it and making it into a complete travelogue. The film will be ready for Carmel's library on her return.

DOG IS PROLOGUE STAR AT MISSSION

Wolf, said to be the most intelligent dog in pictures, has been engaged by the Mission Theater management as the chief actor in a prologue to be presented in connection with the showing of the David Smith-Vitagraph production, "The Code of the Wilderness," the feature picture on next week's program.

Wolf, who understands three languages, English, French and German, and who does everything but talk, recently attracted the attention of Dr. Jau Don Ball, University of California professor of psychology, who put the dog through a thorough intelligence test. Wolf came through with flying colors and will show Mission audiences how he proved to Dr. Ball he possessed super canine knowledge.

In addition to his other achievements, Wolf enjoys the distinction of having been selected by Vitagraph to portray Baree in "The Son of Kazan," which will be put in production the latter part of the year.

STAR SAILS FOR LONDON PREMIERE

Jean Paige, who enacts the leading feminine role in "Captain Blood," at Grauman's Rialto, sailed yesterday for Europe, accompanied by her husband, Albert E. Smith, president of Vitgraph Film Company. They will attend the London opening of "Captain Blood."

Since the world premiere at the Astor Theater in New York on September, Mr. and Mrs. Smith have been staying at their Long Island home. They had planned to remain there until after the holidays, but were unable to resist the plea of Vitagraph officials to have Miss Paige present at the London opening.

After a two years' absence from the screen, Miss Paige returned to play the role of Arabella Bishop in the Sabatini drama because it appealed so strongly to her. The reception accorded to her work may induce her to appear in other productions on her return to Hollywood early in the new year.

COMEDY GOOD FOR ANOTHER SEASON

Edith Ellis's comedy triumph, "White Collars," has endured thirty-eight weeks at the Egan Theater. After exhibiting such vitality it would not be surprising if it proved its ability to last into another season.

New stimulus is added to the cast by the announcement that Marion Aye will make a return bow to the legitimate stage on Monday evening in the role of the flapper sister Nellie. The balance of the cast remains intact and includes Craig Ward, Dian Esmonde, Rose Forrester, Betty Sinclair, Blanche Douglas, Zelhab Covington, Alfred Arnold and James Bush.

PIRATE STORY STILL SUCCESS AT ALHAMBRA

"The Sea Hawk," Rafael Sabatini's story of pirates and the Barbary Coast, in spite of its previous long run, is playing to capacity houses at the Alhambra Theater.

Frank Lloyd has taken the colorful story and with a fine cast brought to the screen a real masterpiece. Milton Sills, chosen from thirty leading men under consideration, plays the part of Sir Oliver Tressilion and Sakr-el-Bahr. Enid Bennett plays an appealing heroine and Wallace Beery does the best work of his varied career as the commander of the Swallow.

BOURSKAYA RETURNS

RUSSIAN OPERA STAR AT BEST IN DRAMATIC SONG

By Edwin Schallert

Ina Bourskaya has renewed her charm for listeners here, but not as an operatic enchantress. This time she is appearing before them as a concert singer, and the program that she gave last night at Philharmonic Auditorium, was proof of that radiance which invariably associates itself with her personality, and a quality of voice that remains hers quite individually.

It is three seasons since she shone here as the stellar personality of the now disintegrated Russian Grand Opera Company. Since then she has made her debut both with the Metropolitan and Chicago organizations, has sung Carmen and other major roles with those companies, and at Ravinia and elsewhere. She has merged her colorful and at times extraordinary individuality with the cosmopolitan atmosphere of these institutions, but she still is unwaveringly Bourskaya.

To be sure, she was almost Mary Garden-like in the distinction of the figure that she made upon the stage in a shimmering crystal white gown, and her hair adorned with a coronet of brilliants. There was in her manner, except for those almost chronic signs of seeming nervousness that she exhibits especially at the opening of a concert, a more serene certainty and poise.

The moment of her triumph last night was in the songs of her native land, and it was something to regret that she did not include more of them, for even after she had given two encores to the three that composed the final group, her audience yet desired more.

"Spring Flood," by Rachmaninoff, "The Night," by Rubinstein, and "Hopak," by Mussorgsky, will remain living memories with those who heard them. In these numbers she disclosed all the picturesque wealth of her native feeling, and added to that the more manifest dramatic splendors of her voice.

To me, of course, she is primarily the opera singer, and I have always enjoyed her most in the real Slavic works. She is an actress of intense realism, and I could not forbear conjuring up impressions of her accomplishments still vivid in the mind under the inauspicious—but were they altogether inauspicious after all?—circumstances of the Russian opera performances of her last visit.

Though she sacrifices her most enchanting powers on the concert stage, she is interesting, even in those numbers that are least suited to her style. Smooth and lyric songs like the old "Plaisir d'Amour" of Martini, her all too colorful tones do not seem to match. One feels restraint and even occasional blemishes, when she has not the requisite dramatic freedom.

For that reason "Die Lorelt," by Liszt was more effective than the more delicate if jubilant Mozard "Alleluja," and "Der Leiermann" and "Das Bachlein," (encore,) Schubert, than the Beethoven, and Cimara numbers of the opening group. The songs in English by Deems Taylor and Frank La Forge, among others, were pleasingly done, but even more attractive were "Le Manoir de Rosemonde," by Duparc and "Sur la Terasse de Saint-Germain," by Fourdrain in the French group.

I did not feel that her program was in all respects designed to exhibit her most fascinating characteristics, because outside of the "Habanera," sung as an encore, it contained little or nothing of operatic character, all too few Russian songs. It at least tested the versatility of Bourskaya, and in the favored numbers exhibited the oft-so triumphingly, effulgent quality of her voice.

Chamlee Wins Ovation at Bovard Recital

Mario Chamlee, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, gave a concert last evening at the college at which he was once a student, and where he has since received his honorary degree. The University of Southern California has not been slow to appreciate their students who have won fame and distinguished themselves in various fields. Bovard Auditorium was well filled, and of necessity many encores were given.

Mr. Chamlee is one of the finest American singers, and is of the tenor robusto type. A student of violin during his boyhood, he knows music well, and into his interpretations he imbues a musicianship which pleases the most fastidious. The glorious richness of his voice, the strength and mellowness of his tones, and the wholesome sentiment of the numbers which he selects, makes him one of the most gratifying artists before the public today.

He possesses a certain appealing and even wistful quality in his pianissimo, which is very attractive, and occasionally he spins his tones very much as do certain Italian operatic tenors. His voice is heavy rather than lyric, and very mellow; this results in an overabundance of songs of a rather serious tempo, and in his first group (the third on the program), one felt that the program dragged somewhat. The numbers were welcomed, however, for they consisted of Rachmaninoff's "Night" and "Lilacs;" and a Liszt and a Tschaikowsky song, with a beautiful rendition of "Mattinata" by Leoncavallo, as an encore.

He began with "O Paradiso" from Meyerbeer's "Africana." He was heard to particular advantage in "Testa Adorala" from "Boheme." Particularly attractive was his rendition of "If You Love Me" (McDermid,) "Song of the Open" (LaForge;) encores. "He Stole a Rose" (Tyroler; composer at the piano,) "Call Me No More" (Cadman,) and "Paquita" (Buzzi-Peccia.)

Ruth Miller, also of the "Met," who is Mrs. Chamlee in private life, assisted. Miss Miller possesses an attractive soprano voice, and sings artistically, although she is not vocally a match for the almost matchless voice of her extraordinary husband. Her best renditions were "Sempre Libera" (Traviata) and the encore "Mandoline" (Debussy).

William Tyroler accompanied the program with refinement and artistry, giving splendid support to the singers.

SCIENTIST SEES HEAVY RAINFALL

Says Low Temperature of Sea Sure Barometer

Prediction Applies to All of Southland

Gives Figures of Former Wet and Dry Years

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 16.—Rainfall in Southern California this winter will be greater than the average precipitation during the last eight years, according to Dr. George F. McEwen, oceanographer connected with the Scripps Institute for Biological Research at La Jolla, who has made an extended study of ocean temperatures and their relation to seasonal rains.

Shorn of technical terms, Dr. McEwen's forecast is based on the theory that low temperatures of the ocean during the summer months means increased seasonal rainfall. On the other hand, comparatively high summer temperatures of the ocean invariably have been followed by rainfall below the average. While Dr. McEwen's figures apply principally to the coastal region of San Diego county, because his studies of ocean temperatures have been made at La Jolla, he indicates his forecast for more than the average rainfall this year may be applied to Southern California.

In the statement today, Dr. McEwen said that in the 1916-17 season when the ocean temperature off this coast between August 1, and October 5, was recorded as 66.4, San Diego got 12.3 inches of rain. In the following year the temperature was 69.8, and the total precipitation fell to ten inches. In the 1921-22 season, the ocean temperature was 66.4, which equaled the lowest in the eight-year period, and the seasonal rainfall jumped to 22.3 inches. This summer, for a period of twelve weeks, the ocean temperature was 65.5, nearly one degree cooler than for the summer preceding the excessively wet winter of 1921-22. On the basis of these calculations, he predicts San Diego and the adjacent country may expect approximately seventeen inches of rain this winter.

In his statement, Dr. McEwen says: "The moisture of the air over the North Pacific Ocean is continually replenished by evaporation from the ocean surface. The amount of water vapor available for precipitation on the land is proportional to the mass of air flowing in from the ocean.

"It has long been known that a high pressure area over the North Pacific centered 1000 miles or more west of San Luis Obispo, reaches its maximum intensity in late summer and diminished till about February, when in some years it disappears entirely, and again increases to a summer maximum. Observations accord with theory in the existence of a prevailing flow to the east of the earth's atmosphere. Accordingly, since the high pressure area is more than 1000 miles in diameter, there is a periodical or seasonal transfer of very great masses of air toward the American Coast in winter and toward the ocean in summer from the west.

"Therefore a summer in which the ocean 'high' is relatively great, should be followed by a relatively great transfer of air landward during the winter or rainy season. Numerous barometric observations over the ocean suitably distributed, both in space and time, would serve to determine the amount of air forming the Pacific 'high.' Foreknowledge of the amount of air available for transfer landward would indicate in advance whether to expect a wet or dry season. Also any available index of the pressure distribution could be used as an advance index of seasonal rainfall.

"Investigations have shown that summer temperatures of the California coastal waters are lower or higher in proportion as the Pacific 'high' is of greater or less intensity, and, accordingly, low summer temperatures of the California coastal waters are lower or higher in proportion as the Pacific 'high' is of greater or less intensity, and accordingly low summer temperatures should be followed by a seasonal rainfall greater than the average, and high temperatures should be followed by a seasonal rainfall less than the average.

"The observed correlation between temperatures and rainfall for the last eight years accord with the above hypothesis. A change of one degree has been found to correspond, on the average, to two inches of rain over the coastal region of Southern California."

YOUNGEST LAWYER DISTRICT ATTORNEY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 16.—J. Ogden Reavis has been appointed a Deputy District Attorney to serve under Dist.-Atty. H. E. Schmidt. Attorney Reavis will serve during the forenoon of each day as law librarian for the county and during the afternoon as a Deputy District Attorney.

Recently Attorney Reavis, who is but 23 years of age, attracted considerable attention when he served for a day as a judge of the Superior Court and handed down a decision to a former Superior Court judge and other veteran counsel meeting in litigation before him.

The event will be elaborate in its scope, invitations being extended to every realty organization in the State to attend. The ball will be held in St. Ann's Inn, preceded by a banquet.

BUSY DAY IN COURT AT POMONA

Liquor and Gambling Cases Result at Grounds of Los Angeles County Fair

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA, Oct. 16.—At a special session of the local Police Court held today in order to clear the jail, which was last night filled to capacity, two men were fined for having liquor in their possession, one bootlegger was sentenced and five show boys from concession row at the Los Angeles county fair grounds paid the penalty for moral weakness which took the form of a crap game.

W. A. O'Brien of Venice, first to be called before the bar, pleaded guilty to having alcoholic liquor in his possession and received a sentence of $100 fine and fifty days in jail. T. C. Stone, a cement worker, living in Ontario, admitted guilt on the charge of driving while intoxicated. He lost his driver's license for the period of a year, received a thirty-day suspended sentence and was commanded to pay a fine of $100. W. M. Connolly, an elevator operator from Los Angeles, pleaded guilty to having in his possession, offering for sale and selling alcoholic beverages. He received a thirty-day sentence and a $200 fine. He was offered 100 days in jail in lieu of the fine. F. J. Koegel, Clarence Munson, N. E. Watson, Ted Taylor and M. Walker, ranging in age from a red-headed youth of 19 years to a man of 40 with gray hair, plead guilty to dice worship and were fined $5 each, which they paid.

RODEO STUNT IS REAL HAIR-RAISER

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

VICTORVILLE, Oct. 16.—Out here where they claim "the old west still lives," they have some new ideas in the manner of "stunts" at the Third Annual Legion Rodeo to be held at the famous old Rancho Verde next Sunday, the 19th inst.

For instance, as one of the side thrillers of the big day, there will be a wild-cow milking. Be it known that this doesn't mean simply a stool, pail and a "so, so boss." It means two huskies on two wiry broncos, one rope, one pail and two daring souls, for a wild cow must be roped, thrown, held and milked in so many seconds as in order to win the coveted greenbacks which over 120 aspirants will strive to win. The Legion Rodeo has ten main events and will be the crowning event of the three-day Victor Valley Fair to be held in Victorville, the 17th, 18th and 19th insts.

CAR HIT BY TRAIN; DRIVER SCRATCHED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TAFT, Oct. 16.—J. E. Foss had a fortunate escape from serious injury last night when the automobile in which he was riding was struck by a train on the highway between Taft and Fellows and thrown to the side of the road. Mr. Foss was taken to the West Side Hospital, where it was discovered that, other than bruises and scratches, was a cut on his leg which required stitches, after which he was taken to his home.

HERE'S ONE TIME BURGLARS SLEPT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, Oct. 16.—Bandits could have robbed a score of stores in Oxnard today had they been on the job. Practically every shop in the city was empty this afternoon and many of the proprietors and employees blocks down the streets when the Shenandoah was sighted above Point Magu. Oxnardens had waited since Saturday to get a glimpse of the big dirigible and e h day expected it to soar over the city. Today when the ship came into view everyone was on the street. Burglars could have walked off with the entire city.

EASTERN POLICE HERE TO TAKE WOMAN BACK

Policewoman Mary Sugrue and Patrolman Buffam of Medford, Mass., arrived here yesterday to take back with them Mrs. Effie Hughes, who was arrested here on the 3rd inst. at the request of Medford authorities. Mrs. Hughes has been indicted at Medford, according to the policewoman, on a charge of performing an illegal operation on Miss Lillian Hudson of Medford. The girl died.

HONORED BY KNIGHTS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, Oct. 16.—The highest office that can be given to a Knight of Columbus in this district was conferred last night upon J. B. O'Neil of Santa Monica as faithful navigator of the fourth degree, at a banquet in the Inglewood Chamber of Commerce rooms. The installing officer was Barney Leonard of Pasadena, faithful master of the fourth degree. Among the other officers installed in the fourth degree assembly here last night were: L. C. Kearney, faithful scribe; R. M. Garbe, faithful captain, and C. J. Colmerauer, faithful guard. Mr. O'Neil is also exalted ruler of the Elks' Lodge of Santa Monica.

NEWSPAPER FIRE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TAFT, Oct. 16.—Fire starting on the roof of the building today damaged the office of the Midway Driller and the apartment on the floor above to the extent of approximately $5000, the estimate of the loss being made by A. M. Keene, owner of the newspaper, immediately following the blaze.

The fire burned the greater portion of the roof and part of the furnishings of the apartment on the second floor, and water ran through into the newspaper office, working considerable havoc to paper and machinery.

JUDGE AND JURY FAIL TO AGREE

Trial Body Refuses to Heed Court's Instructions

Returns Verdicts Finding Man Guilty

Attorney Now Asks Bench to Free Client

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 16.—Despite instructions from Superior Judge Jesse Olney for acquittal of Albert Wellborn, an Ontario youth charged with criminally attacking 16-year-old Peggy Coburn last July, the jury twice returned a verdict of guilty late yesterday. The first verdict was returned at 5 o'clock after the jury had received instructions from the court fifteen minutes before for a not-guilty verdict.

Upon the insistence of Dist.-Atty. George H. Johnson, Judge Olney read to the jurors the law which provides that they were not compelled to follow the court's instructions.

When the verdict was reported by Foreman Fred L. Granville of Redlands, Judge Olney refused to accept it, declaring that the jurors had returned a verdict not in accordance with advice of the court. He then asked the jury to return to the juryroom and reconsider the verdict.

But five hours later the jurors returned with another verdict of guilty, which the court accepted without argument. Attorney O. N. Hilton, representing Wellborn, immediately announced that he would introduce a motion to set aside the verdict. Hearing of the motion was set for 1:30 p.m., Monday.

Wellborn will be sentenced at that time if the motion is denied, but in view of failure of the judge to get an acquittal verdict from the jury, it is unlikely that he will refuse Hilton's request.

Judge Olney's instructions to the jury to acquit Wellborn were given at the request of Hilton because of the asserted lack of evidence to support the State's case.

FIGHT FOR CHARITY

Hanford Club Announces Bout for Friday Night

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, Oct. 16. — Boxing matches for charity are a novelty in this city, but such an event is scheduled for next Friday night under the auspices of Hanford Kiwanis Club. Canvassing committees of the club report tickets selling for ringside seats at $1.65. There will be no expenses, everything being donated, even the services of Jimmie Gorman, who has been promoting boxing bouts in this city and Coalinga. Six events are programmed and the large garage of the Erwin Motor Company will house the event. A large section has been reserved for Kiwanians and their ladies.

ASKS DAMAGES FOR ACCIDENT INJURIES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 16.—Asking for $20,833.86 in damages, O. R. Moore, oil-well driller of Taft, started suit today in Department Three of the Superior Court against C. E. Houchy and R. L. Hughet of Taft.

Moore says that on November 21, 1923, he was struck by an automobile owned by the defendants while he was walking along Fourth street at Taft at which time he was hurt about the head and that his knee was injured. In his complaint it is asserted that he was confined to a hospital for four weeks after the accident. For injuries which he says he suffered he asks judgment against the defendants.

STUDENT SPEAKERS TO TALK POLITICS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HUNTINGTON PARK, Oct. 16. When the more than 1200 students of the night school gather at the Huntington Park Union High School auditorium tomorrow night they will be told just why they should vote for the different candidates who are making the race for President of the United States.

The class every Friday night has a special program and included in the program tomorrow night A. R. Weiss will tell why the voter should cast their ballots for Calvin Coolidge; Frank Matthews will tell why the people should vote for La Follette, and Mrs. Vera Thompson will show the reason why Davis should be elected.

These speakers are members of the public-speaking class, which consists of twenty-five members, and is in charge of Prof. McGinniss of the University of Southern California.

LANKERSHIM TO HAVE ODD FELLOWS LODGE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LANKERSHIM, Oct. 16.—Camp and canton teams of San Fernando Valley Odd Fellows will be present on the 24th inst. to take part in the ceremonies marking the institution of the new lodge of the order here. A parade on the boulevard followed by an banquet will be the chief events outside of the lodge meeting. The banquet will be served by members of the new Rebekah chapter, which will be started officially at about the same date. More than 200 persons are expected at the banquet, from Glendale, Burbank, Hollywood, Van Nuys and San Fernando.

HONOR PAST RULER

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ALHAMBRA, Oct. 16.—Elmer A. Potter, former head of the local of Elks, will be honored tomorrow night at a "Past Exalted Rulers' Night." This will be the sixth of a series of such affairs in honor of former exalted rulers of the lodge.

Lost Hunter Tells Story of Experience

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LINDSAY, Oct. 16.—Being lost in the Sierra Nevadas for almost forty-eight hours was no pleasure excursion but could have been much worse, according to Dave Edwards, 21, of Lindsay who was brought to his home here last night by Col. John R. White, Superintendent of Sequoia and Gen. Grant national parks.

Edwards did not know he was lost until Monday night when he could not find his way back to the camp at Askin Meadows about seven miles from Camp Nelson. He spent the night in Pepper Mint Meadows, where the county was very dry and cloudy weather prevented it from being too cold. He had matches for a fire but no food.

Tuesday morning he started his search for camp again and in the afternoon was met by a government packer, who took him to Nobe Young's patrol station for the night. Wednesday he was taken to California Hot Springs and escorted home last night by Col. White.

His fellow hunters, mountaineers, rangers and Indians aided in the search for Edwards which continued in the Camp Nelson vicinity until late yesterday afternoon when confirmation was given report of his discovery.

Lack of food, absence of any horse and failure to bag a buck, aside from anxiety to his friends, were among the worst features of the experience, says Edwards, who today is at his post at the local branch of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank as usual.

SPECIAL SCHOOL HOURS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BURBANK, Oct. 16. — Part-time school for those of school age who are working will be started here the 20th inst. Children between 16 and 18 years of age who have not finished high school should register for the classes, which will be conducted from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Night school will be started at the same date.

PARKING CHANGE ASKED

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LANKERSHIM, Oct. 16.—More than 90 per cent of the business firms on the boulevard from Fourth street to Wilcox avenue in this city have requested in a petition to the City Council that diagonal parking regulations be restored in lieu of parallel parking, in effect for several months. It is contended that the rule now obtaining is detrimental to business, because fewer machines are given space to park.

PASS THE BUCK UP TO GEORGE

Man's First Name Means Nothing to Inglewood Rotarians

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, Oct. 16.—With the addition of George Washington Ewing to the membership of the Inglewood Rotary Club today, things are getting more complicated than ever. For instance, when the Worthy President, Hugh Lawrence, says in effect, "let George do it," there are now no less than six Georges who think they are called upon, and when a fine is imposed upon one of the Georges, they unanimously declare it must be divided between them.

As the club rules are that members are to address each other by their given names, the superfluity of Georges is quite confusing. The Rotarians who answer to that name in addition to the newest member are George Brown, George England, George C. Malloy, George M. Stetson and George M. Green.

Operator of Huge Still Puts Up Bail

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

AZUSA, Oct. 16.—Andy Mazzola of Etiwanda, who was arrested by officers from Azusa and Glendora at his home shortly after four large stills and nearly 600 gallons of moonshine liquor, of which he is said to be the owner, were found in a raid on a barn on Alosta avenue between Azusa and Glendora, was arraigned yesterday before Judge J. O. Durrell of Azusa and placed under $2000 bail.

Mazzola will be given a hearing the 24th inst. before Judge Durrell. He was arrested at his home shortly after the officers had found the liquor and the stills near here last Friday, where Mazzola had placed them evidently with the purpose of evading the officers in a raid on his premises in Etiwanda.

The Italian had rented the barn of W. G. Hall after first attempting to rent a barn from another man, who informed the officers, believing Mazzola wanted the barn for illegal purposes.

Constable Hamblin of Azusa; Chief of Police Gauldi of Azusa and Constable Robertson of Glendora raided the Hall barn and found eleven barrels of moonshine, each holding fifty-four gallons, and four stills of 700-gallon capacity. But Mazzola had fled. He was later located in Etiwanda.

He is charged with two counts, violating the Wright Act by having in his possession liquor, and the stills with which to manufacture it. He deposited his bail and was released from jail.

REDLANDS WOMEN PLAN CAMPAIGN

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDLANDS, Oct. 16.—Redlands women are to have a political meeting all their own on Friday of this week at the Casa Loma Hotel.

Mrs. Florence Collins Porter of Los Angeles, well-known club woman, who has a great many friends in Redlands, is coming here and will be the guest of Mrs. J. R. Davis at her home on Brookside avenue.

Following the luncheon, which is being arranged in honor of Mrs. Porter, there will be a gathering of women at the hotel, at which time plans will be made for Redlands women to do their part in the Coolidge and Dawes campaign.

The meeting will be the only women's meeting to be arranged during the campaign.

BLACK EYES; BRUISES RESULT OF RACE WAR

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VISALIA, Oct. 16.—Two Filipinos are resting in the Tulare County Jail in Visalia, two Mexicans, are nursing knife wounds at Delano, and scores of black eyes and lesser injuries are being tenderly felt as result of a rough and tumble race war staged near Delano last night by about forty cotton pickers.

Because some Mexican pickers decided to use the watering trough, where the Filipino pickers secured their drinking water, as a wash basin, is declared cause of the trouble which occurred on the Baker ranch. Constable D. O. Howard of Pixley brought the Filipinos to jail here.

Who claimed the victory is not known.

DEMOCRAT FOR COOLIDGE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 16.—Determination of Republican leaders here to roll up a decisive majority for President Coolidge was evidenced tonight when a "flying squadron" of the Republican State committee addressed an overflow meeting in the War Memorial Building in Balboa Park.

The speakers were Belle McCord Roberts, Long Beach newspaper publisher, and Judge David S. Rose, former Mayor of Milwaukee. The latter, a Democrat, pointed out that his party cannot hope to make any appreciable showing in California this year, and that it behooved all forward-looking Democrats to cast their votes for President Coolidge and thus combat the spread of La Follettelsm.

Four Injured as Automobile Turns Turtle

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, Oct. 16.—Four persons were injured, one perhaps fatally, when a motor sedan driven by Kingsley L. McKeen of 1209 Stratford avenue, South Pasadena, turned turtle just before noon today on the Foothill Boulevard after a collision at Etiwanda avenue with an oil truck, the name of whose driver has not yet been learned by the police.

Mrs. T. E. Lees, age 52, mother-in-law of the driver, was hurled through the top of the car as it turtled. At the San Antonio community hospital, where she was taken following the accident, she was tonight reported suffering from a probable fracture of the shoulder blades, a badly wrenched back, bruises and contusions about the head and face and possible internal injuries. Her condition was declared serious.

Other victims of the accident numbered Mrs. McKeen and their infant daughter, Ruth, the father and the baby were badly bruised and cut and Mrs. McKeen was severely shocked. All but Mrs. Lees were able to leave the hospital this evening, however.

Victims of the accident were en route to the Imperial Valley, where they had expected to visit with friends. Mr. McKeen is connected with the Paschall Jones Insurance Company, with offices in the Pacific Mutual Building, Los Angeles.

TRY FOR CLASS PLAY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HUNTINGTON PARK, Oct. 16. One hundred and seventy-five students of the Huntington Park Union High School, responded to the call of Miss Ethelynne Smith, dramatic instructor at the school, when she announced that she wished to select a cast for the class play, the date of which will be December 5. Seventy-five were selected for a second tryout, and the cast will shortly be announced as well as the title of the production.

KIWANIS DELEGATES

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HUNTINGTON PARK, Oct. 16. The Kiwanis Club has selected President Brawley, Secretary Hamilton and Trustee Dixon as delegates to the meeting to be held in Santa Barbara in November. The alternates are Dr. Kelley, Dr. Elliott and Don Colgrove.

The members of the local organization are arranging to go to Bell 100 per cent the 24th inst. to attend the Charter Night meeting.

CHIEF STAGES PARTY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

MONTEREY PARK, Oct. 16.—Police Chief Foster has his own peculiar ideas of a good time.

To prove his qualities of leadership, the chief led four volunteer firemen into a big drain pipe that was recently laid along Garvey avenue. The men crawled on their hands and knees for a mile and a half, starting at Garvey and Garfield and emerging at Pamelo Drive.

A pleasant time was had by all.

BUY FIRE HOSE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, Oct. 16.—The American Rubber Company was today awarded the contract for 1700 feet of two and one-half inch hose for the use of the Inglewood Fire Department, and also 300 feet of one and a half inch hose for the same purpose. The total figure was $1916, the price being 72 cents a foot for the smaller hose and $1 a foot for the larger.

POWER RESTRICTIONS OFF

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDLANDS, Oct. 16.—Street cars, which have not been running on the city lines in Redlands for some months due to the power shortage, went into service again this morning. The power restrictions were lifted some time ago but the Pacific Electric has just received authority to put the cars back into service.

GRADUATES TO GATHER

GLENDALE, Oct. 16.—Graduates of the Burbank High School will gather at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse here on the 28th inst. for the semiannual session of the alumni association. A banquet and dance will be chief features of the gathering, which is expected to attract several score graduates. Henry Holbrook is president of the alumni association.

FEDERAL AID IS OFFERED FOR HEALTH

Government Anxious to Have Center Established in Santa Barbara County

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 16.—When 10 per cent of the electors of Santa Barbara and 10 per cent of the voters of each of the towns of Santa Maria, Lompoc and Santa Ynez file petitions with their prospective city councils asking that a county health unit be established in Santa Barbara county, steps will be taken to form such a district organization, according to Dr. W. H. Eaton, City Health Officer.

For some time representatives of the United States Public Health Service have been urging Santa Barbara county to organize such a unit and at a meeting of the City Health Board and city and county officials last night at the city department, Dr. F. T. Ford, representing the United States service, offered a Federal appropriation of $3400 for the county budget if such a consolidation is perfected.

According to the proposed plan, a tax levy would be made by the county to cover the cost of the work, if the corporate cities in the county agree to form a district unit. It was stated at the meeting last night that the budget of the county for a year should not be less than $21,000. The cost of operating the city department at the present time is $11,600 a year.

Monrovia Lodge Holds Banquet on Anniversary

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MONROVIA, Oct. 16.—The thirty-third anniversary of the founding of Monrovia Masonic Lodge, No. 308, was celebrated this evening when members of the organization and visiting members held a banquet in the Masonic Temple. One hundred and seventy-five Masons were seated at the banquet table. Visiting guests of honor, included Past Grand Master William A. Sherman, San Francisco, who dedicated the Monrovia temple last year; Grand Lecturer Thomas J. Baker, San Francisco, and Frank G. Watson, Grand Tyler, Los Angeles, who for sixteen years, has held the office; Edward Brunner, Grand Sword Bearer, and Leslie M. Renaker, District Inspector for the Eighty-second District, both of Monrovia, were also honor guests. Addresses were made by the visitors and by Worshipful Master Harry Nelson of Monrovia Lodge.

SHIP CARLOAD OF COTTON-SEED OIL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 16.—The first tank of Kern county cotton-seed oil has been shipped to Los Angeles from the San Joaquin Cotton Oil Company of Bakersfield, according to Stanley R. Pratt, president of the company, who estimates that within the next eight months his plant will ship fifty more carloads of the oil at a total valuation of $300,000.

The oil consignments are made to the Los Angeles Soap Company where, after refining processes, salad oils and cooking oils result. The residue is used for soap-making purposes.

IMPROVED OIL METHODS URGED

Union Company Man Speaks to Mines Chamber

Hunt for Petroleum Despite Oversupply Hit

Other Speakers Discuss Business Topics

The desirability of encouraging greater attention to the improvement of present methods of extracting petroleum and refining it, as opposed to the concentrated effort to find new sources of petroleum in the face of a present oversupply, was suggested yesterday by C. R. McCollum of the Union Oil Company in a brief address in the Alexandria ballroom, before a luncheon of the Chamber of Mines and Oil.

Mr. McCollum's subject was "The Responsibility of the Oil Man to the Oil Industry," and in the course of his speech, he questioned whether the extensive exploration programs of the large companies is not more or less detrimental to the industry itself, profitable though it may be to the individual operator.

In part Mr. McCollum said:

"I have particular reference to the very large number of men employed by the oil companies for the purpose of bringing to their attention possible new territory, which in turn is rapidly developed by modern methods of drilling. Quoting from George Otis Smith's speech before the International Petroleum Congress, recently held at Tulsa, Okla., he says: 'This flood of oil didn't just happen—on the contrary, the spectacular strikes of new pools were the result of large investments of brains and brawn and cash: nearly 25,000 wells were drilled in that twelve-month period, at a cost of more than $500,000,000.'

"Were it alone necessary to have made this effort in order to have met the demands of the industry, nothing but praiseworthy comment could be made, but when it is realized that this effort was made in the face of an overproductive condition, the question arises as to whether or not this expenditure of brain power and money could not perhaps better have been directed toward a higher extraction of oil in fields undeveloped, and with subsequent closer treatment of the product and a saving of the oil itself in methods of handling, marketing and use.

"When it is realized that with continued improvement in applied engineering methods for the extraction, transportation, refining and marketing of petroleum, there is still a large field for improvement, it should give us pause in acknowledging the validity of our present main effort, namely, to acquire new territory for exploitation. In other words, if instead of opening up new territory with a consequence of depletion of resource, the same amount of money and brains could be put toward the improvement of present methods in practice and treatment, it would no doubt result in higher dividends to the operator and a larger return to the land owner, as well as the conservation of a natural produc' (ruant and wasting in its character."

The responsibility of the oil man to the government was discussed by D. M. Folsom of the General Petroleum Corporation. C. S. Beesemyer of the Gilmore Oil Company, talked on the oil man's responsibility to the buyers of petroleum products. R. L. Peeler, president of the California Petroleum Corporation, spoke on the oil man's responsibility to his associates and stockholders, pointing out the: the oil industry is taxed at a disportionately greater rate than other lines of industry, and urging concerted action to remedy the condition. E. D. Reiter of the State Consolidated Oil Company, spoke on the responsibility of the oil man to the public. Fred E. Foster of the Sentinel Oil Company was toastmaster.

Bishop to Name Dr. Kemp Pastor for Hollywood

Dr. Theodore Kemp, minister, scientist and educator, will be appointed pastor of the Hollywood Methodist Episcopal Church, South, by Bishop H. M. DuBose, who is presiding at the Southern Methodist Church conference at Fresno. Dr. Kemp will arrive in Los Angeles today and will preach his first sermon to his new congregation at 11 a.m. next Sunday.

This announcement was made yesterday by the board of stewards of the Hollywood Church, following the receipt of a letter from local church officials attending the Fresno conference, who stated that Bishop DuBose had gladly offered to appoint Dr. Kemp to the Los Angeles church. The bishop will read the various appointments next Sunday evening.

YOUNGSTER RETURNS ACTRESS'S BRACELET

Estelle Taylor has regained a bracelet, a souvenir of her last production, which she lost on the train going east. It was returned because a youngster had a conscience. It came by mail, postmarked Scranton, Pa., with a childish letter which said the writer had seen her drop it in the dining car and had meant to keep it but just couldn't.

FEDERAL OIL COUNSEL HERE

Pomerene Refuses to Comment on Doheny Lease Hearing Monday; Wilbur May Appear

Atlee Pomerene, former United States Senator from Ohio, and Owen J. Roberts, Philadelphia lawyer, who were appointed by President Coolidge to represent the government in the cases growing out of the recent Senate oil investigations, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday for the hearing on the validity of the Doheny oil leases, to begin in the Federal court here Monday.

"We have no comment to make on the oil cases at this time," said Mr. Pomerent. "The hearing in Los Angeles will decide the rights of the Doheny interests under their leases covering properties in the Elk Basin naval oil reserve. The case presents many complexities, and it may be a couple of weeks before it is completed."

EXPECT WILBUR

The Senator added that the persons recently indicted as a result of the oil investigations will be prosecuted by the Department of Justice in Washington as soon as the Los Angeles hearing is finished.

It was reported some days ago that Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, Josephus Daniels and Edwin Denby, former secretaries of the Navy, Theodore Roosevelt, former Assistant Secretary of the Navy, and Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, would be at the hearing. Senator Pomerene stated that he thought it probable that Secretary Wilbur would attend but that the testimony of Daniels, Denby and Roosevelt would be by depositions.

SUMMON SIXTY

At a meeting scheduled to be held this morning, Pomerene and Roberts will discuss the case with U. S. Atty. Burke and Asst. U. S. Atty. Camarillo, who will assist the special counsel. The case is expected to take a month. The government has issued subpoenaes for sixty witnesses and the defense is expected to produce twice that number.

At present temporary injunctions curtailing production on the leases have been issued by Judge McVormick and, in the case of several sections, receivers were appointed to guard the government interests pending a settlement of the suit. The immense oil reserve is estimated to hold petroleum products worth $100,000,000.

Mrs. Rachel Riveroll Asks Alimony in Complaint Charging Intimacy with Another

Rachel Youngblood Riveroll filed suit for divorce yesterday against her millionaire husband, Elfego Riveroll, charging cruelty.

Mrs. Riveroll also declares in her suit that her husband has been intimate with Annette Young for many months, that he has paid many of the latter's bills and that because of his constant association with this woman he has become known to neighbors as "Annette's sweetie."

The affair between her husband and Mrs. Young began early this year, Mrs. Riveroll declares. Some time ago, she says in the complaint, he induced her to take up her residence in an apartment at 2312 Vinans Drive while their home was under construction. Since that time, she asserts, he has refused to live with her and comes to see her only once every two or three weeks, though he calls on Mrs. Young constantly. She also charges that he
